MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE, MEDFORD, OREGON, SUNDAY, MARCH 19, 1911.

A Hundred Former Residents of Beaver State Dine in Los Angeles -Former Vice President Fairbanks Principal Speaker.

LOS ANGELES, March 19 .- One hundred or more former residents of Washington and Oregon sat down at the tables reserved, for them in Hamburger Hall tonight, when the doors were flung open for the second annual banquet of the Federal State Societies of Southern California. It all there were more than twenty-five hundred folk present, and practically every state in the union and all the provinces in Canada were represented.

The most prominent speaker was former vice president of the United States, Charles W. Fairbanks, and care was taken that the famoa "cocktail incident" was not repeated for the dinner was what one of the officers of the federation called " smokeless, wineless, drinkless, hat less but not a smileless affair."

Fairbanks, who was the first of the speakers, was introduced by Frank W. Dowling, the toastmaster, as "the man who was Teddy's side-kicker during the strenuous days that have passed." His object was "Our country" and his speech was short and very much to the point. He told the newly made Californians that they must be loyal to the traditions of their old homes, and warned them that they would find it hard, even it they wished to do so; to loosen the ties that bound them to their ob homes.

Hon, W. L. Eaton, of Des Moines followed with a talk on "The Work of the Pioneer and His Place in History." The aims of the Federation of state societies were outlined by its vice president, Edward Winterer, who spoke on "Our Federation." Engens W. Chafin, prohibition candidate at the last national election for the presidency, was the next speaker. He urged a commercial combination between Arizona, New Mexico and Cali fornia. The Panama Canal's probable effect on the country as a whole and on the west and north especially was the subject on which Samuel B Van Sant, former governor of Mianesota, spoke, Matt S. WEST CUTS PRICE ON HIS OWN LAND

SALEM, Or., March 18. Upon arriving home from the south, and finding that the state board, consisting this time of State Treasuro T. B. Kay, and President Ben Selling of the senate and Speaker J. P. Rush of the house of representatives in lies of himself, had considered that $10,-000 was a reasonable price on in property east of the capitol which is desired by the state for the new capitol annex, Governor West immedia; ely said that the figure was too high that it was much more than the amount he could expect to get from private individuals and that he would not consent to accept more than $8,500 for his pproperty.

This figure, the governor says, will cover the cost of the property to gether with the taxes and street inprovements. The streets on both fronts are paved with bitulithic
