

CAPTURE MAN WANTED HERE

Portland Police Arrest Ralph Butler, on Mulkey's Demand—He Faces Desertion Charge—Wife Ill and Destitute.

Information to the effect that Ralph Butler has been arrested in Portland by the police there upon a warrant issued by District Attorney B. F. Mulkey here charging desertion was received this morning. The accused man, who is said to be the son of a wealthy lawyer in Portland was released on $250 bail by the Portland authorities.

According to the record in the district attorney's office here, Butler is charged by his wife, now a resident of Ashland, with having deserted her some time ago. The charges made by the wife, who, although an invalid and a sufferer from hemorrhages, is working when well enough, to support herself, Butler and she were married in California. At the time, Mrs. Butler says that she was the possessor of a fortune of several thousand dollars.

She told District Attorney B. F. Mulkey that she and her husband lived together until her money was squandered, when, without giving her warning, Butler left her.

Immediately following the alleged desertion, Mrs. Butler, accompanied by a daughter by a former marriage, came to Jackson county and established a residence in Ashland. The daughter, when her mother's condition became critical, came to this city and laid the case before District Attorney Mulkey. A warrant was issued and the Portland police requested to arrest Butler.

The fact that the police in Portland permitted Butler to be released on bail may cause complications between them and the local authorities, on the grounds that an arrest made upon a warrant sworn out elsewhere constitutes an arrest of a fugitive from justice, which places the man arrested in a status where it is customary to allow the advisability of admitting to bail to be determined by the court issuing the warrant.

Constable Singler will probably leave for the north to bring the prisoner to this city upon the return here of District Attorney Mulkey.

KLAMATH FALLS BONDS FOR NEW FIRE DEPARTMENT

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Feb. 22.—Bids for bonds for the purpose of installing a fire alarm and fire fighting system were received from three different bond buying concerns.

The first bid was that of John Nuveen & Co., Chicago. This firm offered a bonus of $32, or $6032 for the bonds at 6 per cent.

Ulen & Co., bankers of Chicago, offered $8281 and accrued interest at 6 per cent.

E. H. Hollins & Sons of Denver, Col., were the third and last bidders. Their bid was for $8190 and 6 per cent.

The council awarded the bonds to the Denver concern.

LORELLA POSTOFFICE AT KLAMATH ROBBED

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Feb. 23.—The store and postoffice at Lorella was recently broken into and burglarized of 62 rabbit traps, a pair of men's gloves, two purses, a money sack and $20 in coin.

Mr. Pool, the proprietor of the store, and postmaster, was away from home and did not know of the affair until he reached Bonanza. He suspected a young man by the name of Clayton Anderson, whose father is a resident of Langdon valley, as being the culprit. When aroused and placed under arrest he immediately confessed that he was the man wanted, and when searched the stolen goods were found in his possession, except a few dollars that he had spent.

CALLED TO SALEM TO PROVE EXPENDITURES

SALEM, Or., Feb. 23.—Within the next few days the state hours will issue notices to all superintendents of state institutions to assemble at the capital in a body and assist in the organization of a new system by which the board hopes to eliminate deficiencies in the operation of the different establishments. Governor West and State Treasurer Kay have made this suggestion. They think by a new system and new rules to the effect each superintendent shall be personally responsible for the funds appropriated for the maintenance of the respective institutions and handle the same in the same manner as he would his own. The next legislative assembly will not be burdened with the task of making the enormous appropriations against their will and that of the people.

FILIBUSTER MAY SAVE LORIMER

Beveridge Attacks Blond Boss, Whose Friends Claim a Majority in Senate, Still Are Badly Worried.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 23.—Speaking in support of the resolution to oust William Lorimer, senator from Illinois, from his place in the national body as corrupt, Senator Beveridge of Indiana took the floor this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock.

Previous to the opening of the debate Senator Burrows, chairman of the committee which investigated Lorimer, sought unanimous consent of the house for a vote today, tomorrow or on Saturday. He was unsuccessful.

Prediction that a filibuster would prevent a vote on the Lorimer case during this session was freely made today.

The friends of Lorimer claim to have a majority in the senate, but are plainly worried by the filibuster talk.

When Beveridge began his speech on Lorimer he expressed personal sympathy with Lorimer's early struggles, as detailed by the "blond boss" yesterday. He said the stories of Lorimer's newsboy friendships moved him, but certainly did not in any way affect the issue as to whether he had bribed members of the Illinois legislature. Lorimer's whole speech, he declared, failed to explain the bribery charges. It did not even touch on them.

