

CHINESE AND JAPS AT OUTS

Indications of Hard Feeling in Manchuria Between Two Oriental Races Are Numerous—Trouble Is Certain to Break Out Soon.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 18.—Friction between Japanese and Chinese in Manchuria continues to increase, according to mail advices just received here from the Orient.

Recently several Japanese were injured by a party of 30 Chinese police at Chin Tao on the Korean border. The Japanese were carousing at an inn when the police opened fire upon them.

Another instance indicative of the Chinese temper toward the Japanese took place at Toankou, where a Japanese postman was overpowered and his mails taken from him.

According to the Japan consul-general at Mukden, the Chinese viceroy has refused to answer his letters protesting against the Chinese attitude toward the Japanese.

MADAM LANGENDORFF PLEASES AUDIENCE

The first entertainment of this season's lecture course was given last evening at the Auditorium. Madam Langendorff was the attraction. She was ably assisted by Mr. Callow, violinist, and Mr. Kurt Wanick, pianist.

Madam Langendorff is a lady of splendid physique and voice to match. She has quality, temperament and breadth of tone that are rarely possessed by a single artist. She is well in the class with Selmann-Helck. In her aria from "Samson and Delilah" she showed dramatic power and finish that made one wish to hear this great artist in grand opera.

Several songs were by Schubert and she interprets this great song writer as only the German singers can do.

Mr. Callow, as a violinist, is somewhat difficult to analyze. His technique is almost perfection and his tone all that could be wished, but Mr. Callow is yet a young man and he has not that breadth of conception that experience gives.

Kurt Wanick was an agreeable surprise to his audience. We are inclined to take pianists with a grain of salt until they have proven themselves genuine. Mr. Wanick is really a great pianist. Take the entertainment as a whole, it was thoroughly high class and educational.

The Natorium company is to be congratulated in this the opening number of their lecture course. Many good things are to follow and with the excellent auditorium for entertainments of this class, Medford may well feel grateful to the gentlemen who have given our community such good, wholesome entertainment as the Natorium company is giving.

GRIM REAPER DOES NOT STOP MEET

Aviator Johnstone Killed, But Great Aviation Demonstration Continues—Bosom Chum of Dead Man Appears Early and Flies.

DENVER, Nov. 18.—In spite of the death of Ralph Johnstone, which abruptly ended yesterday's performance at the Overland aviation field, the meet went on today. Arch Hoxey, bosom friend of the dead aviator, was at his hangar bright and early, and with his aeroplane, a duo of that in which Johnstone was killed, sprang into the air shortly after the opening signal was given.

Hoxey was deeply affected by the death of Johnstone, but he declared he had become inured to such things through long flirting with a similar fate himself.

"It's like a football game or an automobile race," he said. "You go on the field with your friends, and the next thing you know one of them is carried off. But the game does not stop except for a few moments. We fellows must not allow such things to prey on our minds or we would lose our nerve and would either have to stop flying or be killed ourselves."

A few minutes after Hoxey ascended, Johnstone's body, accompanied by Walter Brookins, was put on a train for Kansas City, the home of his mother.

J. C. Mara, with his Curtiss machine, arrived here this morning to substitute for Johnstone and Brookins. Despite the general feeling of depression caused by the tragic death of Johnstone, a big crowd was present at Overland park, where the meet is being held, when today's performance began.

Steamer Disabled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 18.—Information was received by wireless at the Merchants' exchange today that the steamer Chelalis, Captain Kettleman, carrying passengers from San Francisco for Los Angeles, was helpless with disabled machinery ten miles south of Point Conception. The accident happened shortly after 2 o'clock this morning and her call for aid was picked up by the steamer Cullis.

When last reported the Cullis was steaming toward the Chelalis and that vessel may be picked up and towed to her destination in the south.

ELKS WILL CARRY CHECK TO MEETING

PORTLAND, Nov. 18.—If the grand lodge of the Elks, in annual session next July at Atlantic City, N. J., shall select Portland as the place of the annual reunion in July, 1912, it is the intention of the Portland lodge to spend $125,000 for the entertainment of delegates. As an evidence of the appreciation which Portland would feel if the honor should be bestowed on this city, it is planned to carry a certified check for that amount to the Atlantic City convention.

The plan was discussed in a general manner last night at a meeting of the Elks' 1912 convention committee, recently appointed by Exalted Ruler W. R. Apperson. The committee decided to ask the local lodge to hand the list of subscriptions with $25,000. The decision of the committee will be laid before the lodge at the regular meeting tonight. A subcommittee appointed to call on the public bodies of the city is composed of E. W. Rowe, R. E. Moore, Edward Ehrman, William McMurray and C. W. Cornelius.

HUNTERS TROPHY REACHES CITY

W. W. Humphrey in Receipt of Mounted Head of Caribou He Killed in British Columbia Last Year—Is Handsome One.

W. W. Humphrey, the gun store man, received Thursday, the big caribou head he killed in British Columbia last year. The head is handsomely mounted and is almost a perfect specimen of that peculiar member of the deer tribe. The Woodland caribou is unlike any other of its species. He ranges in the deep snow and the deeper the snow the higher up the mountain he goes.

The big buller weigh from 700 to 900 pounds and are white in color on the shoulders, brown on the back, shading lighter underneath.

If you want a caribou head, however, you must be prepared to pay for it at about a dollar a pound for the weight of the animal. First you have a journey of nearly 2000 miles, the latter part of it by stage and canoe, then the Canadian government charges you $100 for a hunting license. After you climb through brush and sleep in snow for a week you get your head and undertake to bring it out. If you are lucky and the canoe doesn't upset and lose the whole outfit, you finally reach the outskirts of civilization and commence paying freight on that 100 or more pounds of bone and antlers.

Then when you get back the taxidermist has his innings, and what he holds you up for is only limited by his idea of your financial status.

The caribou head is a beautiful ornament for a den, but somewhat expensive.
