PRECOOLING FRUIT GREAT SUCCESS

This gives the big plant a pre-cooling capacity of 32 cars every five hours. It has only been in operation about two weeks, and on account of being so near the end of the citrus fruit season there is an average of only eight to ten cars per day being pre-cooled at the present time. Since the California Fruit Growers' exchange, which controls about 70 per cent of the citrus output of the state, notified the railroads April 13 not under any consideration to pre-cool any of its fruit until the decision of the interstate commerce commission was handed down, which will probably not be until next October, the big pre-cooling plants of the California refrigerator car lines have not had an opportunity to even begin to tax their capacity, but nevertheless, the railroads, for the benefit of the industry, have spent years of service and a vast amount of money to perfect the transportation of California fruits and vegetables to eastern markets and to save a large amount of damages from the loss of decayed fruit, which has always been a means of dissatisfaction and enmity between the growers and the railroad companies.

When it was demonstrated that the Gay system was a success an agreement was effected with the Santa Fe and a company known as the Gate City Ice & Pre-Cooling company was organized. Although the plant is to be operated by the Gate City Ice & Pre-Cooling company, the plant is the property of the Santa Fe railroad. A. P. McGinnis of Los Angeles is president of the operating company and F. A. McGinnis and B. O. Wallingford of the Santa Fe engineering department are in charge of the plant.

California fruit and vegetable products shipped annually out of the state amounting to over $75,000,000 go to make a gigantic industry of which the railroads have played no small part. While it is true there has always been more or less contention between the growers and the railroads in the matter of rates and service, yet the railroads could hardly exist without the support of this industry, nor could the industry exist without the support of the railroads. During the several years of experience and the erection and operation of this big pre-cooling plant at San Bernardino the Santa Fe railroad has spent nearly $1,000,000 and both the railroad company and Mr. Gay, the inventor, are to be congratulated through years of service and severe tests in securing a system so perfect in detail and so far reaching in effect to railroads and growers alike. The history of the fruit industry in California reads like a fairy tale and in the short space of a few years has attained a world wide reputation. The pre-cooling system adds the last link in the chain of progression and now makes it possible for the eastern consumer to enjoy the fresh luscious flavor of California products.

"GREEK MEETS GREEK" ON SUNDAY NEXT

Arrangements have been made for a ball game next Sunday, which no doubt will be the most interesting game played on the Medford grounds this season. The regular team has agreed to use the young battery, Burgess and Hill, and let Manager Hall have Coleman and Wilson, and Eddie Wilkinson on first. Wilkinson will captain the new team, and Manager Hill says he is going to take some of the conceit out of his old players and will give them the hardest game of the season. The team will disband after this game, but will probably begin playing ball again September 1. What do you think of the lineup of the two teams, and which is your choice to win?

DRY FARMING CONGRESS WORKING UP EXHIBITS

SPOKANE, Wash., July 15.—Alfred Atkinson, chairman of the board of governors of the fifth dry-farming congress, announces that a special agricultural commissioner acting under the direction of the organization has been placed in the field by Thomas Sooper, land commissioner of the Northern Pacific Railway company, to organize the farmers in Washington, Oregon, Montana and North Dakota to make a comprehensive exhibit of their products at the international dry-farming exposition in Spokane the week of October 3.

"The stories of crop failures are everywhere discredited by experts reporting to the dry-farming congress," states Mr. Atkinson, "except in the cases of farmers who have combatted the theory of so-called dry farming and have held that climatic conditions have so changed that the methods advocated by the congress were unnecessary. Thousands of these self-satisfied farmers have been burned out by drought and even the best farmers—those who have followed systematic dry farming—have felt the effect of the drought, though not so seriously as has been reported."

"A discussion of the conditions as they are reported between the members of the executive committee of the dry-farming congress indicate that even in the face of the drought everywhere the practice of dry-farming methods has increased the average yield of wheat not less than five bushels this year. In some instances reports show that scientific dry farming has given as high as 15 bushels to the acre over the careless farming of immediate neighbors."

"I am satisfied that the showing to be made at the Spokane exposition by the northwestern states will be a most positive proof of the efficiency of dry farming methods in overcoming drought."

MADRIZ GUNBOAT IS CAPTURED BY ESTRADA

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, July 15.—The Madriz gunboat Venus has been captured by the Estrada forces, according to dispatches received here today.

The gunboat, which played a leading part in the recent engagement about Bluefields, was the only war vessel the Madriz forces had on the eastern coast of Nicaragua, and its capture will cripple the maneuvers about the eastern ports.

The capture of the Venus followed renewed activities of the insurgent forces on the eastern coast. A movement against the small force left by Madriz in the vicinity of Acayana is under way, while a concentrated movement against the administration at Managua is planned, and it is reported that Estrada will endeavor to take the capital.

PASTOR CENSURED FOR PLAYING CHECKERS; QUIT

LA PORTE, Ind., July 15.—Rev. J. J. Cole, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, announced today that he will resign because his parishioners called him to task for playing checkers with his wife. He further declared that he was criticised for visiting at the police and fire stations and for going bathing on Sunday. He will hand in his resignation, he said, early next week.
