Medford has a chance to crow over the showing made by the late census as disclosed in the reports recently issued. With one exception, says the census bureau, Medford shows the greatest percentage of growth of any city in the United States during the last 10-year period. The city that outdoes Medford is Oklahoma City, Okla., which has a percentage gain of 398. Medford's percentage of growth is 392 per cent.

(Seattle Times.)
Medford, Or., in the center of the fruit belt of southern Oregon, shows what apples will do for a town. In the decade Medford increased in population 393.5 per cent, by far the largest in the state. Not a city in Oregon showed a loss; but even at that the state is far behind Washington, which, though one-third smaller in area, has almost twice as many people.

(Eugene Register.)
Medford is coming right along these days. Plans are drawn for a six-story hotel to cost over $100,000. They are hustling to keep a sight of Eugene. It will require the $12,000 booster fund for next year to make this city the continued pattern by which other western Oregon towns will cut the cloth for the dress of progress.
