

HUNDREDS OF MEXICANS AWAIT SIGNAL TO LEAVE FOR MEXICO

Over 5000 Men Ready to Be Mustered in From Coast States Alone—Word Will Be Given Through the Newspapers.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 23.—Hundreds of Mexicans and Americans throughout the United States, and particularly on the Pacific coast, wait today a signal from the Mexican revolutionary headquarters in St. Louis to proceed to Mexico and join with the insurgents against President Diaz.

Lieutenant Manuel Salsedo and Lieutenant Manuel Gonzales, who have been in charge of the recruiting for the revolutionary army on the Pacific coast, said today that 5000 men would be mustered in from the coast states alone.

The officers arrived here from Portland, Or., having worked their way down the coast enrolling recruits, Mexicans and Americans, for the rebel army. Their work, they say, is about completed, and the men enlisted await word, in the form of a general advertisement in the newspapers of the country, to proceed southward.

Salsedo and Gonzales addressed large gatherings of railroad laborers in the Mexican quarter here and afterward passed around a scroll, pledging each of the signers to start for the boundary when the signal is given.

Salsedo and Gonzales are graduates of the Nacional school of jurisprudence in Mexico City. Both have been exiled since 1904, and ever since then, they admitted today they have been connected with the United States junta, or governing body, of the revolutionists, which they said has headquarters in St. Louis at No. 1821 South Eighteenth street. They are going about their work wearing the ordinary attire of the Mexican laborer, but appear to be plentifully supplied with money. They said they began their work at Portland two months ago and will have finished with their district as soon as they have reached San Diego.

According to the speech delivered at the Mexican gathering last night the three revolutionists, Magon, Villarreal and Rivera, are now on the border between El Paso and Eagle Pass, acting as lieutenants of the rebel leader, Madero.

Salsedo declared that General Bernardino Reyes, the exiled leader, who is supposed to be in Europe, but who in reality is said to be secret in directing the movements of the rebels, has been in the United States for more than six months. All of this time, he said, Reyes and Madero were engaged in perfecting the plans for the present outbreak.

According to the two recruiting officers, Cananea has been selected as the first capital of the provisional government. Owing to its isolation the rebels believe that once captured it will be easy to hold, and a railroad running into the United States will give them ample means of receiving supplies and munitions of war.

Circuit Court.

The decision in the Daley vs. Daley divorce suit has been postponed until the evidence taken is extended and the court has had opportunity to examine it. The principal question in the case is the custody of the minor children. From the complaint and cross-complaint one would judge that either party was entitled to a divorce.

Tuesday morning Judge Callina heard a number of cases in chambers, decisions upon which will be handed down at a later date.

GREAT PROGRESS ON RAILROAD

Southern Pacific Rushes Work on Line North of Klamath Falls—Will Reach Sprague River in the Near Future.

KLAMATH FALLS, Nov. 23.—Rapid progress is being made on the Southern Pacific road which is being built north of this city. The rails are now laid for a distance of twelve miles north of town and Martin Dillon, who has charge of that work for Erickson & Petterson, is laying the rails at the rate of a mile a day.

It is expected that the track will be laid to within half a mile of Sprague river by December 10. There is considerable steam shovel work to be done in the half mile south of Sprague river, but it is expected that the rails will be laid to the river by January 1, when the new steel bridge will be erected, the abutments for which are already in. Then the track will be laid within a mile of the headquarters of the new contract.

When Sprague river is reached the track will have been laid thirty miles from this city.

A gravel pit large enough to supply all the ballast necessary for this section of the road has been found on Ben Wright's property south of Sprague river, which will be utilized for that purpose when necessary.

COURTHOUSE NEWS.

Probate Court.

Estate of Sarah J. Merley—Will admitted to probate; J. W. Lasher appointed executor.

Estate of Thomas E. Young—Frl. 30, December 30, set as day of final settlement.

