OLD FACES UP IN POLICE COURT

Judge Canon Recognizes Old Offenders and After Reading Them the Riot Act Gives Them Another Chance to Hit the Ties.

"Seems to me I have seen you somewhere before," said Judge Canon, as he sized up the bunch the police had dragged in Friday night. "Yes, you are the chap who had a crippled hand and was sending money to your poor old mother by selling novelties," was the way Frank Stevenson was greeted.

Frank Johnson had also been before the mayor on a previous occasion, to wit, Friday. At that time he was a waiter. So was Thomas Manning. Thomas, as his last name would imply, has more or less of the blood of the land of the shillalah in his veins and the shamrock in his makeup and he put up a fight entirely out of proportion to his size. "I allowed you fellows to go yesterday, on the promise that you would leave town," continued the mayor, "and I am going to give you one more chance to get out of town, but I am going to insure your taking advantage of the opportunity by detaining a couple of policemen to see that you do so."

All three of the men had been arraigned before Judge Canon Friday morning and were allowed to go on promise to leave the city. Friday afternoon they were again picked up by the police.

CHANGE TIME OF TRAIN ON P. & E.

Afternoon Train Will Leave Hereafter at 3:45 o'Clock—After January 1, 1911, Tickets Will Be Sold in Depot, East Side Bear Creek.

A change in the time of the afternoon train on the Pacific & Eastern will go into effect Monday. The afternoon train after today will leave Medford for Eagle Point at 3:45 o'clock instead of 5:09. There will be no change in the morning train.

The offices of the Pacific & Eastern have been moved across the creek to the new depot. However, tickets will not be sold there until after January 1, 1911. Trains will continue to leave from the Southern Pacific depot.

Its fruits are blurring of the distant vision, pain and soreness of the eyeballs, sore, weak and inflamed lids.

Its reflex irritations are many. It causes stomach trouble, headache, female weakness, hysteria, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy and many of the chronic diseases that the medical doctor has failed to cure because he has not been able to locate the cause—eye strain.

STRATEGY WINS TURKEY DINNER FOR MAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—When A. O. Tate found out that he could not possibly get back to his farm near Walpole, N. H., for Thanksgiving dinner he was dismayed, but not discouraged.

A fat young turkey which Mr. Tate had intended should grace his Thanksgiving dinner table has been the especial care of his head poultryman for many weeks, and Mr.

Tate hated to miss that succulent bird. Therefore he had an inspiration.

My prices are reasonable. Your eyesight is priceless. Dr. Rickert, over Kentner's.
