

WEEK'S HAPPENINGS IN MEDFORD SOCIAL CIRCLES

A delightful entertainment and social was given by the men and boys of the First Methodist Sunday school at the church on the corner of Tenth and Bartlett streets, Friday evening. The event in honor of the ladies and girls of the Sunday school who were successful in securing the largest number of new members during the last three months, in the red and blue contest. The contest, which was introduced by Superintendent C. A. Meeker, closed on Easter Sunday with an attendance of 342. Mrs. Childerster was the leader of the girls' side, and Mr. Canady of the boys. Great interest has been shown members by both sides. The Sunday school has a record of being one of the largest and most enthusiastic in southern Oregon. The primary departments were entertained in the basement from 6 to 8 o'clock. The children enjoyed various games, and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. At 8 o'clock a program was given in the church to the junior and senior members. Following is the program: Orchestra..... Selected Address..... Supt. C. A. Meeker Quartet..... Messrs. Canady, Shannon, Meeker, Childerster. "Women and Girls of the S. S."..... Mrs. McKinley's. Orchestra..... Selected "Men of the Sunday School"..... Mr. Bennett. "Boys of the Sunday School"..... Mr. Canady. Orchestra. At the close of the program a social was held in the basement. A class of boys attired in waltzer caps and aprons served refreshments. The evening was one of the most enjoyable ever given by any department of the church.

The regular monthly meeting of the Greater Medford Club was held last Monday in the club rooms. Reports were made concerning the work in the park, which has been done under the supervision of Mrs. M. L. Aford, chairman of the park committee. The evening was spent in getting the gravel distributed and putting the walks in order. Committees were appointed to see about putting sanitary drinking fountains (which are to be given by the Medford Concrete company) in the parks and other necessary places. A committee was appointed to see if it would be possible to have the present cluster lights on the Main street side of the park, moved to the sixth street side and have the city put in the corresponding lights to those which are to be installed along Main street. The electric light company have offered to furnish lights for the clusters which will be put around the west end of the park. The expectation placards have been put around the streets and the ordinances will be strictly enforced. A committee was appointed to give a May entertainment. Another was appointed to see if it would be possible to have a general "cleaning-up" day throughout the city. One was appointed to select a hand-stand site in the park and to assist the band in making plans to build the same. The "F. F." club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. D. Heard Tuesday with a bridge luncheon. The color scheme was yellow, daffodils and tulips being used to carry out the idea. Place cards of purple were also used. Mrs. Mahon Purdin was made a member of the club, and will entertain the club this week. Mr. and Mrs. George Munson of Bethany, Mo., are visiting friends in the city. Mrs. Homer Rethermal entertained the Thursday afternoon bridge club last week.

The opera put on under the auspices of the Greater Medford club, Monday and Tuesday evening of last week, was a very good production. The principals all did well. Mrs. Ed Andrews as "Suzetta," the village ne'er do well, sustained the part well, both in singing and acting. Mrs. Bell as "Germaine," was very good. Mr. Ed Andrews as the miser was particularly good, and Mr. Whetsel as "Jean Grumbeaux" sang well and was as much at home as a professional. Mr. Frank Burgess as the "Marquis" sustained the reputation he made for himself in "Fra Diavolo." Mr. J. A. Burgess as "Baffle" brought down the house with his humor. The chorus was very well trained and did good work. The costuming was very effective. Unfortunately there were not good houses either night. The club has not asked for assistance from the public before, this year, and it is rather a pity that everyone could not have been interested enough in the work the women are doing to help them financially. As it is they made just about enough to pay expenses.

The eleventh anniversary of the Eastern Star fell on their regular meeting night Tuesday of last week and a gala affair was made of it. The Alpha chapter, No. 1, of Ashland, the Adriel chapter, No. 3, of Jacksonville, and the Nevada chapter, No. 93, of Central Point, were the guests of the local chapter. The honored guests of the evening were Mrs. Bay L. Sherwin of Ashland, past worthy grand matron, and Mrs. Nellie McGowan, grand treasurer. Those on the program were Miss Agnes Isaacs, piano solo; Mrs. Eastman and Mrs. Van Scoyay, duet; Mrs. Coffey, accompanying; Miss Watt, recitation; Miss Lay Boen, piano solo, and Mrs. Eastman, vocal solo. A most delicious banquet was served to over 200 people. The auxiliary committee was in charge of the evening. A very pretty reception was held at the residence of Mrs. E. N. Warner Tuesday afternoon, to complement the retiring officers and the newly elected officers of the Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church. The receiving rooms were beautifully decorated with white and lavender lilacs. Mrs. York was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Will Gore and Mrs. Shields. In the dining room which was prettily decorated with pink carnations and ferns, Mrs. Aiford and Mrs. English served, assisted by Mrs. Ganaway, Mrs. Wortman and Mrs. Berry. Who's What in the House of Representatives

