GREAT INTEREST TAKEN.

from the Mail Tribune will count 20 votes for a candidate.

Enter the name of the lady whom you wish to secure one of these magnificent awards in this contest at once. She may win the automobile, a $400 piano, a diamond ring or one of the business scholarships. Better still, get the lady to enter her name and then vote for her. Those who get in on the start have the best chance of winning, so it is desirable that the name be entered at once in order to get a good start.

Candidates who enter this contest do not necessarily have to be subscribers of the Mail Tribune. Enter your name and your friends will do the rest. You will be surprised to see how rapidly the votes will come in and what little effort is necessary to win one of the rewards offered. Get in on the start and encourage your friends to vote for you; the rest will be easy. You will never know how popular you are until you enter a contest of this kind.

Nominations.

Any person has the privilege of nominating one or more candidates. Nominations should be mailed to the contest department at once, as the names of the candidates will be published in a few days. Candidates can be nominated after this date, but it is a great advantage for each candidate to have her name in the first list published, so that her friends may not agree to work for someone else before knowing who are entering the contest.

It costs absolutely nothing to nominate a candidate.

How Ballots Are Secured.

TOO MANY LOBSTERS ARE EATING LOBSTERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—George M. Bowers, head of the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce and labor, today gave an expert opinion as to the present high prices of lobsters. According to Bowers, it really is due to the gastronomic ability of the summer visitors on the Maine coast.

"There are tens of thousands of men and women in Massachusetts and along the Maine coast just now, all with keen lobster appetites," said Mr. Bowers, impressively. "They will not be there next month, and then lobsters will decrease in price. The enormous number of lobsters planted along the Atlantic coast, too, will aid in lowering the cost of this edible."

FINAL TOUR OF BUFFALO BILL

After Half Century of Public Life. Colonel Cody Is Soon to Seek the Quiet of the Home—Will Visit Medford September 24.

After nearly half a century of public service, first in the actual scenes of frontier life in which his dash and daring gained him fame, and after its passing depicting the heroic scenes now relegated to history and collecting a congress of roughriders of the world, Colonel Cody on his farewell visit adds to his entertainment scenes from the Orient by adding Pawnee Bill's Far East. It is true that the American Indian's history and origin is shrouded in the midst of unrecorded ages, but it is a sadly recorded fact that as a race he was disappearing in as equally a misty future until Colonel Cody decided to make his personality and characteristics known not only to his native land, but to the most distant parts of Europe. In doing this he has assisted the historian, the writer, the painter, the sculptor, the romancer, and the working people of the world the story of the conquest of a people in the white man's absorption of a continent. In this he has contributed to all the arts preservative. Were it not for Colonel Cody's repeated tours this would not have been possible through any other medium, and for this he should be greatly remembered and proper tribute paid to him on his farewell.

Beyond the American Indian he made us acquainted with that greatest of horsemen, the American cowboy, and his equine antagonist, the wild horse of the plains. Extending his school to cover the horsemen of the world, he has brought to the untraveled spectator specimens of every known race and nation who had special experts in the line of horsemen, notably the Russian Cossack, the South American gaucho, the Hungarian chiko, cavalry of our own and other nations to add to the interest of the story of American life which he produced in effective dramatic form.

His name will be long remembered, but it is a happy incident that only lately one monument, to which will soon be added another, will be connected with his memory far into the distant future. One is his interest in the development of the west, resulting in his being a factor in the erection of the highest dam in the world, the Shoshone dam in the Big Horn basin, near Cody, Wyo., and was instrumental in launching the movement initiated by the Hon. Rodman Wanamaker to build a companion monumental statue to the Goddess of Liberty in New York harbor to typify the personality of the American Indian. This work has lately been indorsed by the congress of the United States.

This final appearance of Colonel Cody and the grand program of human interest as regards the world's congress of peoples, the scenes of western and eastern life, and the magnificent exhibition of horsemanship incidental to the stories depicted elevates the occasion to an event that should interest both old and young.
