COMMENTS CAUGHT IN PASSING.

County Judge Neil is in favor of the amendment allowing counties to bond themselves for the building of good roads. He says: "There is no reason why future generations which are to use the roads should not aid in paying for them. The main responsibility that we have in the matter is to build roads that will last."

W. H. Jenkins, general passenger agent on the Southern Pacific, when in Medford Thursday morning was asked if the Southern Pacific was pleased with Medford. He said: "Everybody is pleased with Medford. Everybody on the trains throughout the coast talks of Medford, the wonders of its climate and the brightness of its prospects."

"Medford is certainly the one best bet in Oregon," says Frank Leiland, a prominent mining man of Arizona with interests in Southern Oregon. "Every time I visit this city she looks busier than ever."

"What do you know about our new electric light fixtures?" said Night Clerk Carsens of the Hotel Nash. "I tell you when we get our fixing up finished we will have some hotel, alright."

"Real estate is beginning to move more freely now with the fall business coming on," says H. H. Lorimer, a local dealer. "Soon things will be livelier than ever before."

"If a man doubts Medford's strides toward improvements let him tackle her streets," says H. C. Brownell of North Central avenue. "Everywhere the streets are blocked until it is getting to be almost a nuisance."

"The orchard inspectors are getting busy," says Prof. P. J. O'Gara, "and it will not be long before every trace of disease will be wiped away. Orchardists are co-operating splendidly."

"I am proud of my drive from Portland in a Packard," states F. C. Riggs, state agent for that company. "I came all the way down without once refilling the radiator."

DEMOCRATS IN SESSION.

Temporary Chairman Alton B. Parker attacked the tariff, saying:

"The republican national machine stood faithfully by the trusts and corporations, and the individual tariff beneficiaries, and for years traded the rights of the people in return for money with which to buy the votes of doubtful states. Whatever excuse is offered, the truth is that the republican machine received the money of corporate and individual beneficiaries. They have in return compelled congress to keep the tariff high. President Taft has admitted it."
