THE STATE SENATORSHIP.

THE most important legislative office in Jackson county to be voted upon this fall is that of state senator. This is a four-year term and the man elected has a vote for the United States senator to be elected two years hence. It is therefore of great importance that a candidate be elected who is willing to vote for the popular choice for senator who is in sympathy with the progressive political movements of the day, who is committed to Statement One candidates in the field, H. von der Hellen and J. J. Cambers of Ashland. Assuming that they will divide the vote, and make possible the nomination of an anti-Statement candidate, the candidacy of Judge W. M. Colvig has been announced.

Of the two Statement candidates, Mr. Von der Hellen is best known and strongest. He served a term as representative from Jackson county and has an honorable record. Mr. Cambers is but little known outside his home city. One of these candidates should withdraw, if they really have the success of the principle, rather than the office, at heart, and logic points to the withdrawal of the weakest candidate. Statement supporters must unite their forces and unite upon the strongest man if they would win success.

Judge Colvig is one of Jackson county's best citizens, and it would give the Mail Tribune great pleasure to support his candidacy, were it not for the principles he represents. He refuses to take Statement No. 1, but submits instead the same platform that Joe Hammersley met defeat upon two years ago. Republicans showed then that they would vote for a democrat rather than for the principles Mr. Colvig represents.

If elected, Judge Colvig, who was Jackson county's spokesman in the self-constituted assembly, will undoubtedly vote in favor of emasculating the direct primary law. He is in sympathy with the reactionary element in the party. He will be supported by all the old line politicians who seek to restore the old pie-counter conditions, the conditions that make the election of Lorimers possible.

Judge Colvig is probably the strongest man the reactionaries could have brought out. He will secure many votes on account of his deserved popularity. But with the attack being made upon progressive legislation, personal friendships should not count, for Oregon must keep its place as a leader in the battle for popular government.

A state senator is the servant of the people, not of the party, and should be willing to accept the people's verdict and carry out their dictum, even though it "ties his hands," as Judge Colvig complains, and there is no proof that any one man's judgment, even Judge Colvig's, is superior to that of the majority of the people that he represents.

Under existing conditions, the Mail Tribune regrets that it cannot support Mr. Colvig, who has got off on the wrong foot politically. Instead it will support Mr. Von der Hellen, who has accepted Statement No. 1, and who is abundantly qualified to represent Jackson county with honor in the state senate.

HAWLEY FINDS HARD SLEDDING DISSENSION IN HIS OWN TOWN

Not Only Has Nation-Wide Insurgent Movement to Contend With, But Also Has Attached to Him the Assembly Recommendation.

Grange Fails to Get His Opinion on Statement One, But He Maintains a Deep Silence—So Far Refuses to Debate.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 8.—Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Salem, candidate for re-election in the first district, is beginning to realize that he is involved in one of the most serious fights for re-nomination that has ever taken place in this district. While Congressman Ellis in the second district has three opponents that will divide the opposition, Congressman Hawley in the first has one opponent, B. F. Mulkey of Jackson county, who makes the issue clean-cut, insurgency and progressiveness against standpattism and Cannonism.

Mulkey hails from a section that has of late felt itself neglected, and it feels it is due that it have representation in congress. Mulkey will pull a solid vote out of Southern Oregon, while Hawley comes from Salem, a citizenship that does not go far in Mulkey's country.

At home Hawley is unable to suppress the murmurings against his policies. His secretary went into the Young Men's Republican club of Salem and secured the adoption of some resolutions indorsing Hawley's candidacy for renomination, which was opposed to the principles upon which the club was organized, and stirred up internal dissension that not only has threatened the existence of the club, but has brought to a head Hawley's opposition in his own party in his home town. Before, it had been the policy of this club not to indorse, and its constitution and by-laws expressly prohibited the indorsing of any candidate before the people had a chance to speak through the direct primary.

Hawley has not only the nationwide insurgent movement to contend with in his district, but he also has attached to him the unsavory Portland assembly recommendation. He says he has not indorsed the assembly, but that the assembly indorsed him; but nevertheless he seemed very glad to get the assembly indorsement at the time. The grange has endeavored to get his opinion on Statement No. 1, but has failed to extract from him either a flat rejection of the principle or a statement indorsing it, which has led them to believe he is not in sympathy with popular election of United States senators, to which the grange is pledged almost to a unit.

Efforts of Mr. Mulkey to draw Hawley into debate have failed to bear any fruit so far.

Unless the crown should fail to substantiate the evidence of the finding of the poison or the defense is able to disprove it through its own experts, it is believed that a staggering blow will be dealt Crippen's case. His attorneys showed signs of the gravity with which they regarded the case, by the careful attention paid today to Holcomb Ward, a druggist, who testified that Dr. Crippen had purchased five grains of the drug from him.

prevent Crippen from talking to his former typist. The crown, it is intimated, has given up all hope of inducing the girl to testify against the doctor.

