

KLAMATH WANTS POWER DRILLS NEW FISH LAWS FOR LOCAL MINE

Will Ask for Special Legislation—
Thousands of Salmon Enter the
Klamath River, But Refuse to Bite
Hook—Grabhook Is Needed.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Dec. 10.—George H. Merriam, legislator from this district, says he does not believe it possible to secure any special fishing laws from the legislature for the county of Klamath, although some of the existing laws might be amended, he says. He says a strong sentiment developed at the last session of the legislature to cut the fishing season all over the state down to a much narrower margin, and if the same feeling prevails at this session he believes the state laws governing the open and closed season for fish will be chopped down until fishing will only be allowed in any waters of the state in the future during a few months in the summer season.

The senator says that owing to the fact that the Klamath delegation is so much stronger in numbers than the more isolated portions of the state, the laws to a large extent are formed and dominated by them. "The sentiment there, as well as in many other places in the state, seemed to be strongly at the last term in favor of making a fish protective law that will give a shorter fishing season, and as those law makers have the idea that laws that are suited to their part of the state are suited to Klamath, I am much afraid the local people will be disappointed in their desire to get any special laws passed for their special benefit," said the senator.

The Klamath County Rod and Gun club desires a special provision lifting the protection from salmon to permit Klamath people to get at least some benefit from the local salmon runs here during the fall and winter months. Now no one is allowed to fish other than with a hook and line, and as a salmon will not bite a hook, this law gives people here absolutely no benefit from the millions of salmon in those waters. It is desired to make it lawful to catch salmon, not to exceed two in one day in any number except with poisonous substances, dynamite or

Directors of Sterling Gold Quartz
Mining & Milling Company Take Steps to Rush Development of Their Property.

The directors of the Sterling Gold Quartz Mining & Milling company held a business session last evening and instructed R. L. Ray, their engineer and manager of the property, to purchase power drills in order to increase the efficiency of the force at work developing the mine. The drills will soon be installed.

Engineer Ray reported that much progress is being made and that the conditions are growing more favorable daily.

The company is composed of local men entirely. Mayor W. H. Cannon is president.

$10,000 RUG A REAL PERSIAN

When you are out walking tomorrow just take a stroll by Weeks & McGowan's furniture store and have a look at that $10,000 Persian rug. This rug was 30 years in the making and is a slight worthy the attention of every person in Southern Oregon. Seldom do you have the opportunity of seeing such a rare article as this rug. Most people would prefer the $10,000, but this simply illustrates that Weeks & McGowan are doing all in their power to give the people of this section an opportunity of owning the most prized and valuable of house-furnishings. Mr. Hauser will be pleased to tell you all about the Oriental rugs. He is a native weaver and very entertaining. Call this week and see his wonderful collection.

Some. If this were lawful the grab hook would be permissible.

It was also desired to have all the waters of the Klamath country open for fishing for trout at all times, except between February 15 and May 15 of each year. During summer the trout in the lakes of this county are practically worthless for table use.
