AMONG THE PEOPLE.

The parish priest of Austerlitz climbed up in a high church steeple to be near God, that he might hand God's word down to the people.

And in the sermons grave he daily wrote what he thought was sent from heaven, and he dropped this down on the people's heads two times one day in seven.

In his rage God said: "What meant that?" And the priest cried from the steeple: "Where art thou, Lord?" and the Lord replied: "Down here, among my people." —Albany, N. Y., Citizen.

GOOD CROP REPORTS

SUSTAIN STOCK PRICES

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Continued good reports from crop regions of the country sustained the stock market today. Grain and cotton conditions were reflected by a rising market and prices rallied after a weak start. Illinois Central gained 1 3/4, Tennessee Copper 1 3/8 and New York Central 1. Colorado Southern declined 1. Many of the industrials opened weak, but recovered later. The market was dull at noon. Bonds were easy. The market closed strong.

THE FARCE OF PARTY NAMES.

HUMANITY may politically be broadly divided into two general classes, progressive and reactionary, or, if you will, radical and conservative. Under whatever name political parties parade, in reality they are one or the other, and political history of nations is the story of the struggles of these elements. The progressive is the party of new ideas, of change and of advance. The reactionary is the party of stand-pattism, of vested rights and plutocracy.

All new parties voice the demands of the people for change and all start existence as radicals. As the radical of today is the conservative of tomorrow, so the radical party at birth becomes the conservative with age. The radical republican party of Jefferson became the conservative of Monroe, and the radical democratic party of Jackson became the conservative of Buchanan. The radical republican party of Lincoln's time became the conservative of McKinley.

Under Grover Cleveland, the democratic party was conservative. Under Bryan it became radical, and the conservatives joined the republicans. Under Parker it again became conservative, and the radicals in it either refused to go to the polls or voted for Roosevelt, who showed radical tendencies. Taft got the conservative support of both parties, and through Roosevelt's influence, the votes of the republican radicals.

The civil war created animosities and prejudices that have since blinded the people to the real issues. The south became sordidly democratic because the democratic party was the white man's party—not for any other economic problem involved. The north became republican through the confined waving of the bloody shirt. The large mass of voters vote it straight blindly because of the prejudices born and bred in the bone, not because of the principles involved. This has left the independent vote, the vote that thinks, holding the balance of power.

There are today both radical and conservative wings in both parties—and their differences are irreconcilable. There is vastly more difference within the parties than there is between them. Under present conditions, it would puzzle anyone to define what constitutes a republican or what constitutes a democrat. The definition of one would answer for the other. If Cannon and Aldrich are republicans, then La Follette and Cummins are not. If Harmon is a democrat, Bryan is not. But Harmon and Cannon have much more in common than La Follette and Aldrich. It would be an excellent thing to drop the old party names and adopt the more honest English system of calling parties by what they stand for—radicals and conservatives—to get rid of the associations and prejudices that blind the people and keep them hoodwinked and serve as cloaks to promote their fleecing, in order to place elections upon the merits of the principles involved.

MULKEY'C CANDIDACY.

SOUTHERN OREGON has at last a chance to secure representation in congress, through the candidacy of B. F. Mulkey, who has well and honorably served the public in various capacities.

Mr. Mulkey stands for the principle of direct legislation. He is a believer in Statement One, that is, in the popular election of senators. He represents the cause of the progressive element in his party, the principles championed by Roosevelt, by Dolliver and others. He is anti-machine and anti-assembly, and has full faith in the wisdom of the people.

Mr. Hawley, the present incumbent, is opposed to direct legislation. He is an enemy to Statement One. He is the choice of the assembly, and a machine man from top to bottom. He was one of Uncle Joe Cannon's most loyal followers in congress and always voted to sustain him in his un-American, czar-like rule.

Oregon's congressional delegation is very weak. It should be strengthened, and Mr. Mulkey will strengthen it.

Mr. Mulkey will rally to his banner all the foes of Cannonism, all those republicans who believe the people should rule instead of the politicians and corporations.

THE USEFUL WIRELESS.

THE arrest of Dr. Crippen, London's alleged wife murderer, furnishes a remarkable example of the efficiency of the Marconi wireless telegraph invention as extending the reach of the arm of the law in tracing down its refugees. The stupidity of the Scotland Yard detectives, so famous in dime novels for their astuteness in ferreting out crime and apprehending criminals, might, but for the wireless telegraph, have resulted in the escape of the crafty doctor.

This comprehensive searching out of the ocean's darkest corners by the electric flash of the Marconi has cut off a hitherto inviting refuge to fleeing criminals and widens the scope of the usefulness of that remarkable invention as well as offering a moral to the criminally inclined.

PHILIPPINE POSTAL BANKS

Government Wards Have Privilege Not Yet Accorded Citizens—Two Hundred and Eighty Postoffices Receive Deposits.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 2.—White Americans are wondering when and how the postal savings system is to be established the untutored native may wave his passport and remark that in the Philippines the postal savings bank is an old thing. Whether beads and clam shells and brass rods are received as deposits is not mentioned, but the main fact is that the wards in the far Pacific have a privilege not yet accorded to their guardians.

Many Postal Banks. A recent report received at the treasury department shows that there are in the islands 280 postoffices at which deposits are received. There were 12,331 depositors and the amount of money they had placed in the care of the government was 1,621,275 pesos or Philippine dollars, worth 50 cents in United States money. The government in using the money is protected by the guarantees of banks with which a part of the postal funds have been deposited. Investments have also been made by the government officials in charge of the postal banks, in Manila city bonds and railroad bonds and in first mortgages. Among the depositors are 3542 Americans, 7709 Filipinos, 398 Europeans and 264 Asiatics. The rate of interest on deposits is two and a half per cent, but the government reserves the right to change at the rate at the end of any year.

