THE RIVER OF YESTERDAY

O River of Yesterday, with current swift,

Through chasms descending and soon lost to sight,

I do not care to follow in thy flight The faded leaves that on thy bosom drift!

O River of Tomorrow, I uplift Mine eyes, and there I follow, as the night

Wanes into morning, and the dawning light

Broadens, and all the shadows fade and shift;

I follow, follow, sure to meet the sun,

And confident that what the future yields

Will be the right unless myself be wrong.

And thou, O River of Tomorrow, flowing

Between thy narrow, adamant walls,

But beautiful and white with water-falls,

And wreaths of mist, like hands the pathway showing,

I hear the trumpets of the morning blowing,

I hear the mighty voice that calls and calls,

And see, as Ossian saw in Morwen's halls,

Mysterious phantoms, coming, heaving, going!

It is the mystery of the unknown

That fascinates us; we are children still

Wayward and wistful; with one hand we cling

To the familiar things we call our own,

And with the other, resolute of will,

Grope in the dark for what the day will bring.

—Longfellow.

VANDERBILT CASH SALVES

McKIM'S WOUNDED HEART

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Dr. Hollis McKim, whose wife, it is reported, may marry Alfred Guyne Vanderbilt, will get the interest on $150,000 as salve for his wounded affections.

This statement was made today by McKim, whose wife, the daughter of Isaac E. Emerson, the "brown sinner king," recently divorced him at Reno.

She Was Smothering.

Rockford, Ala.—Mrs. M. C. Paschal, of this place, says: "I was taken with nervous prostration, and had headache, backache, pains in my right side, and smothering spells. I called in physicians to treat my case, but without relief. Finally, I tried Cardui, and it gave perfect satisfaction. I recommend it to every sick woman." Are you weak, tired, worn-out? Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women? Cardui has a record of over fifty years in relieving such troubles, and will certainly benefit you. It prevents those frequent headaches, and keeps you up, out of bed, feeling fresh and happy. Try Cardui.

SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT OF INDUSTRY

MUCH has recently been published about the new science of business management ever since a witness before the interstate Commerce Commission claimed that if the railroads were to adopt the new theories, they would save $1,000,000 a day. The first authoritative presentation of the subject appears in the March American Magazine written by the originator of the science, Mr. Frederick W. Taylor. Among his many ideas and comments, Mr. Taylor claims that the fundamental principle upon which industry seems now to be run in this country is that the employer shall pay just as low wages as he can and that the workman shall retaliate by doing just as little work as he can. Continuing Mr. Taylor says:

"Soldiering" as it is called in this country, 'hauling it out' in England, 'ca canny' in Scotland, is thus almost universal in industrial establishments, and prevails also to a large extent in the building trades; and the writer asserts without fear of contradiction that this constitutes the greatest misfortune, one may almost say the greatest evil, with which the working people of both England and America are now afflicted."

Mr. Taylor in explaining his subject, says that the fundamental idea contained in his theories is based on the assumption of additional responsibility by the management of a business concern which results in greater output by the employees. He writes:

"Under scientific management the 'initiative' of the workmen (that is, their hard work, their good will and their ingenuity) is obtained with absolute uniformity. In addition to this improvement on the part of the men the managers assume new burdens, new duties and responsibilities never dreamed of in the past. The managers assume, for instance, the burden of gathering together all of the traditional knowledge which in the past has been possessed by the workmen, and then of classifying, tabulating and reducing this knowledge to rules and formulas which are immensely helpful to the workmen in doing their daily work."

"These new duties of the management are grouped under four heads:

- "First: They develop a science for each element of man's work, which replaces the old rule of thumb method."
"Second: They scientifically select and train the workman, where in the past he chose his own work and trained himself as best he could."
"Third: They heartily co-operate with the men, so as to insure all of the work being done in accordance with the principles of the science which has been developed."
"Fourth: There is an almost equal division of the work and the responsibility between the management and the workmen. The management take over all work for which they are better fitted than the workmen, while in the past almost all of the work and the greatest part of the responsibility were thrown upon the men."

SIMON'S BAD BREAK.

PERSONS are not supposed to join fraternal orders for commercial, political or mercenary motives, so the effort made by Mayor Joseph Simon of Portland to have Collector of Customs P. S. Malcolm confirmed by the senate on the ground of lodge affiliations, comes as a shock to the state.

