If You Should Die Today

Would you have enough ready cash To keep the business intact? To pay off the mortgage and save the home? To meet deferred payments on property bought? Would the estate you would leave provide an income for your wife and children—deprived as they would be of your earning ability—which would permit them to live in the manner to which they are now accustomed?

THINK IT OVER, MEN, and then provide for the sustenance of the family after you are gone—as you consider it your duty to provide for them while you live—by insuring in some good old line company, and in your selection of a company treat the matter the same as you would any other BUSINESS PROPOSITION That is, through careful investigation by means of COMPARISON. In other lines of purchase men seldom buy anything, from a 5-cent cigar to a $50,000 business block, without first comparing with others, as to net cost, value received, etc. Why not give your insurance the same consideration you would give other investments by comparing, for example, along the following lines:

- Look into the HISTORY of the various companies. Have they been established long enough and have they the established reputation to assure absolute reliability? Have they the advantage of strong financial backing and years of practical experience? Look into the DIVIDEND records of the various companies for the past 10 or 20 years. Premiums differ but little: DIVIDENDS determine NET COST and differ largely. The record of 33 of the leading companies for the year 1909 shows a range of average dividend to each $1000 insurance in force of from $0.64 (Canada Life Assurance Co.) to $10.21 (Northwestern Mutual Life Ins. Co.) Look into the MUTUALITY of the various companies. A little investigation and common reasoning will reveal the great superiority of mutual over stock companies, and then see that the company is mutual in practice as well as in name. Look into the MANAGEMENT of the various companies. What about ratio of expense to income? How are the funds of the companies invested and what rate of interest are these investments bringing? A little investigation along these and other lines will clearly demonstrate the Superiority of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.

Over 50 years' experience. Successful—Satisfactory. The Largest Dividend Paying Company in the World. Average dividend to each $10000 insurance in force in 1909—$10.21, or $3.00 MORE PER $1000 THAN THE NEAREST COMPETITOR, or $6.25 PER $1000 MORE THAN THE AVERAGE OF 32 LEADING COMPANIES. A Purely Mutual Company. The Policy-holders are the only stockholders and get ALL the earnings through their dividends. Over $10,000,000 Insurance in OREGON alone. A much larger amount than any other company. Over $7,500,000 loaned in OREGON and Washington. AGED LADY LOST IN MILLS AT NIGHT

By losing herself in the hills north of Sam's valley Tuesday evening Mrs. M. J. Moon, a pioneer resident of that district, furnished a scare that kept the community in a high state of excitement for several hours, says the Gold Hill News.

Nearly the entire male population of the north end of the valley searched the hills with lanterns from early in the evening until about three o'clock in the morning, when Mrs. Moon was found at L. S. Shelley's, several miles from the place she wished to go.

In the afternoon Mrs. Moon, who is quite aged, left the home of her son, True Moon, on the Fleming (now Roenish) ranch, to walk to the home of Isaac Cox, a distance of three miles. Part of the way led over a trail from which she wandered and became lost. She reached the Shelley home about two o'clock, after walking many miles through rough country and was unharmed, except for sheer fatigue.

A Glorious Part. "At last," exclaimed the low comedian, "I have a part that suits just me."

"Good," said the first old lady. "You are the only actor I ever knew who was thoroughly satisfied with his part. What is it?"

"Oh—the part isn't much, as far as that goes, but I'm supposed to be a burglar, and I break into a pantry and eat a real meal at every performance."

He Worked On. Wife—George, this burning of the candle at both ends means an untimely grave. It is nearly 12 o'clock. Come to bed. George—But I'm doing this night work in order to find money enough to buy you a birthday present. Wife—Well, if you will persist in working of course I can't stop it. Good night, dear.

arguments with B. F. Mulkey and other normal school advocates who produced statistics showing that Bowerman's normal school figures were wrong and his charges of graft groundless. An energetic campaign is being made for the success of the normal school bill.

Bowerman Here.

Jay Bowerman, assembly nominee for governor, spent the greater part of Sunday in Medford in consultation with local politicians. He is a genial and pleasant personality and is a good campaigner. He visited Grants Pass Monday and speaks at Jacksonville Monday evening. He will spend Tuesday at Medford.

and here it is said will be found a motive for the attempted crime.

Mrs. Truitt on Thursday morning proceeded to build a fire in the stove preparatory to getting breakfast. She had stepped away from the stove some little distance when there was a fearful explosion, knocking down the pipe and wrecking the stove. She was unable to determine the cause. Her husband was absent, a fact which it is stated Mrs. Dorman knew. He unexpectedly returned that evening and Friday morning he proceeded to build a fire in the stove, turned to go out of the room and another loud discharge was heard. He rushed to the stove, snatched out the wood and threw it outside. Extinguishing the fire he proceeded to examine the wood and found one stick heavily charged with cartridges. Further investigation followed and Mrs. Truitt and her husband went before Justice Eggleston and secured a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Dorman.

mentous series. There was no other thought in the minds of Philadelphians, from Mayor Reuburn down to the gamins on the streets.

The feeling is general that this is the American league's year. Not since the Chicago White Sox surprised the baseball world by beating practically the same team of Cubs that will line up this afternoon, has an American league pennant flown from the prize banner.

As the present crop of Athletics is by far the best that ever represented by the younger organization and it is hard to see how the Cubs can be stronger than in their friskier years, and it is agreed that it is the former's time to come to the top.

With admittedly a stronger pitching staff and a better fielding and batting average for the season, Maek believes that the handicap of Chicago's team play, and the strength that comes of confidence, born of former victories, has been overcome. Plans Fierce Attack.

Maek counts on breaking up Chicago's team play by a slashing attack and as the Cub twirlers have not been getting on any too well of late, there really seems to be a bit of choice craftiness in his methods. But if Overall, Brown, Reubach, Pfeister and Cole are at their best, and there is Manager Chance's word for it that they are, this "slashing attack" is not likely to "slash" as very deep.

Coombs and Overall have been selected to oppose each other in the opening game. In the form displayed throughout the season, Coombs has all the better of it. He has been simply invincible all year, while Overall has been bumped so hard that at times he resembled an artichoke by the time he was derricked.

GRANDSTAND SEATS $50

Athletics are 25 per cent stronger than the Detroit Tigers of 1906. "The Athletics is the best team in the history of the American league. I wish we had Oldring in the lineup. His loss will be as hard to us as the loss of Evers is to the Cubs. "Neither team will be disgraced no matter what may become the outcome of the game."

Captain Chance of the Chicagoos on the way to the field said: "We are opposing a swell line of pitchers. The Cubs play best when so confronted. They've got nerve and I'll be surprised if we don't win the series. I will pitch Overall this afternoon if he warms up all right."
