FIRST EXHIBIT OF ART.

coal, pencil watercolor, pen and ink. The work of the primary grades is particularly interesting and contains cutting, weaving and folding work. Another exhibit will be given in the spring, when the mechanical department will also be represented. All the teachers of the public schools have been most interested in the exhibit and it has been so arranged that at least one picture has been thoroughly explained to each class. Great credit is due to the children who have been selling tickets for the last two weeks. The two schools selling the greatest number of tickets will each receive a picture. The Washington school has sold the greatest number and the North school takes second place.

Over $105 has been taken in, and all of that amount over the actual expenses is to be spent for pictures, which will be given to the new library and the different schools. A committee has been appointed from the Greater Medford club, and the teachers to select the pictures which are to be purchased. The services of the boys in the manual training department have been offered to frame the pictures. The exhibit will be open this afternoon and this evening, when the high school orchestra will play, and all day tomorrow, so that every one will have ample time to see the pictures. Medford is truly getting metropolitan and this will be but the first of many exhibits. It is through the efforts of the Greater Medford club that the exhibit was brought to Medford, and different committees have been appointed from its members to take charge of the several exhibits.
