DEMOCRATS WILL CONFER JAN. 9

Call Is Issued for Important Conference of Democrats in Washington to Outline Their Plans for the Coming Session.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—A meeting of the democratic conference to pave the way for the campaign of 1912 will be held in Washington on January 9, a call having been issued for a meeting of representative democrats in the Raleigh hotel under the auspices of the national democratic league of clubs.

The call was issued by President William C. Liller of Indianapolis. The league corresponds to the league of republican clubs which John Hays Hammond revived in the interest of President Taft.

On the executive board of the league are Woodrow Wilson, New Jersey; Governor Thomas S. Marshall, Indiana; Governor Judson Harmon, Ohio; Hoke Smith, Georgia; Governor Shaffroth, Colorado; Austin L. Crothers, Maryland; John Burke, Idaho; Governor Shallenberger, Nebraska; John W. Kern, Indiana; David R. Francis and Joseph Folk, Missouri; J. E. McEnerney, Kentucky; A. F. Spriggs, Montana; J. H. Higgins, Rhode Island; John Finch, Mississippi; Senator, Nevada; Senator Chamberlain, Oregon; Representatives Sulzer, New York; Robert S. Hudspeth, New Jersey; J. Ham Lewis, Illinois, and John J. Lewis, Ohio.

HUNTING PARTY RETURNS EXHAUSTED

On telephonic information from Griffin creek Saturday afternoon that a huge black bear was surrounded in a brush patch, J. W. Keyes, H. W. Jackson and M. F. McGowan, accompanied by several bear dogs, hit the trail for the scene. Sunday evening they returned, mud-bespattered and tired, and decidedly uncommunicative except in profane references to the man who sent in the message and put them on a bear track two days old. The dogs took the trail all right, but ruin was probably on the other side of the coast range by that time.

"I didn't make a track for the last five miles of the tramp," said McGowan. "It's never again again for me."

"So say we all of us," the others of the party chorused.

DISCIPLE OF MARCONI AT U. OF O. MAKES TROUBLE

EUGENE, Or., Nov. 21.—A complication in the telephone connection with Springfield, Or., has revealed the fact that there is a fair disciple of Marconi at the University of Oregon this year in the person of Miss Fannie Gregory of Astoria.

Miss Gregory has installed a wireless telegraphy plant in her rooms at the Chi Omega house and has exercised her skill by sending messages to her friends in outlying districts.

But it seems that her transmissions have in some way confused the patrons of the telephone service at Springfield and a hurried investigation resulted in the discovery of the wireless plant and a rapid adjustment of the difficulty.

Fight Over Salary.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 21.—The attorney-general of the United States will be asked by George H. Baker, United States marshal, to decide whether or not the local government official must pay for messengers or stenographic service for a dead man.

The contention of O. H. Sundby and Mrs. Ellen D. Alvis, respectively messenger and stenographer for the late Judge Edward Whitson, is that until discharged by the government Uncle Sam must pay them for their services. Marshal Baker holds that upon the death of Judge Whitson Sundby and Mrs. Alvis' service with the government terminated, and that he will not pay either for services since that time.

Umpire Van Haultren Retires.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 21.—It was announced today that Umpire Van Haultren of the Coast league would not be a member of the umpire staff next season. While the dropping of the veteran was no surprise in itself, the fans thought they saw an indication that Judge Graham would again be elected president of the league in January. It is recalled that Judge Graham said a month ago that he would make no choice of umpires until he had been assured of his re-election.
