NEW INDUSTRY CENTRAL POINT

Company Has Been Organized for the Manufacture of Cement Sewer and Irrigation Pipe, Cement Blocks and Bricks in Neighboring City.

CENTRAL POINT, Or., Sept. 6.

Central Point is soon to have a new industry in the line of a plant for the manufacture of cement sewer pipe, irrigation pipe, cement blocks and bricks, articles of incorporation having been filed by well-known capitalists of this place, among whom is W. H. Norcross and Frank Weston and a Mr. Collis.

The company finds splendid material at the site chosen and will put in all the modern machinery necessary for the manufacture of a high class grade of goods. The amount for which the company will incorporate has not as yet been made known, but the fact that Messrs. Norcross and Weston are back of the concern is sufficient evidence that there will be no lacking of finance to make the venture a success.

ASHLAND HELD BIG CELEBRATION

First Observance of Labor Day in Nearby City is Success—Elks' Band Heads Parade Through the City's Streets.

ASHLAND, Or., Sept. 6.—The first celebration of Labor day ever given in Ashland was very successful. There were about 100 men belonging to the Carpenters' & Joiners' union in line, comprising members of the Ashland and Medford branches of that organization.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mayor R. N. Snell. He was followed by President C. B. Watson of the Commercial club, who delivered a brief address. Mr. Strickland of the Carpenters' union also made an address and Miss Maly, a socialist organizer, delivered a radical address along those lines.

After the exercises the Medford visitors and many of the Ashland labor men gathered in Chautauqua park and enjoyed a basket picnic. The afternoon was devoted to a program of amateur athletic sports and games and to a general social good time, the visitors returning to Medford on the evening train.

A THOUSAND PHONES.

AN index of the phenomenal growth of Medford is the report of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company to the effect that it has connected over a thousand telephones at the Medford exchange.

It is but a few years since one operator could hardly keep busy answering the calls of the few phones in Medford. Today a score of girls are kept on the jump, and a new switchboard is necessitated for the near future.

Medford's increase in phones exceeds that of any other city in the country. No other town of the same population has as many phones and in none has the increase per capita been as rapid.

But phones are not the only thing that show a rapid increase and a phenomenal percentage per capita in Medford. There are automobiles, over 400 in use, or one for every 25 persons. Then there are more cash registers in use than in any other city of equal population, and there are also more typewriter machines than in any other city of similar size.

In fact it is hard to name any modern improvement or convenience that the people of Medford do not take advantage of, showing not only the rapid growth, but the unusually high standard of intelligence among the inhabitants, proving that Medford is the most metropolitan city of its size anywhere.

PROOF OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

LESS than a week remains in which to register in order to vote at the primaries to be held the latter part of this month.

It is a vital part of good citizenship to vote intelligently at all elections. Under the laws of Oregon the people have more to say regarding government than in any other state, and every citizen should take an active part, thus justifying the responsibilities placed upon his shoulders.

In many of the states the people have nothing to say as to who shall be the candidates of their party. Under Oregon's direct primary law they have all the say. The good citizen is the one who asserts his right in selecting candidates—the poor citizen one who allows others to select them for him.

If you are a good citizen you will register, and register at once in order that you may help select the candidates soon to be voted upon.

MARTIAL LAW IN BARLETA

Italian Soldiery and Starving Peasants Clash and Harsh Measures Are Adopted in Consequence—Cholera Prevails.

MILAN, Sept. 6.—Barleta, in the cholera district is under martial law as the result of yesterday's clash between the Italian soldiery and thousands of starving peasants. Traces of the rioting and disorder which prevailed throughout the day have not yet been removed from the streets.

Goaded into desperation by hunger and seeing their relatives and friends dying all around them by the terrible disease, the masses are almost uncontrollable. Yesterday's disorders assumed the proportions of a pitched battle, in which women and children fought alongside the men. The ignorant peasants maddened by the inability of the physicians and the Red Cross to cope with the cholera and their own helplessness, vented their rage by storming the hospitals.

Before assistance, in the form of infantry, arrived many of the surgeons were roughly handled. Several companies of infantry arrived at the scene of the worst disorder simultaneously and charged the mob with drawn bayonets. Men, women and children stood their ground, fighting back with clubs and stones and even with knives. Thirty soldiers were wounded and a large number of persons in the mob were bayoneted.

Since the cholera outbreak the importation of vegetables and fresh foods have been prohibited, and water hydrants have been shut off unless their supply are known to be untainted.

Hundreds of the city's population have left their homes and are living pitifully in caves or wandering aimlessly about.

NO CHANCE, SAYS NEILL.

