

TRIPLE ALLIANCE--ENGLAND'S OLD BUGABOO--INCREASED BY ONE

Turkey Added and Current Report is That the Quartet Will Throw Its Weight Against Partitioning of Persia and Russia's Post Grab.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—English statesmen believe that the triple alliance—Germany, Austria and Italy—that old enemy of Great Britain, has become a quadruple alliance by the addition of Turkey, and although foreign offices officials refuse officially to confirm the report, it is current opinion today that the "quartet" will throw its weight against the partitioning of Persia, and the consummation of Russia's plan for a port on the Indian ocean.

Turkey is regarded as a catspaw of the alliance which is hostile to British interests in Africa and Asia. The Austro-German combination has guaranteed the security of Turkey on the Russian and Bulgarian borders in return for a promise by the Ottoman empire to permit nothing injurious to German or Austrian interests, and it is conceded that partitioning of Persia would be of benefit to Russia and England and therefore adverse to the welfare of the kaiser and the Austrian emperor.

Turkey's first move was to confront England's marines with Turkish troops on the Arabian-Persian border when England sought to prevent the landing of arms in Persia for use against English troops sent to "preserve order." Her second move is now under way—the increase of efficiency of the Turkish army through the exploitation of Austrian gold.

EAGLET POINT EAGLETS

Mrs. C. W. Day of Pacific Grove, a niece of Mrs. Howland's, came in on No. 16 to Medford on the evening of the 23d and was met there by her aunt and cousin, Mrs. C. E. Hoyt, and came out in a rig in spite of the rain and darkness that night. Mrs. Day is an Oregon raised girl, but moved to Pacific Grove a few years ago and has come back to her native land to see how it appears to be on her native soil again. She seems to like southern Oregon better than the Willamette valley, where she was raised, although she has come in one of the unprecedented storms in this country. When was it ever known to snow, and especially four inches deep, in Rogue River valley as early as the 24th day of November? I have been living in this immediate neighborhood for 44 years and don't remember of ever seeing snow in the valley earlier than the 3d of December. But this is an off year in many respects—a long, dry summer, a late fall and snow on Thanksgiving day. But I still say that the climate in southern Oregon is hard to beat.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clark of Medford came out last Thursday and were met here by Thomas Riley, Jr., and taken to the hospitable residence of Thomas Riley, Sr. Mr. Clark is a partner in a tract of land that he and Thomas R. bought of Thomas R. Jr. Mr. C. is one of the real admirers of southern Oregon. He expects to help to furnish the world with fine Rogue River fruit in the future.

Mrs. Henry Myers of Lake Creek and a friend of hers, Miss Martha Kockerscheidt, from Nebraska, were pleasant callers last Friday. Mrs. Kockerscheidt is here combining business with pleasure, the guest of Mrs. Henry Myers.

PIONEER WOMAN DIES IN ASHLAND

Mrs. Jacob Thompson, Who Came to Rogue River Valley in 1853. Passes—Owned Land Claim Near Heart of This City.

Mrs. Jacob Thompson, Oregon pioneer, aged 84 years, died in Ashland Saturday. Her husband, who survives her, is a few months her senior. Mrs. Thompson, whose maiden name was America E. Rollins, was born in Bourbon county, Kentucky, in June, 1826. When 7 years old, with her parents she moved to Morgan county, Illinois, and later to Clark county, Missouri, near the mouth of the Des Moines river. Her mother died in 1847 and soon after her father removed to Adams county, Illinois. She attended the high school at Farmington, Ia., and later taught school.

Miss Rollins was married to A. J. Butler at Locust Grove, Ill., on January 1, 1850. On May 19, 1852, they started for the Pacific coast, crossing the plains to Yreka, Cal., where they arrived September 19, 1852. At Bloody Point, near Tule lake, Klamath county, Oregon, they saw eight emigrant wagons that had been run off the grade into the lake by the Indians after the occupants had been massacred.

They remained at Yreka until January 8, 1853, when they started for the Rogue River valley, riding horseback through the deep snows on the shalyous and locating on the land known as the Butler donation land claim near the present location of Medford. Mr. Butler died in January, 1859. In October, 1863, Mrs. Butler was married to Jacob Thompson. They moved to Klamath county in 1876 and four years later came to Ashland, where they have continued to reside. An only child, Gwin S. Butler, one of the first white children born in Jackson county, also survives Mrs. Thompson and lives in this city. One sister, Mrs. Josephine Ort of Santa Rosa, Cal., also survives. Josephine county, in this state, was named for her.

The funeral, held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, was largely attended.

A PRODUCT OF THE SOUTH.

Cotton has always been one of the main resources of the South. In former days, only the cotton lint was preserved; the seed was thrown away as worthless. In recent years, however, this once waste product has been developed until now cotton oil adds millions yearly to the wealth of the South. Foremost in perfecting methods of refining the oil have been The N. K. Fairbank Company. In the manufacture of Cottolene they have changed cotton oil into a cooking fat as wholesome as olive oil, yet so pure and neutral that it is preferable to butter in making fine cake and pastry.

The "store news" in this issue would make it a valuable newspaper, even if it contained no other news.
