

Wilton Lackaye Here Soon

"THE BATTLE."

John J. Haggleton (Wilton Lackaye) seeks to impress upon his son the unfairness of socialism.

It is hard to realize that Wilton Lackaye, who comes to the Medford theater with his latest vehicle, "The Battle," next Thursday night is not to be numbered with the younger players of the present day, but he really dates back to the time when our stage was supposed to be at its "palmiest"—though in all fairness he is said to be a tolerably young man at the time. One would hesitate to state how long ago it was that Lawrence Barrett evidently found Lackaye indispensable to his tours, for, for several years no Barrett playbill was authentic without the young man's name. There are not even many theatergoers willing to admit that they recall distinctly what Lackaye did with Daly and with Palmer, or under Steele Mackaye. Suffice it to say that when he helped make history as the leading light of Mr. Frohman's company in "Aristocracy," "The District Attorney" and a dozen other famous plays, he was already a player of renown. His triumphs as Svengali in "Tribby" and Reb Shemuel in "The Children of the Ghetto" are comparatively recent, leading almost directly as they did to his later starring career. All told, Lackaye has played some 300 parts in his day.

Since Lackaye has won the title of star he has had no play as successful as "The Battle." The long New York run of this unusual piece of Cleveland Moffett's was nothing short of sensational. It is a play that strikes many popular notes, and is fortunate in dealing with topics now agitating the public mind. John D. Rockefeller took sufficient interest in it to contribute a number of speeches that have been put into the mouth of John J. Haggleton, multimillionaire, its principal character, and the New York socialists were stirred by the play to that extent that they called a great mass meeting, presided over by their most prominent speakers, to discuss its attitude.

"The Battle" has received an adequate production at the hands of Liebler & Co. Seats now selling.

BOURNE DENIES STORY.

"Yet, the assemblyites are endeavoring to destroy this, the state's greatest asset. Every vote for an assembly nominee is an infernal confession that the voter is unable to select his public servant or pass intelligently on legislation. After voting an assembly ticket he should immediately go to the county court and ask for a guardian for his business or property, as his vote for an assembly nominee is a virtual confession of his own incompetence, and this mental paresis might apply to business.

"Neither myself nor any other individual is or can be the chief issue in this campaign. The question involved is whether the people shall retain their power to select their candidates or shall delegate that power to a convention under the name of 'assembly,' chosen and manipulated by political bosses representing special interests and antagonistic to all progressive laws and all extension of the system of popular government.

"The people of Oregon are on trial. They have the best system of popular government in the world."

NEW CHAPEL IS TO BE ERECTED

Christian Scientists Will Start Work Immediately on New Building on Their Property at Oakdale and Fifth.

Plans have been drawn and a contract is about to be let for the erection of a chapel for the Christian Scientists on the property near the corner of Oakdale and Fifth streets. The chapel will cost in the neighborhood of $5000.

It is a ruling of the Christian Scientists that they never hold services in a building that has a dollar outstanding debt against it, and for this reason they have delayed building until now, when they have the money in readiness.

The building will be 33x75 feet in size and will stand on the rear of the property, the front of which is to be parked and beautified in order that it might harmonize with the other property on that street.

AMENT DAM IS FIXED ONCE MORE

Fish Warden Sandry Completes Work and Leaves on Trip to Mouth of Rogue, Where He Will Watch for Illegal Fishers.

Deputy Fish Warden Sam L. Sandry has completed the repairs of the fishway over the Ament dam and once again all is serene. The fish are now able to ascend the stream easily.

"I do not think," says Mr. Sandry, "that you will hear the old cry, 'fish can't get over the dam at the dry diggings' any more. It is now in better shape than ever before from a fish standpoint."

Mr. Sandry has left for a trip to the mouth of Rogue river in order to determine if any illegal fishing is going on in that territory.

"NOTHING DOING," SAYS TAFT

not been determined and politicians are unsettled over the matter. They all agreed that the New York politics formed the center of the conference, and that in all likelihood the governorship was mentioned. Whether Roosevelt asked Taft to support Otto Bannard is not known, but it seems pretty evident that if this was asked, according to politicians, there was little indication of the part of the president to enthusiastically support any candidate before the nomination committee completes its work.

Any boy or girl under 16 years of age can enter the contest. You may draw any kind of a picture you like, either serious or humorous. You can make the drawing of the RED GOOSE only, or it can be a scene in which the RED GOOSE is a prominent character. You can draw the picture in black and white with pen and ink, or pencil, or crayon, or it can be drawn in colors with crayon or your water colors. You can draw one picture or as many as you like. There is no limit to the number you can enter. (Our advice is to draw only a few and make these as good as you can.)

First, The drawing must be made on a good clean sheet of drawing paper or drawing board, about the same size as those used in the drawing classes in your school.

Second, your name, your parents' or guardian's name, your home address, your age at your nearest birthday, and the name of your school must be plainly written on the back.

Third, the drawing must be brought in by yourself and handed in at our Shoe Department. (An exception will be made for those children who through sickness or misfortune cannot come in person.)

and on or before that date all of your drawings must be presented. You can bring them in as much earlier as you like. The prizes will be awarded three weeks later, as the committee will require this amount of time to select the best

Now all you boys and girls, let's see how well you can draw. Make a picture of the RED GOOSE and bring it in as soon as you have it finished. And come in and see the big RED GOOSE exhibition. This is something every boy and girl should see.

All grown people and children are invited to see the Red Goose. Everyone should come and see the Only and Original Red Goose at