"I have listened," said Beveridge, "with a peculiar sympathy personally to Lorimer's story of his rise from a humble estate to this high place. Other senators were touched also, for there are many senators who, from even an earlier youth than he, have borne heavier burdens. But they are asking nothing from the world on that account.

Mr. Lorimer's account of his popularity was interesting. It explains his political strength, but it was quite irrelevant to the question of bribery which we are now considering. His newsboy experiences and the devoted friendship between himself and Hinky Dink were engaging, but they were quite immaterial to the corruption of White, Holtzslaw, Beckemeyer and Link."

Senator Beveridge then analyzed the various ballots taken during the deadlock in the Illinois legislature showing how efforts had been made to "get rid of" Deneen, Hopkins, Shurtliff and others, in order to make Lorimer's election appear more plausible.

Richard Jose Coming

"Silver Threads," which comes to the Medford theatre on Tuesday, February 28, for one performance is a simple story beautifully but plainly told in four interesting acts and in its construction the people of a small New England community are shown as they really are. It overflows with shrewd humor, which relieves at intervals the more serious vein which depicts native pride and dignity, pathos and tenderness, telling in succession a true tale of happiness and suffering among a quiet little family. It is a play of simple life in which the author, Martin V. Merle, has woven a character especially befitting the types and nature of the famous contra tenor, Mr. Richard Jose, that of a village blacksmith who, with his kind heartedness and lovable personality, portrays a man who is always loyal to right, causing sunshine to enter from beneath the clouds with the singing of the ballads of old which he has made famous, and the sacred hymns appealing to the hearts of all as they are woven into the story. It is a play which touches the universal chord the stage settings being in perfect keeping with the locale of the text especially notable the homelike furnishings of the first act, which have been gathered from the homes of old New England pioneer families, many of the articles being hundreds of years old. Nothing in this act has been neglected from the pictures of the walls to the old rag carpets which cover the sitting room floor of the reproduction of the exterior of the country church, where a lawn festival is being held, at which time excellent opportunity is offered to Mr. Jose for his singing, in which he sings "Abide With Me," from the choir loft, with organ accompaniment.

In all it is a sermon, a story and a production, which will long linger in the memory of all who witness it.

Seats on sale Friday morning, February 24.

NOTICE. There will be a meeting of the Greater Medford club on Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the hall in Natatorium building. A full attendance is desired.

WEATHER GAUGES DUE HERE SOON

Shipment of Various "Ometers" and "Graphs" Necessary to Keep Tab on Weather Expected to Arrive Here from Washington Shortly.

A complete set of government weather bureau instruments, ordered some time ago at the request of Professor P. J. O'Gara, government pathologist here, will probably arrive in this city from Washington this week. The consignment includes, besides other mysterious instruments, a self-recording barograph, a self-recording thermograph, a maximum and minimum thermometer, rain gauges and a psychrometer. The last is an instrument with which the humidity of the air is determined.

As soon as the consignment arrives here, Professor O'Gara will notify District Weather Forecaster Beals of Portland, who will come to this city to place the apparatus in position. An endeavor will be made to secure a space for them on the roof of one of the tallest structures in the city.

When the equipment is put in place Professor O'Gara will be enabled to keep accurate and undisputed records of the maximum and minimum weather conditions prevailing in the valley the year round.

MINERS FREED BY WHITFORD

Colorado Workmen Sent to Prison for Contempt of Court Without Jury Trial for Striking, Let Out by Judge Who Sentenced Them.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 23.—Sixteen miners who were sentenced to one year in jail on December 31 last for contempt of court in violating Judge Whitford's injunction in connection with a strike in a northern Colorado mine, were released today. The order for their release was signed by Judge Whitford. On Saturday last the state supreme court refused to release the miners on writs of superseades. The men were members of the United Mine Workers of America.

The conviction of the 16 men caused agitation for the restriction of injunction in labor cases and it was predicted that the legislature would pass laws on the subject.

The miners alleged that Judge Whitford convicted on a criminal charge without a jury trial and contended that the case was entirely out of his jurisdiction.

Early in January unionists presented a petition to the legislature demanding the impeachment of Whitford. Later 15,000 union men and women marched through the downtown streets of Denver carrying banners denouncing Whitford and the injunction law. At a mass meeting held on the same night Whitford was bitterly attacked for his action in sending the men to jail without giving them the privilege of a jury trial.

When the state supreme court refused Saturday to review Whitford's decision it was intimated that Whitford felt he had been vindicated in the matter and would release the miners this week.
