Twenty thousand young Skagit river steelhead have been shipped to the Rogue River Fish Protective azsociation by Henry O'Malley, superintendent of the bureau of hatcheries at Oregon City. Twelve cans, contain 600 fry each, were received Wednesday morning. The balance will arrive Thursday morning.

The trout arrived in good condition, in better shape than any fry hitherto received. The first consignment was taken out by Malcolm Me-Cown and the superintendent of the Illinois hatchery, who accompanied the fry to Little Butte creek and liberated. The remainder will be placed in Little Applegate and Big Butte, H. C. Kentner furnished his auto truck to carry the fry and it proved an ideal conveyance.
