

GABY VISITS HER EX-KING

Spends Three Weeks in London, Guest of Manuel—Dancer Is Very Quiet While in London—Portugal Will Allow Manuel Revenue.

LONDON, England, Jan. 19.—Mlle Gaby Deslys, the dancer who is said to have cost King Manuel of Portugal his throne, has returned to Paris after being in London for three weeks, ostensibly for treatment for a throat affection. The length of her stay was attributed to an operation, which was said to have been unsuccessful and necessitating a second, which is reported successful.

During the time she was supposedly convalescing she really spent the hours in the company of King Manuel. Upon arriving in London she drove direct to a quiet hotel in the vicinity of Piccadilly, where a suite of rooms had been engaged for her. Mlle Deslys did not frequent the public rooms, having most of her meals taken up to her for the sake of privacy. Manuel having stipulated before consenting to her coming that she would have to live quietly, so as to attract the least possible attention.

The week prior to Christmas, Manuel spent in London shopping. The exiled monarch established his headquarters at Claridge's hotel. His presence in London at the time was made the occasion for a gathering of well-known Portuguese royalists. As soon as the reception was over, however, he drove to see Mlle Deslys, spending the remainder of the day in her company.

Manuel and his mother, Queen Amelia, after altering their minds several times, have signed a lease for a house at Abercorn, Richmond hill, and will take possession shortly with a fairly large suite and hold a mock court such as is maintained by monarchs in exile.

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 19.—The British government has intervened successfully with Portugal on behalf of the deposed king, Manuel. The Portuguese government has decided to allow him to receive the revenue derived from the properties of the house of Braganza pending a final settlement between the state and the royal family.

OLDEST APPLE TREE FENCED

Tree Planted Years Ago by Hudson Bay Company Men—Planted Near the Vancouver Barracks in Washington.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 20.—A. A. Quarberg, district fruit inspector, discovered and identified the oldest apple tree on the Pacific coast recently and Colonel McGunagie of Vancouver Barracks, Washington, commander of the post, has ordered that a fence be constructed around the aged fruit bearer. In the near future a tablet bearing its history will be created near the tree. The tree was planted years ago by early officers of the Hudson Bay company from seeds carried in their pockets from England. Mr. Quarberg believes the tree to be about 85 years old. A passage in a history of the early settlers has the following to say concerning the origin of the tree: "At a lunch party in London about 1825, given in honor of some young gentlemen who were about to embark for Fort Vancouver in the employ of the Hudson Bay company, seeds of the fruit eaten were slyly slipped by some young ladies into the waistcoat pockets of the young men, and, upon their arrival at their destination the young men, in overhauling their wardrobes, discovered the seeds and gave them to Bruce, the gardener at the fort."

ITCHING SCALP.

Get Rid of It in a Few Hours.

There is nothing made that will so quickly rid the scalp of distressing itches as PARISIAN SAGE, the hair dressing and beautifier.

Chas. Strang guarantees Parisian Sage to cure dandruff; stop itching scalp and falling hair or money back, and sells it for only 50 cents a large bottle. It puts vitality into the hair and gives it a radiant luster.

It is the favorite hair dressing of refined women because it so quickly refreshes the scalp and not being sticky or greasy is delightful to use. "I haven't been bothered with dandruff and itching scalp since I began using Parisian Sage."—Lena McGough, Wichita, Kas., June 8, 1910.*

DR. SMITH FLAYS THE RESOLUTION COMMITTEE

SALEM, Or., Jan. 20.—Discrimination by the house committee on resolutions against resolutions appearing before it was charged against the members of that committee by Representative Smith, of Josephine, this morning. Smith had offered a resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee consisting of four members from the house and the same number from the senate to confer with a like committee from the Washington state legislature regarding uniform fishing laws for the protection of the salmon industry on the Columbia river.

This resolution was introduced in advance of a like resolution from Belland of Clatsop. This morning the resolutions committee reported the Belland resolution favorably and made no report on the one submitted by Smith. This aroused the ire of the Josephine county man, who insisted that he was entitled to fair play and at least a report from the committee concerning his resolution, which will introduced before Belland's.

In justification of its action, the resolutions committee explained that the reason Belland's resolution was favorably acted upon was for the reason that it more equally divided the representation on the two committees between the two houses as they are numerically constituted.

Having been an insurgent and the resolutions committee being dominated by Rusk-Thompson men. Smith said, following adjournment, that he had not expected more considerate treatment from the committee but declared that he would continue to contend for fair treatment at the hands of this and other committees. Report of the resolutions committee on the Belland resolution was adopted, over the protest of Smith.

PLAYED ROLE OF CUPID BUT DID NOT MAKE GOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 20.—Because he is alleged to have advertised to procure wealthy husbands for lonesome women, accepted payment and then failed to make good, Hugo M. Morris, said to be a capitalist, is under arrest today. An alleged Chicago accomplice recently pleaded guilty to a charge of using the mails to defraud. Membership in the matrimonial club was $5 for men and $3 for women, "success guaranteed," federal officers say. Three Iowa swains swore to the complaints against Morris.

CITIES MUST WAIT FOR HOME RULE

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 20.—Cities in counties that voted "dry" where local option elections were held last fall may not vote on the question of selling liquor within the corporate limits of the municipality under provisions of the home rule amendment to the constitution until the regular election day in November or at a regular city election. Special elections are invalid under provisions of the local option law.

The foregoing is the substance of a statement issued by H. C. McAllister, general manager of the Greater Home Rule association, yesterday to allay the unrest occasioned by a misinterpretation of opinions given by Attorney General Crawford. Haste on the part of several cities in "dry" counties in Oregon to vote on the liquor question immediately after the election, when the home rule amendment was adopted, resulted in lax interpretation of the bill and its coordinate statutory measure—the local option law—as well as opinions of the attorney general, and they prepared to hold special elections to vote on the question.