Malcolm is a stand-patter and a political enemy of Bourne's. Hence it was natural that the senator should block confirmation, especially as he had recommended a progressive republican for the job. He was informed that Malcolm had unknown "sources of influence" and on investigation, the following letter was unearthed as indicating what these influences are:

Portland, Ore., Feb. 7.—Senator Francis E. Warren U. S. Senate, Washington, D. C.—Philip S. Malcolm, nominated by the president for collector of customs, and whose confirmation seems to be opposed by one of Oregon's senators, has made the most efficient and capable collector this district has ever had. The commercial interests of this city are united in desiring his retention. Malcolm, as you probably know, is a thirty-third and a deputy of the supreme council in Oregon. Are there not enough of us thirty-thirds in the senate to prevent the unjust opposition waged against him and retain him in office? (Signed) JOSEPH SIMON.

A NATION OF MEAT EATERS

NOTwithstanding the high prices Americans are still a nation of meat eaters. Statistics compiled by the Census Bureau show by reports from slaughtering and packing establishments that 68,403,000 animals were slaughtered in 1909 for food.

Of this number 36,443,000 are hogs, 12,337,000 hewes, 5,395,000 calves, 14,067,000 sheep, 135,000 goats and 25,000 kids.

This total does not represent the entire domestic meat supply of the country, as a large number of animals are slaughtered on farms or elsewhere than in slaughter-houses. In addition there were 411,300 animals reported as having been killed or as dying a natural death and consumed in the manufacture of fertilizers or other products, and many more die on the farms and ranges.

There is evidently an immense field for the vegetarian to work for converts in, especially as the price of meat continues to soar.

WOODMANS' PARTY MRS. EDDY'S LETTERS HELD AT "NAT" CANNOT BE SOLD

The first social event presided over by the Woodmen of the World this season took place in the Natatorium last night when the W. O. W. were back at a dance given in the main hall room.

A large number of guests attended the function, the music for which was furnished by the Natatorium orchestra.

FENCE AROUND BALL PARK HIT

Petition Before the City Council Requests That Body to Take Steps to Have Dilapidated Fence Torn Down as is "Menace."

That the residents in the vicinity of the baseball park, at Second and Woodstock streets, consider the fence around that enclosure "unsightly, and detrimental to property values" was the substance of a communication read by City Recorder Robert W. Telfer to the city council last night.

The petition requests that the council take steps towards having the "eye-sore" removed, and the matter was referred, upon motion, to the street and roads committee for action.

WHITING PROVES UP ON HOMESTEAD ENTRY

Lincoln E. Whiting, a member of the typographical union of this city, made final proof upon a homestead entry before United States Commissioner W. H. Canon yesterday. He is commencing his entry, having lived on the property for 14 consecutive months.

Every Month Near Death

Foster, Ark.—Mrs. Fannie Ems, of Foster, says: "I was sick for seven years, and half the time could not stand on my feet. Every month I was very near death. I tried Cardui, and in two months, I was cured, and am now stout and healthy. My friends all ask me now what cured me. My looks are a testimonial to Cardui." No matter how serious or long standing the trouble, Cardui will help you. It is a mild, vegetable, tonic remedy, especially adapted to relieve and cure the common womanly ailments. It relieves womanly pains and restores womanly strength. Try Cardui.

DEER ARE PLENTIFUL IN THE LAVA BEDS

KLAMATH FALLS, Feb. 22.—Game Warden L. Alva Lewis, Clay Wilson and Ray Telford have returned from a trip to the lava beds where the California warden regarding the protection of deer in deep snow.

Mr. Lewis made arrangements with the California warden to watch that region in future jointly.

Mr. Lewis states that the lava beds are running over with deer. They saw about 25 and were in there but one day. He states that 75 deer have been seen there since the big storm in one single day by stockmen who are down in there, and while the deer are plentiful they are quite poor. They flock into the lava bed country

L. N. Judd Talent, Oregon

Because of the protracted snow, Mr. Lewis states that some of the sheep men who were not very long on feed, and who depended mostly on the winter range for them, are losing large numbers of their herds, and unless the weather moderates very soon many more will die.

The sheep are dying off in large numbers in that country because of the continued storms and length of time the snow is staying on the ground. This has been the hardest winter seen in this country for several years, and there is said to be much more snow in the lava beds than has been there since the big sheep owners of the country have been using it as a winter feeding ground and that it has remained on the ground much longer than before.
