

SPRING RUSH OF NEW COMERS ON

Hotels Are Crowded and Turn People Away—Same Condition Existing as Was Experienced Last Spring and Summer.

The annual spring rush of new-comers to Medford has evidently begun. If the hotel registers are indicators. Reports from both the Moore and the Nash show these places to be full to overflowing and nightly guests are being turned away for lack of room. This is not the first case of this kind on record, but is merely a resumption of the spring rush of eastern land seekers to the Rogue River valley and to Medford in particular.

The hotels have their same difficulty every year when the great trans-continental trunk lines put on their excursion rates and the homeseekers start their rush westward.

The completion of Medford's new five-story hotel will relieve the pressure to some extent, but so effective is the advertising system of the Medford Commercial club and so well known is the quality and quantity of the land surrounding the city that a steady stream of America's better class of citizens will continue to pour into the country with the growth of other cities which aspire to the term "metropolis." It behooves Medford to provide accommodations for all that come, as with these same accommodations she stands a much better show to hold the man with a bank account, and from experience it can be seen that "the man who stays is the man who buys."

By this time next year there is no doubt but that there will be room for all who come here.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., April 11.—Belated advices arrived here today that one member of the Smithsonian Institute exploring party of three had been lost in the desert south of Searchlight, Nev., and was rescued after he had become delirious. Frank Haine and Elias Dart, prospectors were the rescuers, but the name of the scientist was not learned.

1911 BUICKS IN MEDFORD

Carload of New Models Arrive and Can Be Seen at Crater Lake Garage—Pronounced Beauties by All Who See Them.

A carload of 1911 Buicks, long expected and overdue, arrived Monday and can be seen at the Crater Lake garage on Riverside near Main street.

In the lot is the new model No. 27, which it is predicted will be the most popular car ever sold in Oregon. Slightly larger than last year's, No. 10, it has selective transmission, and five horsepower larger engine.

Another model, which it is predicted, will become a favorite, is model 25, similar to last year's 19, with semi-enclosed doors. Still another model is 38. Another is model 33. But to appreciate these cars, you must see them.

GENERAL REICHSTAG ELECTION NOVEMBER

BERLIN, April 11. It is announced that the general election for the German reichstag will take place November 27, and although eight months still divide us from that date, all the political parties and groups have advanced their arrangements to such an extent that nearly all of them are already completely equipped for the electoral campaign.

The reason for this early mobilization of the political forces is the fear that the government, which desires to secure a majority of the parties of the right, might attempt to gain an advantage over them, after having given a confidential warning to those groups whose candidates they favor. An intimation that some such stroke on the part of the government might be expected was published some time ago by the socialist newspaper "Vorwaerts," and since then all parties alike have been actively engaged in the selection of candidates and in the

ALFRED B. GARNER

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—Representative Alfred B. Garner has told the president that he intends to introduce this season a bill repealing the law of 1872 providing for the organization of four regiments of colored troops in the army, two of cavalry and two of infantry, and so give the president authority to disband any colored regiment that made itself liable to discipline by disorderly and violent conduct. The president expressed satisfaction at the suggestion and joined in the belief that such action by congress would at least have a wholesome moral effect upon the colored soldiers and serve to make them obey the laws of the sections where they may be sent on duty.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR CITY BONDS

Many Inquiries Reach City Recorder and Bids Will Be Numerous When Last Day is Here—$38,000 Are for Sale.

The city recorder's office is being flooded with inquiries from prominent bond houses regarding the bonds which are to be put on the market by the city and for which bids have been asked.

At the recent city election it was voted that bonds to the value of $38,000 be issued by the city, $30,000 of the money to be used in constructing sewers on East Main street and the remaining $8,000 to be expended on fire apparatus.

Bids will be opened Tuesday, April 18, 1911, and from all indications there will be a heavy demand for the bonds.

NOT GUILTY OF GIVING LIQUOR TO YOUNG GIRL

ASHLAND, Oregon April 11.—Walter Hash was found not guilty of having given away liquor to Mary Jones when tried by a jury in Justice Hart's court. Hash was charged with having violated city ordinance No. 249 prohibiting the giving away of intoxicating beverages and the city alleged that he gave a bottle of white wine to Mary Jones while they were eating lunch in a booth at the Chinese restaurant. Night Policeman Edward Magoon arrested Hash and found the bottle on his person. At the trial Attorney M. J. McAllister represented the city and Attorney Kelly of Medford appeared in behalf of Hash. On the witness stand Mary Jones testified that Hash handed her the bottle, but cautioned her not to drink its contents. Hash swore to the same effect. The jury was: J. M. Griffin, Alec McLeod, Harry Hoaler and Messrs. Barnes, Grainger and Salisbury.

EAST SIDE BOY NAMED BRIGHTEST

With Right Influences He Will Become Best Citizen Declares Chairman of New York Child Labor Committee After Investigation.

NEW YORK, April 11.—"The boy to be found on the streets of the East Side up to the age of 14 is, on the average, quicker and brighter in body and mind than your little brother or mine. If he can only be surrounded by the right influences at this formative period he will develop into the most desirable of citizens. If he is left to go his own gait to the age of adolescence he is almost sure to turn into the confirmed criminal."

This is the opinion of Morley Williams, chairman of the New York state child labor committee, for years president of the New York juvenile asylum and otherwise interested in organizations having to do with the welfare of boys and girls.

No visitor to New York has wandered through the densely populated East Side streets and seen the myriad little human beings living their unnatural lives amid conditions that appear to most people as appalling, without wondering as to the future of these children. Williams' statement as to the mental and physical strength of the East Side boy might indicate that his prospects are fully as good as those of the child more fortunately surrounded. But the pity of it is, he says, that the qualifying conditions he names are rarely met with.
