

Coming Theatrical Attractions

Olga Nethersole, who is playing this season in "Sister Beatrice" and "The Enigma," will be seen here on Monday night, May 8, at the Medford opera house.

the theater was to amuse, and she gave substantial base to her theory by selecting the plays in which she acted from the works of men who were leaders in modern thought.

"The ToyMaker" Coming.

On his forthcoming appearance here, Ferris Hartman will present the dainty, dancing, delightful comic opera, "The ToyMaker," in which he has appeared very nearly a thousand times.

and then sells it to the nephew of a rich nobleman in order that he may, by marrying the doll, secure a fortune and still retain his membership in a religious brotherhood, touches the entire gamut of comedy.

The company comes here direct from their own theatre in Los Angeles, where they have enjoyed an excellent success of over 30 weeks.

Miss Ring and Automobiles.

Do you own an automobile? If so, here is something Blanche Ring, who will be seen here May 19, has discovered that is worth knowing, and it goes to show the individuality and thought of the American Artisan, for it is a safe prediction to make that you could go into many of the largest garages in the United States and not find a man that has the knowledge that this little article contains.

Miss Ring is an ardent automobilist and she can frequently be seen at the wheel of her own machine on the country roads around Mamaroneck, N. Y., in the summer time.

Miss Ring is touring this season in "The Yankee Girl" and not long ago played Boston for an extended engagement. At the conclusion of the run she played several of the towns in New England and as Worcester was the first town to be visited, she thought it would be a nice way to make it by auto, and arrangements were made accordingly.

The start was made on a bright sunny morning with just enough chill in the air to make it inspiring. The roads were fine and mile after mile was reeled off on the speedometer which boded well for a safe and speedy termination of the journey.

The party stopped at Attleboro to get a bite of lunch and fill up the tank with gasoline, and got along nicely enjoying the exhilarant air and the vista of distant landscapes when just as they were pulling into Woonsocket, R. I., the motor commenced to misfire and they realized that something was wrong.

The chauffeur got down and looked things over, meanwhile letting her cool off a little and not discerning the cause, he concluded to start off again and trust to luck to keep her going. He found some difficulty in turning her over and realizing that she wasn't getting proper lubrication, and looking underneath he found that she was losing oil. To make a long story short the connection with the oil tank had broken, through some unusual strain or jolt.

Russian Orchestra.

Was there ever a singer without a hobby? "Never," declares Lella Joel-Hulse, one of America's foremost contraltos.

FRANK ORMSBY, Tenor.

who is to be heard in this city before long with the Russian Symphony orchestra, of New York, when it gives a concert under the baton of Modest Altshuler in the Natatorium hall on Wednesday, May 10.

Imagine a dainty little woman acquiring fame and money with a God-given voice, gone daff over china-painting and shooting. This happens to be the attitude of Mme. Joel-Hulse who is a rare combination of artist and lover of outdoor life.

During her Latin-Quarter days Mme. Joel-Hulse copied a dinner set presented to Anne of Australia, by the Duke of Buckingham, and which is still to be seen in the Louvre, where its quaint design typifying various events in the life of Venus are gazed upon daily by thousands of visitors.

A perfect knowledge of the use of fire-arms was learned by the contralto at the hands of Stewart Edward White, author of "The Blazed Trail," "The Westerners" and other novels of strenuous western life. In the shooting gallery Miss Joel-Hulse is an expert either with a .44 revolver or a rifle, but she will not shoot game in the field. "I cannot bear to kill," said the singer.

Hazel Dollar floated by her own steam. SEATTLE, May 6.—After three days on a sand bar off Whidby Island the big freighter Hazel Dollar floated off under her own steam at high tide today.

With only a small hole in her hull, she was able to proceed under pumps to Everett, where she safely docked. Much of her lumber cargo of 2,225,000 feet, had been lightered and the delay and expense has amounted to a considerable figure, but the damage to the vessel is thought to be light.

CROWDS HEAD FOR CORONATION

London Will See Greatest Gathering of People in History of World During June — Accommodations Are Already at a Premium.

LONDON, May 6.—Throngs of people who expect to visit London during the coronation in June today are already calling for their accommodation here. All indications point to such a throng of visitors as have never before been gathered in any city in the world.

With preparations for the ceremonies rather slow progress is being made. The king must approve every item on the program and he is so busy that he can give only a little time daily to this work.

The court officials will devote June 19 to the reception and housing of royal guests and their suites. This will be hard work. Buckingham palace will be taxed to the utmost in accommodating continental royalties closely related to King George and Queen Mary.

The king and queen will give a banquet at Buckingham palace on the evening of June 20 in honor of their royal guests. The following night the duke of Connaught will give a dinner to lesser notabilities in the principal state apartment at St. James palace.

June 22 will be coronation day. Their majesties will drive in state for the ceremony from Buckingham palace through the Mall, Trafalgar square, Whitehall and Parliament street to Westminster Abbey, where the crown will be placed on King George's head, the royal oath taken and the monarch formally proclaimed ruler of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas. In the evening there will be a royal family dinner at Buckingham palace.