That Mile. Leneve, Dr. Crippen's typist, was seen wearing jewelry and clothing which belonged to Mrs. Crippen after the latter's disappearance, was the testimony given by Mrs. Smythson of Brixton, who was an acquaintance of both women. About the same time she testified Crippen told her his wife had died while en-route to America.

A Mrs. Harrison of Brixton testified that she had seen Mile. Leneve wearing clothing belonging to Mrs. Crippen. The attorney for the crown endeavored to substantiate with her testimony that given by Mrs. Smythson.

After Mrs. Harrison had been dismissed, Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, who crossed the Atlantic to arrest Crippen and the woman, took the stand.

On June 30, Dew testified he met Mile. Leneve leaving the Crippen home. When he stopped her she appeared agitated and in answer to a question regarding her identity declared she was Crippen's housekeeper. Later she told him her true name.

Mild Sensation.

A mild sensation was created by the entrance into the Bow-street court, shortly after the hearing was begun, of a group of titled women. They apparently had tried to take the places reserved for them without their identity becoming known, but when they entered the room there was a general craning of necks and an excited buzz of whispering.

Sir William Gilbert, the British dramatist and composer, appeared before the hearing was begun. He was seated beside the presiding judge.

NEW FISH WAY FOR KENO FALLS

Sandry Promises Residents of That Section He Will Arrange Fishway Where Nature Has Been Neglected.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Sept. 8.—Fish Warden S. L. Sandry of district No. 2 was a business visitor in town recently from his home in Woodville, Or. He was here on business in connection with his office, and states that he has just completed a very valuable piece of work at the Keno falls, where he has placed a fishway which is proving a big success.

Mr. Sandry states that it has been impossible to for the fish to get past the falls there and that it became necessary to either blast out the rock and cut a fishway or permit the fish to dash their lives out in an endeavor to get past the falls. He states that a number of the old residents in that neighborhood were very indignant to think that he would undertake to change the ways of nature, but that he was of the opinion that the results would more than justify the efforts that he and companions had put forth in clearing the stream so that the fish will be able to frequent the stream above that point.

The fish commission, in spite of all the abuse that is heaped upon it, has accomplished a great deal of good in propagating and distributing fish in the streams and in protecting them from those who do not care to obey the laws which aim to protect the fish at certain times of the year. Mr. Sandry states that there has been considerable unlawful fishing at the Keno falls and that he found a number of fish nets and spears which have been put to an unlawful use.

APPETITE GONE.

Indigestion Is the Cause of It—Get Rid of It.

People go on suffering from little stomach troubles for years and imagine they have a serious disease.

They over eat or over drink and force on the stomach a lot of extra work.

But they never think that the stomach needs extra help to do extra work.

If these people would take a MI-ONA stomach tablet with or after meals it would be a great big help to the stomach in its strain of overwork.

MI-ONA is guaranteed by Chas. Strong to cure indigestion or any stomach disease or money back.

NEW INDUSTRY CENTRAL POINT

From 25 to 50 Men Will Be Given Steady Employment When the Cement Works Start—Plant Will Be Near Bridge Over Bear Creek.

CENTRAL POINT, Or., Sept. 8.—Articles of incorporation have been filed of the Bear Creek Cement Pipe, Block & Brick Co., with Frank Weston, president; W. J. Collis, vice-president and manager, and W. H. Norcross, secretary and treasurer.

The company expects to engage in the manufacture of all kinds of cement sewer and irrigating pipe, cement blocks, bricks and, in fact, all classes of cement work of similar character. The bunkers and rock-crusher for the concern will be on Bear creek, near the bridge, where an unlimited supply of the choicest material is to be had, while the cement plant proper will be located on a site leased from the railroad company near the stockyards. The plant will give employment to from 25 to 50 men from the start, and as the business increases more men will become necessary.

Mr. Collis, who is an experienced cement manufacturer, came here some time ago from Puget Sound, and during the summer he has looked carefully over all of Southern Oregon for a location for such a business, finally deciding on Central Point as being in the heart of the best fruit section on the coast. Mr. Collis figures that it is only a question of a short time until all of this valley will be under irrigation, and with water as valuable as it is here the open ditch will be discarded and the water delivered through pipe lines, as is now successfully done in California. Mr. Weston and Mr. Norcross are both well-known business men here, and their connection with the new firm insures the stability of the concern. Mr. Weston was in the orange business in California for a number of years and he knows all about the needs of an irrigated fruit district where the supply of water should ever become short.

Mr. Collis leaves for Portland today to arrange for the early shipment of the machinery for their plant, which will be erected and put in operation at the earliest possible moment.
