

3,927,503 ACRES GOOD
LAND OPEN TO ENTRY

LAKEVIEW, Or., Nov. 19.—The Lakeview government land office reports that there are 3,927,503 acres of land in this district which are unappropriated and open to entry under the various land acts. The district comprises Klamath county, Lake county and a portion of the southern part of Crook county. Of this amount Lake county leads with 2,604,000 acres available to entry. Much of this land is suitable for agriculture, as some of the valleys in the county are practically open to settlement, there being comparatively few ponds there considering the large areas to be settled. All the land in the county is worth something, for even the land that is not suitable for agriculture will be available for grazing purposes and will assist in keeping this the greatest county in the state for livestock, for which it has been noted.

Thought Death Easier.

CADILLAC, Mich., Nov. 19.—Unable to make a choice between two lovers, Lulu Taylor, aged 17, an accomplished pretty, locked herself in a room and took poison. The doctor says she cannot live. After many quarrels the young men agreed to adjust their differences by asking the girl to choose between them. She had promised an answer that night.