Pleased With Progress. Mr. Neill expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the progress made by the company, and congratulated Medford on its rapid growth and its extensive municipal improvements, and the general building activity which was in evidence on every hand.

When Mr. Neill was asked what the policy of the Rogue River Valley Canal company would be, when the company would begin active construction on the intermediate and high line canals, and what the company would do regarding the development of "the desert," Mr. Neill discussed the matter at length and left no doubt as to the intention of the company.

"The company owns 6500 acres of land, known locally as "the desert," said Mr. Neill. "These lands will be immediately irrigated and developed, many acres will be planted to young orchards and all of the land will be leveled and irrigated. The plowing will begin within a very short period, for our plowing outfit is already on the ground, and with the exception of a few minor parts of the machinery, we are now ready to begin the plowing and general development of this area. We have taken up the reclamation of this desert land, and we will continue our work until the whole tract is leveled, irrigated and planted to orchards.

To Extend System. "In addition to the development of the desert, our company will be prepared to extend its system so as to include the entire valley, but we must know and feel that the people are with us before these extensions are undertaken. We regard this investment like any other, and we naturally look for the returns, or the possible returns, before we undertake it. We believe that the orchardists, gardeners and farmers of this district want irrigation, and we are ready to build the system, but we must know whether or not the people are interested before we can make this extensive investment. We contemplate the investment of 2,000,000, which in itself is worth the serious consideration of every business man in Medford, for every man in business will derive some benefit from the work going forward. Such an enterprise in this valley will be of vast benefit to Medford, and the Medford orchard district, and while the company will without question find it profitable itself, it is of mutual benefit to both the company and the people, and we feel that we are entitled to the support of every one in our enterprise.

CRIPPEN TRIAL IS UNDER WAY

None But Lawyers and Accredited Newspaper Men Permitted in the Room—Case Marks Beginning of the End of Sensational Case.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Dr. Hawley H. Crippen's hearing on a charge of having murdered his wife, who was Belle Elmore, an American vaudeville actress, was begun today in the Bow-street court. Mile. Ethel Leneve, Crippen's stenographer, also appeared before the bench, charged with being an accessory and with harboring a fugitive from justice. None but lawyers and accredited newspaper men were permitted in the room.

The hearing of the couple today marks the beginning of the end of one of the most sensational cases that has occupied the attention of Scotland Yard in recent years. Following the discovery last July in the basement of Crippen's London home of a body believed to be that of his wife, Scotland Yard occupied itself in a search for Crippen and for Mile. Leneve, who was believed to be with him.

Crippen and the girl were located through use of the wireless telegraph aboard the liner Montrose, bound for Father Point, Quebec. Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, crossing the Atlantic on a swifter vessel, was waiting for them with warrants for their arrest.

During the hearing today hundreds crowded about the doors of the chamber seeking admittance. The guards, however, refused to admit any one not bearing satisfactory credentials.

HERE AFTER EXHIBIT FOR MINNEAPOLIS

A. C. Heffner, representing the firm of L. S. Donaldson of Minneapolis, was in Medford Monday soliciting a fruit exhibit from the Medford district for the exhibit that his company annually gives in their famous glass house in Minneapolis. The store of L. S. Donaldson & Co. one of the finest store buildings in the west, having a surrounding wall of glass. Last year the fruit display in their immense windows was said to be the finest ever shown in the United States.

The method which the company uses in getting exhibits is to buy a carload at a figure lower than the market price from a district, allowing the growers to send a number of smaller displays, which are sold at fancy prices for the owner.

C. A. Malboen of the Commercial club says that Medford, through the co-operation of the Fruitgrowers' association and the Medford Commercial club, will undoubtedly send a display to the exhibit at Minneapolis this fall.

BEES ARE USED TO KILL CODLING MOTH

Codling moth have done great damage to the apple crop in western Colorado, and it has cut down the estimates heretofore made on the yield made on the Grand Valley. The pest made considerable inroad on the fruit despite the continued spraying that has been done.

Prof. E. P. Taylor, entomologist, discovered a bee which prey on the codling moth and as a result the Colorado growers are jubilant. The long hot dry spell was responsible for the coming of the pest and the parasites, numbering millions, have come to the rescue of the ranchers and are preying on the moth. Prof. Taylor says the little bees are known as the hymenoptera, and it is getting in its deadly work in many of the orchards. As a result the codling moth is being gradually overcome, and it is planned to breed the parasite by the million so that next year there will be less difficulty in fighting the pest. The insect originally was discovered by Prof. Comstock in the south as an enemy to the cotton worm. The ranchers are jubilant over the discovery of the new parasite.
