IN MEDFORD'S SOCIAL REALM

The art exhibit to be given at the Natatorium under the auspices of the Greater Medford club will be open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and Wednesday evening. The exhibit consists of 200 reproductions of the world's masterpieces. Catalogues may be had and members of the club will be present to give any explanations desired. The exhibit is highly spoken of and is of great educational value. The admission asked is 10 cents and every one should take advantage of the opportunity to see the pictures.

Miss Lou Porter entertained with cards at her beautiful home on East Main Saturday evening. Her mother, Mrs. L. G. Porter, and Mrs. M. M. Child assisted in receiving. The decorations were most elaborate. In the reception and drawing room red carnations and ferns were used, and in the living room were pink and white roses.

For several hours the ladies played with much enthusiasm, after which refreshments were served, consisting of chicken patties, salad, olives, sandwiches, ice cream, cake, coffee. Mrs. Haskins won first prize, a beautiful brass candlestick, and Miss Manney the booby, a leather-bound book by Confucius.

Those present were: Mesdames Ed Van Dyke, Verne Van Dyke, Leon Haskins, Rothermel, Robert Telfer, Earl Gaddis, H. Platt, H. Howard, Cartwright, P. Taylor; Misses Patterson of Ashland, Lillian Patterson of Ashland, Helen Dahl, Mae Turner, Clara Manning, Sueddeor, Carotta Banks, Maude Nichols, J. Greenery, Fanny Haskins, Dor Berry, May Honek, Edna Edert.

Mr. J. J. Sturzeon with his wife and daughter, will depart today for the cities, and on Tuesday will shake the dust, or snow, as the case may be, from their feet and depart for the renowned apple sass regions of Oregon, their objective point being Ashland, though Medford is really the Mecca they are seeking—the hub of commerce and industry of which Ashland is its neighbor of eminent respectability and residential society. As Jack has disposed of his household efforts, we doubt not that he goes to Oregon with sincere visions of maple and pear orchards, ranches, etc., but the chances are that he will be trading for half beef on the coast or getting into the racing circuit within 48 hours of his arrival, while his good wife will make amends by ascertaining the status of the ladies' aid societies and missionary bodies of their new home. The family will leave a good many friends who will regret their departure, and wish them all sorts of good fortune in their new home—reserving a warm welcome should they finally decide to do the prodigal son stunt.—The News Messenger, Marshall, Minn.

The parlors and kitchen of the new Guild hall in St. Mark's block have been fitted and furnished by the members of the guild. Everything is most complete and thanks are due to Dr. C. R. Ray, who presented a completely equipped electric range, and Mr. H. E. Garnet, who gave a Toledo range. The Swastika dances will be held in the new hall in the same building, the first of which is to be Tuesday evening, November 22. The floor is excellent and everything is arranged most conveniently for social functions.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First M. E. church met in most pleasant and profitable session on Wednesday afternoon. Business and work combined kept all occupied, leading to the interest. The date for the coming sale was set for December 14. In addition to the features heretofore planned there will be a table of delicacies, where all kinds of good things to eat, such as cakes, bread, cold meats, canned fruit, pickles, jellies, etc., can be obtained. Three more new members were added to the roll. The committee on constitution and by-laws, not having completed their business, will report at the next session. After a season of devotion, led by the vice-president, Mrs. Corbin, all scattered to their homes to meet again for work November 16. These meetings are anticipated with much pleasure and are seasons of great benefit to all who attend. It is hoped all the ladies of the church will take part in the work and make our society a factor for great good in the church.

In honor of her nieces, the Misses Rose and Lillian Potter, and Katherine Shook of Ashland, Mrs. T. B. Kinsman entertained at the home of her son, Dr. Helts, last week. Mrs. Platt and Miss Sears having the same score, cut for first prize, which Mrs. Platt won, a handsome hand-made towel. Mrs. Burnett won the consolation prize, a traveling sponge-bag, and Mrs. Will Warner in the cut for all won a handsome sewing bag.

Miss Loraine Bilton entertained delightfully at her home on West Main street Tuesday evening. Her guests were Misses Lue Flynn, Agnes Isaacs and Mildred Gerig; Messrs. Sam Glasgow, Norman Merrill and Cole Holmes. Delightful refreshments were served and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Theatergoers will be pleased to learn that Mrs. Figman will appear in Medford in "Mary Jane's Pa." on Thanksgiving night. The company is the same as last year, when Mr. Figman was here, and "Mary Jane's Pa." is one of the best shows on the road.

The Christmas bazaar given by the young people of the Presbyterian church on December 3 will be a great success. All the young people are taking a great interest in it and a great amount of work is being done. Mrs. Shields and Mrs. Miller are in charge of the fair.

The Guild of St. Mark's church met in the Guild hall of St. Mark's block Thursday afternoon. Mesdames Purdin, Barneburg and Schermerhorn acted as hostesses. The Guild will meet next Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. William Colvig was hostess at a dinner last week, given in honor of her son Donald's birthday. Chrysanthemums were used for decorations. The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Gale, Mr. and Mrs. Will Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reames and Miss Star Marshall.

Mrs. Lucinda Anderson and children of Berkeley, Cal., returned last week to their home. Mrs. Anderson's children have been quite ill for several weeks at the home of Mrs. Clarence Reames. Mrs. Reames accompanied them on their trip as far south as Ashland.

The faculty of the Medford Conservatory of Music gave a most enjoyable concert in Jacksonville last week, under the direction of Miss Blackford of Jacksonville, who is pupil of Mrs. Ed Andrews.

A party of men left Friday for Klamath Falls, where they will spend a week hunting. Those in the party are John Tomlin, Edgar Hafer, Jeff Heard, Howard Dudley, Boynton, Newhall and Morse of Portland.