System Works Well. The system has worked satisfactorily to all concerned. The Philippines were favored with postal banks in advance of the states because they were not obliged to await action by congress. When the president became convinced a few years ago that postal savings would be a good thing for the Filipinos he ordered the system established, and it was done. Congress postponed action for years and it was not until the closing hours of the last session that a postal savings law was passed.

Law Very Popular. The popularity of the law has been proved by the great number of letters from people asking that postal banks be established in their towns and from bankers asking that a part of the deposit funds be placed with them. The trustees of the system, Secretary Franklin McVeagh of the treasury, Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock and Attorney General Wickersham, have full authority to decide where and when postal banks shall be established. They have decided upon nothing yet except that the postoffice in this city shall be one to receive deposits in order that there may be a demonstration of the system under the eyes of congress. A committee of experts appointed by the trustees is working out the details of the system, which are many, and it is probable matters will be in such shape that the trustees can take definite action in the fall.

JOE GANS HASTENS HOME TO DIE WITH MOTHER

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Aug. 2.—Joe Gans is today speeding toward Baltimore, where he expects to spend his last days with his aged mother. Convinced that no power on earth can deliver him from the white plague, the former lightweight champion wants to die at home. Gans kept up hope until yesterday when he seemed suddenly to realize that his fight for life was practically over. He told his physician and his wife that he did not wish to die in Prescott and asked that he be taken back at once to Baltimore. A small group of friends were at the station to see Gans off. The former great pugilist appeared listless and his one thought seemed to be to reach the side of his mother before the end came.

NATIONAL PARK TO BE INSPECTED

Ballinger Arranges Inspection of People's Playgrounds by Experts So That Congress Can Be Guided in Making Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 2.—With a view to securing information of experts and dependable facts for recommendation to congress regarding necessary improvements, Secretary Ballinger of the interior department has arranged for an inspection of some of the national parks. The men chosen for the work are Clement S. Ucker, chief clerk of the department, and R. B. Marshall, chief geographer of the geological survey.

In connection with their visit to Glacier national park, a wonderland of living glaciers and wild mountain scenery reserved as a playground for the people at the recent session of congress, a question arose as to the payment of their expenses. It seems that congress appropriated $15,000 for the "improvement of Glacier park by the construction and repair of roads and trails."

The question was whether Ucker and Marshall could use a part of that appropriation in securing a pack train, guides, camp equipment, etc., and also in paying railroad fare and Pullman and incidentals, not to exceed $6 a day from Devil's Lake, N. D., to Glacier park.

The problem was referred to Comptroller of the Treasury Tracewell, whose decision on the expenditure of government funds is final. He answered that it is an administrative question. If, in carrying out the order of congress to "construct and repair roads and trails" it is necessary to first have an inspection, so that the work may be done to the best advantage, then the aforesaid expenses of the inspectors can be paid out of the $15,000 appropriation.

RAPID PROGRESS ON NATATORIUM

Steel Work Up and Big Dance Hall Inclosed—All Departments Will Be Running by September First—Tub Race Wednesday Night.

The contractors are making rapid progress of the Natatorium, and September 1 will see all departments running in full blast. The big dance hall is all inclosed and roofing has begun. The billiard room is virtually completed and the bowling alleys are being finished by the special representative of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company.

Business at the plunge and the small dance hall is all that can be desired, the ladies' days being especially popular.

On Wednesday night the management announces a tub race, for which a valuable prize will be given. This will no doubt prove a splendid comedy stunt and will be pulled off at 8:30, to be followed by the regular Wednesday night dance at 9 o'clock.

"FLYING DUTCHMAN" WAKES JACKSONVILLE

People living in the vicinity of the county courthouse and jail failed to get the benefit of their usual morning slumbers Tuesday, owing to the disturbance in the jail, started primarily by one "Hartwick," known to the Medford police as the "Flying Dutchman," who was making threats in mixed English and German to stick a fork through one of the other prisoners. The assailed one being behind a barrier of steel, which separated him from his assailant's cell, seemed to enjoy the situation, and taunted Hartwick into a frenzy by asking him "why don't you use that fork?"

The sheriff was finally called and quickly subdued the incipient riot by threatening to take a hand himself.

FRENCH FLAGSHIP IS DOCKED AT SEATTLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 2.—The cruiser Montcalm, flagship of the French navy in foreign waters, under Rear-Admiral F. De Castries, is riding at anchor in Elliott Bay today.

The Montcalm left Nice February 12 on a world cruise. The warship will remain here until August 10, when she will sail for San Francisco to be docked at the Mare Island navy-yard.

French Vice-Consul De Labey-Mahy is arranging an official reception for the officers and crew.

WOMAN SLAYS LOVER AND THEN HERSELF

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 2.—The police today became convinced that Edna Wallace, keeper of a resort here, shot and killed Dr. George Stuart, a prominent physician, and then committed suicide after she had received an unsigned letter warning her that Dr. Stuart planned to marry a girl from Laws, Va., August 10. The authorities claim to have evidence that Stuart had promised to marry Miss Wallace in September.

Attorney M. L. Thompson yesterday received a letter from the young woman containing her will and saying that she never would be seen alive. Thompson and the police began an investigation which resulted in their finding the man and woman dead in the doctor's apartments.
