DANSEUSE STILL STANDS BY KING

Will Not Desert In Time of Trouble—
Hopes to Meet Him in Paris in October—Will Be Kinder to Him Than Ever, She Says.

VIENNA, Oct. 8.—That Mlle. Gaby des Lya will not desert Don Manuel now that he has fallen on evil days was the declaration made by the French dancer to the United Press today.

"I had an appointment to meet the king in Paris October 16 and I certainly hope to see him there," she said. "I will not leave my king in misfortune. On the contrary, I will be kinder than ever to him who was so kind to me.

"I will remain at the Apollo theater here until the 15th and then will take the first train for Paris. I believe even now that the king will be there. Afterwards I have to fill engagements in Berlin, London and other capitals."

GREAT VIOLINIST COMING HERE SOON

Haroldi, the famous Polish violinist, who is to be heard in concert at the new Natatorium auditorium Monday evening, October 10, has a number of fine old violins, but the one he loves most and which he uses almost constantly is a Stradivarius, made in the year 1725. It is an instrument remarkable for its great depth and mellowness of tone. As the performer wills, it gives forth volume equal to that of a cello or sings as softly as the lightest zephyr.

Not all artists are fortunate enough to possess a perfect instrument. There are thousands upon thousands of violins but few that are flawless. The modern workmen cannot approach the art of the old masters. And of the latter there were very few. It is generally conceded that Antonio Stradivarius was the greatest builder of violins that the world has ever known. His success rested, not so much with the manner in which he fashioned the box and neck of his instruments, as it did with the peculiar kind of varnish which he used, and in the way in which he applied it. There is a beautiful transparency evident in the coating of a Stradivarius which other makers have never duplicated.

CHICAGO BOYS BEAT HONORABLE JAPANESE

TOKIO, Oct. 8.—Before a crowd of 50,000 and with American Ambassador J. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien as the guests of honor, the University of Chicago baseball team again defeated Kelo university today in one of the best games ever played in Japan. The score was 3 to 2, and in the last inning Kelo, who batted last, came within an ace of crowding over the tying run.

Never before has so much interest been shown in any athletic event in the orient. Long before the players arrived the diamond was surrounded on all sides. The university grounds were alive with people.

Kelo presented a team of veterans. Sugase pitched and was effective throughout the nine innings. Chicago won the game by clever base running and opportune hitting.

SCALPING TICKETS FOR BIG GAMES STARTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—In spite of the promise of the national commission that the fans will be given an even break on the tickets for the world's baseball series, scalping already has begun. Speculators have bought up large lots and today are preparing to sell them at regular scalpers' prices. "Four bits more and walk right in," it is expected, will be a familiar cry when the gates are swung open. President Ban Johnson is taking steps to punish the scalpers if they can be caught.

FALL WALKING SHOES

The cool days of autumn often suggest a brisk, enjoyable walk. The walk, however, to be enjoyable must be made in a sensibly made, well-fitting pair of shoes—and that's just the kind we offer in our Weber Shoe for men.

It's of good style and of sturdily strong construction and leathers and is certain to give long, satisfactory wear.
