TO MAKE MOUNT HOOD A NATIONAL PARK

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 23.—Mt. Hood will be made a national park, if a movement now under way is successful. Under the leadership of E. Henry Wemme, petitions are being prepared for circulation all over the state of Oregon. These petitions ask the federal government to withdraw that part of Mount Hood now in the forest reserve and other portions included in United States properties, making of the whole a great park similar to the Yellowstone and Crater Lake.

Mr. Wemme intends to ask every commercial organization in the state to lend a hand to secure for Oregon an attraction that will draw many thousands of tourists to the new park. It is thought by Portland people that the project is an entirely feasible one and that the government will give it official sanction. The Portland Automobile club will aid the movement of circulating petitions and in urging along the establishment of the new reservation.

Prizes for Sheep.

PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 23.—Many prizes are being offered for the sheep show to be held in connection with the annual convention of the National Woolgrowers' association in this city January 3, 4, 5 and 6, 1911. The convention will meet in the armory and the drill hall will be used for showing tons of thoroughbred sheep. It is expected there will be the biggest sheep show in the history of the association, for there is a great deal of interest in the affair all over the country, and there will be a correspondingly large entry list. Sheep-growers of the northwest particularly are taking a great interest in the midwinter show.

BOY MAYOR PRO TEM. STIRS UP TROUBLE

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23.—While Mayor Hiram Gill is cruising in the waters of Puget Sound on a vacation trip, Max Waddell, a youthful councilman, who is acting mayor by a succession of stances, is affecting such radical reforms that "privileged interests" are frantically trying to locate the mayor or Chief of Police Wappenstein, who is in California.

Waddell closed a notorious dance hall and bade the acting police chief to enforce the liquor law to the letter. The dance hall people got a restraining order, declaring that the liquid dispensed in their resort was not genuine beer, but a nonalcoholic substitute.

The city chemist, however, today pronounced the stuff real beer. In writing an ad about that furnished room you have to rent say, in a convincing way, just what you'd what it was like. "and all about it."

Buffalo Bill Here Tomorrow

With much of the spectacle and pageantry of an army in transit, although bent upon the most amiable of missions, Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East shows combined will invade Medford tomorrow and erect their tented city upon the familiar show grounds. Two performances will be given, the first promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the second at 8 in the evening.

There will be no street parade for a two-fold reason. In the first place, says Major Gordon W. Lillie (Pawnee Bill), who is the business head of the combination, the performers and horses employed in working out the entertaining conclusions of the Wild West-Far East are always at full tension. Where they are sent abroad for a matutinal exhibition in the thoroughfares, they return to the show grounds usually in a listless condition, with the frequent result of an indifferent performance, which is not fair to the public that pays honest money for advertised merit.

In the second place, street parades attract thousands of excursionists from the rural districts, who congest in the thoroughfares, impeding traffic and interfering generally with the commerce of the retail merchants. They remain on the sidewalks in immovable lines until the procession is at an end, and then bolt for the show grounds. But where these visitors understand there is no spectacle to entertain them until afternoon, they disperse and enter the shops, where they make purchases of a size commensurate with the holiday occasion. Therefore, the tented show, without a street parade, is a benefit to the merchants, instead of a decided detriment.
