

TRAGEDY MARKS STRIKE RENEWAL

Determination of Cloak Makers to Continue Their Strike is Cause of Rioting Postol Fights and a Suicide.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Rioting, pistol fights and suicide marked the resumption today of the closing of the garment makers strike, at a moment when leaders among both employers and employees were announcing that hostilities were suspended and work would be resumed on Monday. The renewal of the strike resulted from the objection of the strikers to the proposal made by their leaders that the union concede the closed shop.

So bitter was the feeling against the men who suggested a compromise on that basis that Treasurer Lennon, who announced the plan to the strikers in the meeting, was driven from the hall. The working men and women were enraged at any such encroachment on what they claim are their absolute rights.

Moris Lovenson, a cloak maker, on learning that work was not to be resumed, killed himself. His funds had been exhausted by the seven months lay-off.

Holding that the "Labor Union in organizing the strike to enforce their demands of closed shop violated the law," Justice Goff of the New York supreme court today issued what is considered the most sweeping anti-labor injunction ever given in New York state.

The order came as the result of a bill for an injunction filed by the Cloak and Suit Manufacturers association against the International Garment Workers Union. The manufacturers considered the injunction as the strongest decision against labor unions ever rendered in America.

In issuing the restraining order the court says:

"If it is law that the employers cannot combine, the same law applies to the unions; what employers may not do, the workman may not do. The primary purpose of this strike was not to better conditions for the workmen, but to deprive other men of the opportunity for the right to work, and to drive them from the industry which required skill. These men have the right to pursue and gain a livelihood without being subjected to doing things which to them are disagreeable and repugnant."

MRS. FRENCH TO KEEP UP ATTACK

Will not Stop Attack on Heinze but Will Give out More Letters to the Press—Says He Owes Her $250,000.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Declaring that if she wished she could bring into unenviable prominence several well known people and hinting that possibly she might be foreced to do so by the failure of F. Augustus Heinze to respond to her suit, Mrs. Lillian Hobart French, Butte divorcee, said today that she intends publishing additional love letters which she said came to her from Heinze.

Process servers were out today endeavoring to find Heinze to serve papers in Mrs. French's suit for the recovery of $25,000 worth of mining stock certificates or their equivalent in money.

Heinze referred to me as "that woman," said Mrs. French. "Well, he must have liked 'that woman' to have written her 150 love letters couched in the most endearing terms. I intend to see that he makes good. He owes her $25,000 for copper stock and he will have to fulfill his promise to give me a regular weekly allowance."

"I have letters and papers showing all of Mr. Heinze's business relations at the time I was closely acquainted with him. They bring in many well known names. I don't want to injure innocent persons unless I find it is necessary."

Meanwhile the rumor here is that Heinze and the "Vampire Girl" of the "A Fool There Was" company, will start west next week after being married here. The date of the marriage has not been made public.

that the 1910 army maneuvers have been postponed as a precaution against the inception of the cholera in the Balkan state. The border of Southern Russia, near which the soldiers were to train, is one of the worst spots of infection.

Vienna also reported the appearance of several cases of the plague among Hungarians who have returned from Russia. No fear, however, that the disease will become epidemic there is expressed.

NEW MAIL SERVICE WITH THE ANTIPODES

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 27.—A special cable from Wellington, N. Z., says arrangements have been concluded with the Union Steamship company for a subsidized mail service to San Francisco, via Raratonga and Papeete. The government desires to obtain a service to Vancouver as well and on this account tenders from Canada have been asked. If it is decided to establish a Vancouver service, the San Francisco contract will probably be extended with Wellington as the terminal port.

Does Your Orchard Need Rain?

WE HAVE RAIN TO SELL

We have last winter's rains stored in the mountains to the east of the city ready for delivery to your orchard, when you give the order.

There is plenty of water in Fish Lake, and as soon as our big dam is completed at Four-Mile Lake we will have this immense natural reservoir connected with our system. When our work is completed we will have sufficient water to irrigate 55,000 acres in the Rogue River Valley.

We are now prepared to receive applications for the delivery of irrigation water to any lands covered by the Hopkins lateral.

If your orchard needs rain, call at our office and we can solve the moisture problem to your satisfaction.

GAS! GAS!

To Cook With Gas Means Cheap Fuel

THE ROGUE RIVER VALLEY GAS COMPANY expect to be ready to serve GAS October first, and therefore ask that all those who intend to use gas will call at the Company's Office and make arrangements to have their house service connections put in AT ONCE, in order to be ready to COOK WITH GAS the day it is turned into the mains; otherwise we will have so many orders for service connections when we first make Gas that you may be on the waiting list for several weeks. No bills will be rendered for these "previously ordered" house service connections, until after we are making and serving gas. Therefore, do not delay in placing your order—as you have all to gain and nothing to lose.