Estate of Julian A. Julien—December 30 set as day of final settlement.

Estate of Neil Henry—Citation to heirs issued.

Estate Sylvester Scudder—December 30 set as day of final settlement.

Estate of Ella Carney—Final account approved.

Estate of Rufus Geer—Arthur S. Wells appointed administrator; John Day, F. M. Wilson, D. L. Day, appraisers.

Estate and guardianship of Agnes, Grace and Carl Brier—Carl Brier appointed guardian.

Estate and guardianship of Anna Stephens, insane—Order appointing J. M. Stephens guardian.

Matter of adoption of Douglas I. Melquist—Petition of Charles R. and Isis C. Cavendish allowed.

Marriage Licenses.

G. J. Shafter and Rachel Mildred Marsik.

J. B. Walker and Esther Jane Lamb.

Clair C. Downing and Mabel B. Rifner.

Albert Edward Brown and Winnie Bradlock.

Robert P. Morley and Hazel Smith.

It would be no better business policy for you to try to find a tenant for a furnished room, without advertising, than for a department store to try to do business without advertising.

Haskins for health.

THE FIRST CALL FROM Santa Claus

Friday, November 25, in Our Doll Department

Friday we will put on sale our new and complete line of Dolls for Christmas shoppers. The largest, finest and most complete line of Dolls ever shown in Medford.

Send The Children In

Kid Body Dolls, China Dolls, Bisque Dolls, Rag Dolls. Felt Dolls, Zylonite Dolls, Dressed Dolls. In fact Dolls of all kinds and qualities from 1c Each to $10

Xmas Post Cards

We will put on sale Friday one of the finest lines of Christmas Post Cards ever seen in Medford, and the price

1ct Each

now, these will not last until Xmas—better buy what you want early

For 1911

The swellest line of Calendars ever shown in Medford. Each Calendar packed in a neat box ready to mail. One of the neatest and most appropriate Xmas or New Year gifts one can make. Prices

10c, 15c 25c up to 75c

Remember the Day, Friday, Nov. 25

HUSSEY'S

TO CONTINUE FIGHT ON LIQUOR

COUNTY ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE ISSUES AN ADDRESS.

Declares Aggressive Action Will Continue and Prophesies Ultimate Victory of Temperance Cause.

To the Anti-Saloon People and Friends of Temperance in Jackson County:

The Election

The election is over. We all did our best. We had the great opportunity to agitate and educate on the evil of the liquor traffic.

The liquor question was the most important and the most discussed issue in this election, and the minds of the people cannot be turned to a careful consideration of this question without good results.

The tide of sentiment against the saloon still rises. On November 8 in our neighboring state of Washington 150 saloons were voted out of existence, nine towns going dry in that state. In Oregon, Lake and Coos counties voted dry for the first time. Jackson County

Jackson county still maintains her stand on the right side of this question. By a majority vote of 258 the people of this county say, "We are tired of the saloon and want it prohibited."

By a majority vote of 114 they say, "We want our will enforced by a law that will make prohibition real." And by a majority vote of 416 the people say, "We don't want 'Home Rule' or the giving of the exclusive power over the liquor traffic to the towns." The people of Jackson county won every point against the saloon.

The will of the people, however, does not prevail in this county; for the saloon tramples the will of the people beneath its sudden heel.

Thife Saloon's Request

The saloon asked the people of this state for another chance, with the promise to clean up and to be decent. From friend and foe now comes the word to the saloon, "You must clean up and prove your value to society or be driven out by rising tide of public sentiment which is against you."

Our Position

The saloon cannot make good. Already the brewers, distillers and saloon talk of throwing Portland with open. Created by their seeming victory they will continue their illicit business with more boldness, cruelty and rottenness than ever before. The people will learn once more the bitter lesson that promises made to win a campaign are quickly forgotten when the fight is over. Optimistic and determined, we continue the campaign of education.

