

MUSIC LOVERS GET TOGETHER

The Oratorio society under the direction of Gerard Taillandier is increasing in numbers and a large and successful organization in Medford is now assured.

Scott, the great baritone, sang in Portland a short time ago and had Medford been organized musically could have engaged him for a concert in Medford.

It is the wish of the society that all singers be present at the next meeting which will be held in the small hall at the Natatorium Tuesday evening at 7:30 prompt.

Singers who have newly come to Medford and are not yet fully acquainted with the musical people are especially invited. They are taking for the first work Rossini's "Stabat Mater."

NEW LEADER HERE FOR NAT ORCHESTRA

Lois Ritzen, the new leader of the Natatorium Orchestra has arranged a special program for the Sunday afternoon and evening concert, introducing several descriptive pieces such as "A Cavalry Charge" and "A Trip to Great Britain."

HILLCREST PEARS WIN A PRIZE

At the interstate fair recently held in Spokane the Hillcrest orchard of this valley carried away the first prize over nine competitors with a plate exhibit of Howell pears.

TO CHANGE COPYRIGHT LAWS IN CANADA

OTTAWA, Oct. 15.—A copyright law giving Canada full autonomy in respect to copyright, it is announced, will be introduced by Hon. Sydney Fisher in the next session of parliament.

This is the result of an agreement which has been reached between Fisher, who has charge of copyrights, and the imperial authorities.

The bill will provide for reciprocity in copyrights, as between Canada and the mother country, a copyright secured in one country applying to the other. It will also put an end to Americans securing a Canadian copyright by simple registration in Great Britain, as is the case at the present time.

ELLEN BEACH YAW HERE TOMORROW

The voice of Ellen Beach Yaw, which certain master critics have proclaimed the most unusual and musical soprano since Jenny Lind, will be heard in a great program at the Medford theater on Monday night, October 17.

Miss Yaw is inaugurating, under splendid auspices, a grand tour of North America, and the local date is made possible by the fortuitous combination of circumstances.

Her program is of exceptional sort including as it does the widest range of selections, showing more versatility and command of varied schools than is possible by any other soprano before the public today.

Miss Yaw's wonderful exposition of the beauties of the old fashion English and American songs first brought to her attention of the critical. She then amstered—they say more completely than any other prima donna—the beautiful intricacies of the old Italian school, and now stands as acknowledged mistress, besides, of the widely diversified French and German schools.

She will have the assistance of a flute soloist of international renown, Jay Powell, late of the Royal Opera house orchestra of Berlin. In these days when every prima donna is supported by either a songster of some sort, a violinist or a cellist, it is indeed a delightful change to find a great player of that beautiful but seldom mastered instrument, the flute.

Mrs. Mary Newman, solo pianist and accompanist, is among the foremost in her class, and it is declared by Miss Yaw the most resultful and sympathetic player she has ever had in her company.

BIG BALLOON RACE STARTS ON MONDAY

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—Final preparations for the international balloon race were completed today, and all is in readiness for the flight of the big gas bags and their human freight on Monday.

Ten entrants, representing all nations and numbering some of the best known aeronauts in the world are camped on the field near here, from where the start is to be made.

While the American balloon race from Indianapolis last month was not remarkable for the records made, it is expected the international contest will establish several new marks.

Weather conditions are considered more favorable than last month and the balloons entered are of a far better class.

MANY BUCKS FALLING BEFORE HUNTERS' RIFLES

Nearly every party of hunters returning from the higher mountains reports the limit, or near it, of deer on the hunt.

H. C. Maury, Will Stewart and George Ross brought in 14 from "The Needles" near head of Trail and Elk creek last week.

The Elvert party hunting on the east fork of Elk bagged eleven in one day with three guns, then, having reached the limit, were forced to abandon a lot of good shooting.

The deer are plentiful and low down and the recent storms have caused them to move out of the brush into more open country.

Everett Harmon, formerly postmaster at Grants Pass is spending a few days in Medford visiting friends.

TEDDY KICKS; WANTS 'GINGER'

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived in New York City today after his trip through the south and his opening of the campaign on behalf of Henry L. Stimson, republican candidate for governor.

Colonel Roosevelt at once held a conference with the republican managers. He said that the campaign was yet lacking in "ginger," but he believes that things will liven up shortly.

QUITS ALL FOR RELIGION.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—Miss Laura Barney, who recently created a marble statue of Ariadne, which caused a sensation when placed, undraped, in the magnificent grounds of the Barney mansion on Massachusetts avenue, Washington, D. C., has abandoned art and will for the rest of her life devote her time and energies to the spread of Babism, a Persian religion, the founder of which was exiled 30 years ago.

