Shipping From All Important Northwest Districts Is at Its Height-Oregon Newtowns Selling in English Markets at 12 to 15 Shillings.

The Northwestern Fruit Exchange in their latest market bulletin say: Apples—The markekt has eased off and is rather dull and featureless. Shipping from all important districts in the northwest is now about at its height, which increases the supply very materially and increases the competition for orders. and of course results in a tendency on the part of the trade to hold off and "bear" the market. We are holding firm on prices in the hard winter varieties, but the demand for Jonathans continues very singgish, although this variety is about done shipping. The demand for Spitzenbergs and similar high-priced varieties continues unsatisfactory, and we shall probably place a few cars in cold storage at the most advantageous distributing points and await a better market, which should follow when the packing and shipping season is over and the fruit has passed out of first hands. We particularly desire to hear from all of our clients with any instructions or suggestions relative to this feature. Export Situation.

Cable advices state that Oregon Newtowns ne selling in the English market from 11 to 13 shillings, with the markets strong and prospects encouraging. We are advising our clients to make regular shipments abroad. Our export arrangements are complete and of the very highest character. Our sales agents in London are one of the oldest established and most thoroughly responsible and reliable firms in the city, being connected with a famous firm whose headquarters are at Paris.

Our London agents are considered to have facilities ranking with the very best in London, and their stand in the Covent Garden market is directly in front of the main entrance in full view of all-comers who have to pass their place in going to the locations of other firms, 12 or 15 of whom may be selling at the same time. This advantage of location : a very important one. We recommend regular shipments for export of cars containing a good proportion of Newtowns, the balance good red