In the end we cannot be defeated. We hold the secret of success, in that we have the children in our homes, we have them in our schools and we have them in our churches. Those who direct the thought and mold the character of the young will rule the world. It takes a long time to fight out a great issue. The battle line will sway to and fro. Bull Run was a great disaster to the cause of union and freedom, but the end was at Appomattox. So it will be with the liquor traffic. This is no fanatical, spasmodic movement. Ours is the position of the broad-minded, aggressive and progressive citizen. We know that the saloon is a curse and must go. The fight, therefore, for home, for school and native land must go on. Our work has but commenced. Stand true. Write upon your banner, "Oregon

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 23.—Chas. Huiden, aged 82, has committed suicide by hanging at Lowland. He had carved out his grave in solid rock and made all necessary arrangements with an undertaker to furnish him with a coffin.

The old man procured a piece of rope and mounting a box fastened the rope to a beam, kicked the box from under him and strangled to death.

"dry in 1912." and let's continue our campaign, aggressive, fair, honest, educational, political and practical fight is might and will ultimately prevail. We must overcome the inertia of ages, the prejudice of multitudes, the force of depraved appetites and the tremendous power of a criminal traffic that has millions back of it.

W. W. MAC HENRY, President.
W. F. SHIELDS, Secretary.
J. W. SHIRLEY, Treasurer.
Anti-Saloon League of Jackson county.

CRIPPEN IN HANGED.

Of all the condemned men they have ever had in charge, Dr. Crippen was the most remarkable, according to the attendants at Pentonville prison. The stoicism he displayed was almost unbelievable; yet it was certain that he fully realized his position. This was revealed by purely physical signs on two occasions. Following his sentence at Old Bailey he had a short fainting spell, and again after dismissing his appeal he was near collapse for an hour, or two. In these attacks, however, his mental courage was as firm as ever and after stimulants had aided him in casting off the physical shrinking from death, he resumed his usual iron composure.

Warden posted on the notice board of the prison gate the official document ordering the hanging, the sheriff's certificate that it had taken place and the physician's certificate of death.

Was Stoical
Of all the condemned men they have ever had in charge, Dr. Crippen was the most remarkable, according to the attendants at Pentonville prison. The stoicism he displayed was almost unbelievable; yet it was certain that he fully realized his position. This was revealed by purely physical signs on two occasions. Following his sentence at Old Bailey he had a short fainting spell, and again after dismissing his appeal he was near collapse for an hour, or two. In these attacks, however, his mental courage was as firm as ever and after stimulants had aided him in casting off the physical shrinking from death, he resumed his usual iron composure.

Was Treated Well
He was extended every consideration by the jail authorities. His prison fare was the best, and extreme care was taken of him by the medical authorities. Once when he had a slight cold he was treated by Dr. Wilson constantly.

Wishing All A Glad Thanksgiving

Allen Grocery Co.

OPEN UNTIL 10 A. M. TOMORROW MAIN AND CENTRAL.

MEDFORD THEATRE

Thursday, November 24

JOHN CORT Presents

Max Figman

IN HIS GREATEST SUCCESS
The Delightful Comedy Drama by Edith Ellis

Mary Jane's Pa

Same Great Company Same Great Production
As Seen Here Last Season.

The Play That All America Wants to See.

IT MEANS HAPPINESS.

Seats on sale Monday, November 21.

ASHLAND Commercial College

Ashland, Oregon Swedenburg Block

This is the school that will make you Successful, Train you for Business and Help you to a Position.

BOOKKEEPING, SHORTHAND AND ENGLISH

Secure your Business Education at home at a very moderate expense and, if you wish, we will secure you a position in any of the large commercial centers.

NO BETTER SCHOOL ANYWHERE AT ANY PRICE

ENTER AT ANY TIME

P. RITNER, A. M., President.

Every precaution was taken against Crippen harming himself, but the prisoner never showed any inclination to take his own life. Twice daily Crippen was marched to the exercise yard and frequently he was permitted interviews with his solicitors and with Miss Leneve. No one was permitted to see him last night to question him regarding the alleged confession published in the Evening Times.

