Scott Clas was presented with a fine suit of clothes as a Christmas gift which he appreciated very much and extends his thanks to the donor.

The boys of the forestry service all enjoyed themselves Christmas, some of them paying visits to the valley, others spending their holidays in town.

Ed Watson has been filling the place of Ed Cowden during the latter's sickness.

The dance of Monday evening was well attended and greatly enjoyed by all who attended the affair.

Work is still being done on some of the bad places of our roads, and it makes them a little better to travel.

We have not had any sickness amount to anything hereabouts during the winter and the doctor has not been called once to our community to look after patients.

Frank Netherland is suffering from a bad carbuncle upon his neck, which makes him quite sympathetic for those who are "boiling over."

Pembroke Williams of Georgia, who is with the foresters, came down to the town on Monday and says that the camp has been moved a little higher up in the hills; that all the boys are well and the work going on; that they regale themselves with music of the violin and banjo and are having a pleasant time.

We are all looking forward to the approach of spring, as many are said to be the improvements which will be made and the industries introduced or established. There is certainly room for them, and the townsites might be much improved, if social features were not overlooked, as we want more than a mill town. Families of standing are needed to raise the moral tone and to invite the incoming of people who will make for the upbuilding of our town and with what we have already it would not be long before we have an inviting section and village where great and profitable industries might be planted.

With the approach of January a change will be made in our local court, Judge Pentz having positively declined to act further, and he will be succeeded by Ed Watson, whom we hope may have a pleasant experience in caring for the judicial affairs of the town.

Rev. Mr. Jones expects to begin continuous services in January, and we hope he may be disappointed, but the greatest success may attend his efforts. He should be encouraged in his work, as he is the right man in the right place and can do much good with the co-operation of the community.

John Wharton, who has been in the valley for several months, has returned to Butte Falls.

There is not much work going on at the mill, but spring will find it going some, as there will be need of lumber for buildings and railroad.

All the songs were well rendered and showed that their voices have had excellent training. It is to be hoped that they will come again in the near future. Many thanks are due the ladies for bringing such progressive entertainments here.

Walter and Leslie Hawk are still confined at home with inflammatory rheumatism.

EUGENE SHOWS GREAT PROGRESS

Year of 1910 Was Greatest in City's History—Many Good Things Coming in Future—Buildings Erected Amounted to $700,000.

EUGENE, Or., Jan. 4.—The progress of Eugene during 1910 is indicated in carefully compiled reports gathered by Manager Freeman of the Commercial club, closing with the records Saturday, showing that business an dtrade increases of this year are in excess of the records of 1909 by from 20 to 80 per cent. Streetcar travel, gas and electric consumption, etc., have increased about 25 per cent. Building permits for the year are $700,000, which, added to the $250,000 expenditures of the Oregon Power company in this community in extensions and betterments of their plant, new office building and substitution in Springfield, runs the total for new construction up to the million dollar mark. The building record, therefore, is sustained, equaling last year. The Portland, Eugene & Eastern has expended nearly $100,000 in betterments and extensions of the trolley system, but these are construction figures not covered in the ordinary building permits. The largest and finest equipped department store, probably in the state, outside of Portland, will be opened at the corner of Sixth and illamette streets, February 1.

The fruit crop of Lane county for 1910, from compilations and estimates made by County Fruit Inspector J. Beebe shows thus far 35 carloads. Of apples, pears and peaches there were 48,400 boxes; cherries shipped, 175 tons; of prunes, 21 cars, and 34,500 crates of berries.