STOCK MARKET STRONG

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—After a small setback at the opening the stock market regained its strength today and many substantial advances resulted. Union Pacific was carried up 1 3-8; Laclede Gas rose 1 5-8, National Lead 1 1-2, American Sugar, 1 5-8, American Locomotive 1 3-8 and others large fractions. Pullman lost 2, North American 2 5-8 and American Saw preferred 1. The market closed strong.

Prolapsed Organs

Prolapsed organs, as the stomach, kidneys, bowels or uterus, cause a great deal of suffering. Every conceivable form of so-called treatment has been resorted to, but with little or no relief.

These organs are held in position by ligaments. When the ligaments become weakened and elongated the organs drop down out of position.

Now, how can a condition of this kind be permanently cured? By removing the cause. With cause removed effects disappear. The prolapsed condition is but an effect following a cause. Now that the ligaments that should hold the organs in position have become weakened, it is necessary to find the cause of the weakness.

Every part of the body must have the proper amount of nerve force transmitted to it, or a weakness in the part neglected is the result. Nerves give life and vitality to every organ and tissue in the body.

You have no doubt noticed that pressure on nerves causes numbness which continues until the pressure is removed. Thus it is with the innervating nerves of the ligaments. Pressure has caused the depletion of the nerve force without the patient being conscious of it. The pressure is not intense, but enough to interfere seriously with the normal innervation of the nerve.

Pressure on the nerve is brought about in the bony passage ways of the spinal column through which the nerves pass, these passage ways being just large enough to transmit the nerves without pressure under normal conditions. But as displacements may be produced in different ways, such as by falls, strains or heavy lifting, etc., there is only one logical method by which the nerve can be restored to its normal functioning power, and that is by realignment of the bones forming the passage way for the nerves. This is done by a scientific and positive adjustment of the displaced parts.

When this affected the innervating nerves of the ligaments are freed from pressure, thus enabling them to transmit normal nerve impulses to the weakened ligaments, affecting a cure. The ligaments again become strong, lifting the organs to their normal position.

Is not this the most rational and sensible way of curing prolapsed organs?

If You Should Die Today

Would you have enough ready cash To keep the business intact? To pay off the mortgage and save the home? To meet deferred payments on property bought? Would the estate you would leave provide an income for your wife and children—deprived as they would be of your earning ability—which would permit them to live in the manner to which they are now accustomed?

THINK IT OVER, MEN, and then provide for the sustenance of the family after you are gone—as you consider it your duty to provide for them while you live—by insuring in some good old line company, and in your selection of a company treat the matter the same as you would any other BUSINESS PROPOSITION

That is, through careful investigation by means of COMPARISON. In other lines of purchase men seldom buy anything, from a 5-cent cigar to a $50,000 business block, without first comparing with others, as to net cost, value received, etc. Why not give your insurance the same consideration you would give other investments by comparing, for example, along the following lines:

Look into the HISTORY of the various companies. Have they been established long enough and have they the established reputation to assure absolute reliability? Have they the advantage of strong financial backing and years of practical experience?

Look into the DIVIDEND records of the various companies for the past 10 or 20 years. Premiums differ but little: DIVIDENDS determine NET COST and differ largely. The record of 33 of the leading companies for the year 1909 shows a range of average dividend to each $1000 insurance in force of from $0.64 (Canada Life Assurance Co.) to $10.21 (Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co.)

Look into the MUTUALITY of the various companies. A little investigation and common reasoning will reveal the great superiority of mutual over stock companies, and then see that the company is mutual in practice as well as in name.

Look into the MANAGEMENT of the various companies. What about ratio of expense to income? How are the funds of the companies invested and what rate of interest are these investments bringing?

A little investigation along these and other lines will clearly demonstrate the Superiority of the Over 50 years' experience. Successful—Satisfactory. The Largest Dividend Paying Company in the World. Average dividend to each $10000 insurance in force in 1909—$10.21, or $3.00 MORE PER $1000 THAN THE NEAREST COMPETITOR, or $6.25 PER $1000 MORE THAN THE AVERAGE OF 32 LEADING COMPANIES.

A Purely Mutual Company. The Policy-holders are the only stockholders and get ALL the earnings through their dividends. Over $10,000,000 Insurance in OREGON alone. A much larger amount than any other company. Over $7,500,000 loaned in OREGON and Washington.
