Central Point Items

Little Thelma Applegate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Applegate, died Tuesday evening. The body was taken to Jacksonville for burial Wednesday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted at the grave by Rev. T. J. Hazelton of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city.

One John Benson made port here last Saturday night, having aboard a large cargo of tiger's milk, and proceeded to raise all kinds of a rough-house at the Central Point hotel. John fell into the fond embrace of Marshal Holmen, who secured him a room in the city bughouse, and Monday morning Judge Jacobs assessed Mr. Benson $10 for his bunch of hilarity. John had but $3.50 to apply on account and was given a "floater" for the remainder and immediately hit the Siskiyou for new and more congenial fields.

Ernest Webb and wife were in from their Bear Creek orchard Wednesday and secured a number of Central Point booster books to send to their friends back yonder.

Rev. J. D. Haacker of the Baptist church will preach his farewell sermon in Central Point Sunday night. He leaves in a few days for California, where he will reside in the future.

Central Point will in all probability observe Labor day with a half-holiday at least.

George Neil, an old-time watermelon fancier, declares this year's crop not up to the average in yield, but says they are real "skule marmas" for sweetness.

Ward Hopkins has returned from an outing of several weeks near Prospect, where he enjoyed fishing, deer hunting and saw some bear.

The Free Methodist camp meeting will commence September 8. A pavilion 40x60 will be erected and many tents will be pitched upon the grounds. A large number of ministers are coming with their families and a good attendance is expected from all parts of the country.

Glenn Owen has returned from the Blue canyon country, where he spent several days hunting and fishing in company with Mr. and Mrs. Will Scott. The party was practically surrounded by forest fire at one time and consider it a lucky strike that they escaped unscathed.

School will open next Monday morning in this district. The report current on the streets yesterday afternoon that it would not open until one week from Monday was without foundation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jeffers returned yesterday from their homestead near Butte Falls, where they have been for a couple of weeks watching the forest fires burn. Mr. Jeffers thinks the fires are well under control in that neighborhood, if the wind does not come up again. Twenty or more soldiers are there and have done good work keeping the fires within bounds, and Mr. Jeffers says at no time was the situation so serious as people on the outside have been led to believe. The fire did not touch his claim, but was within less than half a mile when the strong winds of last week died away. J. H. Downinger's claim was not injured, but about one-half of Will Scott's place was burned over.

County Commissioner Patterson of near Talent was in town Monday looking over the progress of the work of the new Bear creek bridge.

Work on the Central Point hotel continues and it is expected the carpenters will finish within a few days. Two new business rooms are being fitted up in the Pine street front of the building.

An important meeting of the Commercial club was held last evening, when a campaign for new members and for a general awakening of the club for the fall season was inaugurated. There is much work needed along the lines commercial clubs are supposed to cover, and it is to be hoped the local organization will get a good, lively move on within the next few months and make itself a real power for development of the Central Point section.

T. M. Jones went to Portland yesterday on a business trip. He will probably be away for a week or more.

Charles Pankey, who recently purchased a fine lot in Oak Park addition, has commenced the erection of a modern new dwelling thereon.

Contractor Farnum's new residence, on the west side, is nearing completion.

Ed McCord, who has been painting for Dick Hay all summer, went to Roseburg Tuesday for a few days.

WITH HARRIMAN DEAD, HILL DRIVES SURVEY STAKES ON PELICAN ESTATE

Invasion of Dead Magnate's Territory Never More Forcibly Brought Out Than at Present Time—Right of Way Liable to Be Condemned.

Line Surveyed is Pacific & Eastern Running East From This City to Connect With the Oregon Trunk—Say Cut Cannot Be Avoided.

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 1.—The invasion of Harriman territory by Hill has never been brought more forcibly to the attention of the public than when, soon after the death of the great railroad financier, J. J. Hill, his greatest business rival, having his surveyors stake out a line for tracks directly through the Pelican Lodge estate of the dead magnate on Pelican Bay, Oregon.

C. E. Runyon, president of the White Motor Car company, who just returned from Pelican Lodge with the news that when he visited the country home of the late E. H. Harriman the Hill surveyors were at work within the precincts of the estate, made this statement today. They surveyed a line directly through the estate, cutting it in half. The line is that of the Pacific & Eastern, running east from Medford, Or., to connect with the Oregon Trunk line down the Deschutes canyon.

"I talked with the surveyors," said Mr. Runyon, "and they told me the cut through the estate could not be avoided. It was the only practicable route, they said, and the road would condemn the property. The line runs between the lodge proper and Pelican Bay, on the edge of which is the house."

Make Every Dollar Worth More Than a Dollar!

An educated ad reader will never be poor. To "know advertising" is to have a practical knowledge of values—of things—of when and how and where to buy. No one, having and utilizing such knowledge, could ever be unthrifty, or in any sense careless or reckless of expenses. For such knowledge makes for thrift—for saving. It makes one proof against shams—false values—manipulated reductions.

The intelligent ad reader uses as much thought and ability in buying things as is required in earning the money that is spent for them. And that amounts to a substantial increase of the value of every dollar of the family revenue!

A LAVATORY LIGHT

What a convenience is an electric light in the lavatory. It can be switched on and off when needed. The danger of breaking chimneys by spattering them with water is eliminated. The necessity for matches is overcome. A simple turn of the wrist and the room is flooded with light.

It may be arranged so that the light can be switched on before or after entering the room.

This is only one of the many comforts possible in an electrically lighted home.

Our representative would be pleased to talk this matter over with you.
