LIGGETT WEDDING IS A PLEASING AFFAIR

A pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. Clarence Wheeler, 247 South Riverside avenue on Wednesday evening, February 8, 1911. The occasion being the marriage of Miss Henrietta Miller Coggins to Mr. Joseph Liggett of this city. The double ring ceremony was used by the Rev. Elbert H. Hicks of Ashland, Oregon.

At eight o'clock the bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn wedding march, beautifully rendered by Miss Ivy Block. The bride looked charming in a white lace gown, veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Lella F. MacDonald of Cape Breton, N. S., who was dressed in pink chiffon over pink silk, and carried pink carnations. Miss Babe Cochran who carried the rings on a silver tray looked sweet in white with pale blue trimmings, while Earl C. Huntley acted as best man. After the ceremony the company partook of a dainty collation, after which the guests departed wishing the happy couple a long and prosperous wedded life.

INDIANS SLAY 4 WHITE MEN

Searching Parties Find Stockmen Where Indians and Is on Trial of Murdering Red Men.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 11.—News of an Indian massacre, in which four wealthy stockmen were victims, reached here today. The victims, whose bodies were found in Little Rock canyon, near Queen river, California, had been missing since January 19, when they went out to look for stock in a storm-swept region. They were Harry Cambron, John Laxgaue, B. Indiano and P. Erramuspe.

When the continued absence of the four men made it certain that evil had befallen them, searching parties went out Wednesday from Constantia, Cal., and yesterday in the remote canyon they came upon the bodies. All the blankets and provisions of the murdered men had been taken, and from the character of their wounds there was little doubt that Indians had done the killing.

This supposition was made certain when ranchmen in the vicinity were questioned. They declared that a band of nine hostile Indians had recently been in the vicinity, but had departed, leaving warnings that they were not to be followed on pain of death.

Immediately the murders were discovered a posse was organized and at once took the trail of the hostiles. Messengers were also dispatched to send telegrams to all towns within the region warning their sheriffs to be on the lookout for them. Although the hostiles have a good lead, the size of their band makes it almost certain that the frontiersmen in pursuit will be able to keep their trail, and a pitched battle is certain.

Little Rock canyon, where the murdered bodies of the ranchers were found, is just across the California line from the Pyramid Lake Indian reservation in Nevada, and from the signs left by the slayers, it was believed when the posse took up their trail that the marauding bucks were making for a haven there. Should the band gain the Pyramid Lake reserve before they are overtaken, it is admitted that their identification will be difficult, and it may be that United States troops will be called out to aid in hunting them down.