Who's what in the house of representatives. The bald man: Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. The man with the most hair: Edmund T. Stack of Illinois. The biggest man: "Ollie" James, of Kentucky. The smallest man: S. W. Smith, of Michigan. Man with the biggest voice: Richmond P. Hobson, of Alabama. Man with the whispering voice: General Isaac Sherwood, Ohio. The house Beau Brummel: "Jimmy" Burke, of Pennsylvania. The house satirist: Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina. The bingham man: "Father" Henry H. Bingham, of Pennsylvania. The youngest member: William F. Murray, of Massachusetts. The busiest member: James R. Mann, of Illinois, minority leader. The man without a party: Theron F. Akin, of New York. The richest man: William B. McKinley, of Illinois. WASHINGTON, April 29.—There are 291 entirely separate and distinct types of the genus homo in the house of representatives. Leaving out the uncomplimentary classifications, the above table is a fairly accurate guide to the national legislature. Here it is: "Nick" Longworth is not only the laziest member in the house, but he has the most charming bluish. "Stack" Stack, of Chicago, who goes down on the flat as the man with the most hair, looks like a poet. His favorite pose is in a la Elbert Hubbard. "Ollie" James dresses the part of the biggest member. He always appears in the house garbed in a coat with yards of flowing tails that flutter about his stalwart, rather extrimities. "Ollie" comes dangerously near being first as the baldest man. He is a close second to Richmond Pearson Hobson as the man with the biggest voice. When he whispers the floor vibrates. Smallest Man. As against this aggregation of altitudinous ponderosity, is the Liliputian diminutiveness of "Sammy" Smith, of Michigan. Smith hides a lot of active gray matter under his hat, and the way he handled the District of Columbia committee in the old days of the "republican occupation" gave indication that the quantity or lack of it, was more than made up in the quality. If it were not for the fact that he is rather chunky John L. Burnett, of Alabama, would have been tied with Smith for the feather-weight class. Burnett delights in smoking big black cigars. Whispers. If "Ollie" James' whispers make the floor vibrate, the more throaty, under-breath syllables uttered by Representative Hobson shatter the skylights. When the hero of the Merrimack "gets to going good" they say that some of the nervous senators over in the other end of the capitol jump at the cannonade, and inquire about the earthquake. There is a more inspiring sight in congress than a glimpse of Hobson. In his right arm majestically upraised, his left hand curling out from under his loosely worn and the leonine advance of tone issuing from between his lips. Hobson is another near-sinner in the bald man's class. General Isaac Sherwood of Ohio earned his title by achievements in the civil war, and is the real, original, Grand Army man in the house. He has done more for the veterans than nearly any other congressman. But when he talks, he merely articulates. "Jimmy" Burke of Pennsylvania is unapproachable as the best dressed man in congress. Representative Burke ordinarily wears what is known to the sartorial artists as "an English walking coat," and his ties are dreams. He always wears a carnation in his button-hole. Carnations. Speaking of carnations, that might incidentally be remarked that about 20 members are addicted to the habit of never appearing without this flower. Captain Cook, who has run the private selector for congressmen for a score or more of years, furnishes the poses, or raises them himself and hands them out every morning, always remembering the "likes" of each of the 30. Uncle Joe Cannon, for instance, prefers red flowers; Seneca Payne of New York likes the pink. Burke always wears white. Kitchin of North Carolina has earned his reputation as the foremost satirist in the house by a few rare, but vividly remembered speeches. He talks with a smile, but he can flay with that same grin. H. H. Bingham of Pennsylvania is called the father of the house. A nod to being one of the oldest members as representatives from the First district. This beats every other member for length of continuous service. Except Speaker Cannon has served 19 terms, but they weren't consecutive. William F. Murray of Massachusetts is popularly said to be 26 years of age. He modestly won't tell his age. Representative A. W. Lafferty of Oregon is a close contender for the "big kid" class. Theron F. Akin is an independent. He is a republican elected on the democratic ticket. Neither party recognizes him.