Flees From Home
The gresome task finally overcame the iron nerve of the doctor and he became fearful of attracting the notice of his neighbors. Besides the increasing odor of the decomposing flesh filled him with horror and one night he fled from the house, leaving it wide open with its hideous secret exposed. In his flight he threw the bloody scalpel into an adjoining yard of a vacant house. After wandering about London for hours, his son returned and he went back to his house.

That Confession
The Times this afternoon repeated the putative confession and published an ostensible statement in the third person, alleged to have been made by Crippen. The paper says that Crippen confessed to friend before he was executed. The story relates the unhappiness of the doctor's life and his wife's alleged unfaithfulness, her "tantrums, slatternliness, drunkenness and jealousy." These causes, it says, brought about Crippen's determination to kill his wife. Deliberately and cold blooded," says the Times.

Body in Bedroom
The body remained in a bedroom of the Crippen house at 28 Hilldrop Crescent, Islington, North London, until the evening of February 2. Then Crippen began the ghastly task of disposing of the remains without arousing suspicion.

He carefully dissected the corpse, cutting the arms and legs into small pieces and burning them in the kitchen stove. While he was engaged in the work an ashman called at the house and Crippen narrowly escaped detection.

Flees From Home
The gresome task finally overcame the iron nerve of the doctor and he became fearful of attracting the notice of his neighbors. Besides the increasing odor of the decomposing flesh filled him with horror and one night he fled from the house, leaving it wide open with its hideous secret exposed. In his flight he threw the bloody scalpel into an adjoining yard of a vacant house. After wandering about London for hours, his son returned and he went back to his house.

That Confession
The Times this afternoon repeated the putative confession and published an ostensible statement in the third person, alleged to have been made by Crippen. The paper says that Crippen confessed to friend before he was executed. The story relates the unhappiness of the doctor's life and his wife's alleged unfaithfulness, her "tantrums, slatternliness, drunkenness and jealousy." These causes, it says, brought about Crippen's determination to kill his wife. Deliberately and cold blooded," says the Times.

Body in Bedroom
The body remained in a bedroom of the Crippen house at 28 Hilldrop Crescent, Islington, North London, until the evening of February 2. Then Crippen began the ghastly task of disposing of the remains without arousing suspicion.

He carefully dissected the corpse, cutting the arms and legs into small pieces and burning them in the kitchen stove. While he was engaged in the work an ashman called at the house and Crippen narrowly escaped detection.

Flees From Home
The gresome task finally overcame the iron nerve of the doctor and he became fearful of attracting the notice of his neighbors. Besides the increasing odor of the decomposing flesh filled him with horror and one night he fled from the house, leaving it wide open with its hideous secret exposed. In his flight he threw the bloody scalpel into an adjoining yard of a vacant house. After wandering about London for hours, his son returned and he went back to his house.

That Confession
The Times this afternoon repeated the putative confession and published an ostensible statement in the third person, alleged to have been made by Crippen. The paper says that Crippen confessed to friend before he was executed. The story relates the unhappiness of the doctor's life and his wife's alleged unfaithfulness, her "tantrums, slatternliness, drunkenness and jealousy." These causes, it says, brought about Crippen's determination to kill his wife. Deliberately and cold blooded," says the Times.

Body in Bedroom
The body remained in a bedroom of the Crippen house at 28 Hilldrop Crescent, Islington, North London, until the evening of February 2. Then Crippen began the ghastly task of disposing of the remains without arousing suspicion.

He carefully dissected the corpse, cutting the arms and legs into small

Nursery Stock

Let us Quote You Prices on All Kinds of Trees and Shrubs

L. B. WARNER Jr.
At Warner, Wortman & Gore
Grocery Medford