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA COMING. Some of the greatest compositions of the greatest Russian orchestral composers will be heard in this city on Wednesday evening, May 10, at the Natatorium hall when the Russian Symphony orchestra of New York is heard in this city at the single concert which will be present during the coming season. The appearance here of so celebrated a symphony orchestra as this one which is looked upon by eminent judges as one of the first few in the country means a treat for lovers of good music. Not only will the fine Russian works be heard but a comprehensive array of the best standard orchestral music among which will be excerpts from Wagner's famous opera "Parsifal." The program which Conductor Aitenschuler has arranged for the second transcontinental tour range from the classics to the moderns. There will be compositions by Tchaikowsky, including his famous Pathetique Symphony and portions of the opera "Eugene Onegin," not to mention many orchestral writings by the great Russian orchestral composers who have never been heard in this country. Mr. Aitenschuler is widely known as a program maker of exceptional skill. He knows how to select the numbers which have the elements of popular appeal and at the same time make very good music. He knows also how to so arrange and group his numbers in a manner permitting them to appear to the best possible advantage. An Aitenschuler program is certain always to be virtually a perfect program.

MAN, DEMENTED, CLAIMS MRS. BELMONT AS WIFE. NEW YORK, April 29.—Claiming that he was the husband of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, a shabby dressed man, who gave the name of James Burke, today fought at the Belmont hotel in a futile effort to gain entrance to Mrs. Belmont's room. Burke is believed to be insane. He was arrested, fined $100 and lacking the money went to jail. WANT $500,000 Defense Fund. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—The American Federation of Labor today is preparing a general appeal for a fund to defend the McNamara's. It expects to raise $500,000. Financial aid will be given immediately if the Structural Iron Workers' association help in the preliminary of the fight to free their international secretary and his associates. Quake Recorded. CLEVELAND, O., April 29.—The seismograph at St. Ignace college at 4:07 this morning recorded an earthquake in the immediate vicinity of America, if not actually in America. The disturbance was jerky in character and lasted for fully a minute. Jap Files. SEATTLE, Wash., April 29.—A Japanese of his own make, G. T. Takasawa, a Japanese, made a successful flight at Thomas, near this city. He flew 100 feet and landed without mishap, but something was wrong with the engine and action was marred. Takasawa imported oriental material for his machine. The frame is of bamboo, much lighter than Wright metals and its cost was only $1800. The Japanese claim he never has seen an airplane other than the one he has constructed.

RANGERS HORSES ARE IN GOOD CONDITION. Rangers J. G. Simonsville and Horace G. Whitney have returned from Pelican Bay, where the winter feeding station is located, bringing with them all the ranger's saddle and pack horses. Every summer the forest service puts up about 100 tons of hay from the marshes in the vicinity of Pelican Bay for winter use of the forest officers. The rangers club together to pay a man to care for and feed the horses during the winter. The horses came through the winter, a very severe one this year, in satisfactory condition. Rangers Whitney and Simonsville crossed the mountains via Asien Lake, Keno and Shako to Ashland. They report very little snow along the road over this route. Census of German States is Completed. There are five German states with populations ranging from 100,000 to 200,000. The principality of Schwarzburg-Rudolstadt with 100,712, the grand duchy of Mecklenburg-Strelitz with 106,847 inhabitants, the republic of Lubeck with 118,533, the principality of Lippe-De-mold with 160,749 and the principality of Reuss (younger line) with 162,765 inhabitants. There are eight other small German states with populations of less than half a million. Altogether there are 26 states includ-

391 Distinct Types of the Genus Homo. WANTED IN HARLEM; GIVES HIMSELF UP. SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—Spending his last nickel to pay carefare to the county jail, Horatio Bertham Moses, who says he is a son of a wealthy New York art dealer, gave himself up to the police here today, alleging that he is wanted for a robbery in Harlem. Moses says that with a cousin, he slugged a stranger in New York on March 10 and robbed him of $50. He told the police his conscience troubled him and he thought every man he met was an officer. The New York authorities have been asked to send for Moses. CHAMBERLAIN IS GIVEN NINE COMMITTEE PLACES. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Chamberlain's committee assignments are agriculture, military affairs, territories, public lands, expenditures, in interior department, Pacific railways, Philippines, Indian affairs and irrigation. In the crown lands of Alsace and Lorraine and the three republics of Han-nover, Bremen and Lubeck, Prussia heads the list with a population of 40,158,791, and three smaller kingdoms of Bavaria, Saxony and Wurtemberg have approximately seven million, five million and two and a half million inhabitants respectively.
