OVER-PRODUCTION JOKE, SAYS REDDY

Great Demand for Rogue River Fruit Throughout Europe—Twenty Cents Each for Apples—New Method of Packing Necessary.

Dr. J. F. Reddy, who with Mrs. Reddy, has been touring the United States and Europe for the past four months, returned to Medford Thursday afternoon and expressed great satisfaction upon being in the Rogue River valley again. In the course of his travels Dr. Reddy visited Italy, France, England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland. In a discussion of the prospects of over-production of the apple and pear crop he stated that any one who has the idea that there will ever be a surplus of apples and pears is possessed of a radically wrong idea.

"Wherever I went in Europe," said he "I found a great demand for Rogue River fruit, not because it was grown here but because the quality was so well known. The cheapest I could buy apples from this valley in any part of Europe was at Chitra, Ireland, the fruit selling there for seven cents each, while at Monte Carlo I was forced to pay as high as twenty cents. At the large hotels of London a Rogue River apple was an unknown article on the table and the price being so high for the management to make a profit on. There are a number of fruit stalls where apples and pears can be bought, but the price is invariably beyond the price of the common people.

"If I had fifty cars of apples I could ship them to any one of the fifteen large cities of Europe and sell them at a profit of from $1.50 to $2.00 per box. The market of the old country will never be flooded with fruit of the kind we ship and no one need fear for a ready sale no matter if the whole state of Oregon is planted to orchards.

"Most of the apples sold in the large cities are of a quality, the likes of which would not be allowed to be shipped out of Medford. Little scrawny apples are wrapped in fancy colored paper and when one thinks he has something nice in the fruit line he is sorely disappointed. In Monte Carlo the fruit is repacked in small, daintily decorated boxes and sold at prices of not less than twenty cents each.

"In three different cities on the continent I found boxes of apples from the Buckeye orchard, near Talent, and also from another orchard near Phoenix, the name of which I cannot remember."

Dr. Reddy also gave quite a description of Paris but stated that he would not like to live there. He said "Paris has been almost entirely remodeled for the benefit of the American tourist who are a big item in the maintenance of the city. The buildings are being reconstructed to suit the most fastidious tourist and the trimming of suchness is one of the fine arts of the Parisian elite. The theaters are run almost solely for the tourist trade and plays that cater to the instincts of the masses are daily seen upon the boards."

"In my entire trip I did not see a place in Europe where I would like to live, there, the forests give quite a description to the toilets, the mines are hardly worth mentioning and not in one single instance did I see any section so rich on the whole as our own little valley."

In regard to the condition of the fruit upon its reaching the market, Dr. Reddy said "I did not see one apple that did not have a braise of some sort and that different methods of packing will have to be resorted to before satisfactory suits could be obtained by not only the home dealer but also the foreign trader."

Dr. Reddy expects to remain in Medford and Mrs. Reddy will arrive in a few days from Sacramento where she is visiting at present.

CONCERT MOST ENJOYABLE

Musical Given Under Direction of Mrs. Krause is Thoroughly Enjoyed—Given for Benefit of Choir of Catholic Church.

The musical given Thursday evening in the chapel behind the Catholic church for the benefit of the choir, was well attended and proved a thoroughly enjoyable affair. Under the direction of Mrs. P. O. Krause several encephalic vocal numbers and a number of individual efforts were carried through in splendid style.

The opening number, a piano duet, entitled "The Angelus," by Mrs. Krause, and Miss Bane, met with the warm approval of the audience as did "Ebb and Flow" by a ladies' quartet. Mr. J. O'Brien next rendered the "Serenade" responding to an encore with a humorous ditty depicting the riddle of a queen of the Nile and her pet crocodile.

"Memory Tolls" by the church choir was followed by a violin solo, "Sweet Home" by Mrs. Krause, and "The Rose Tree" by Miss Irene Sullivan. To Miss Sullivan undoubtedly belong the honors of the evening. Her rendition of this number was exquisite and for those unacquainted with her technique it will be well to watch her progress in the future. An encore demonstrated her versatility in any kind of music. A reading by Mr. Beveridge was given and found worthy of an encore.

Miss Catherine Murphy in a vocal solo "Sweet Be Thy Dream" was well received and was forced to respond to the wishes of her hearers. A vocal solo, "Mona," by Mr. Stewart, was one of the excellent features of the program and "Annie Laurie" by a ladies' quartet and "Oh! Italia" by the choir were also worthy of mention. Miss Claire Massman was a faithful accompanist. The choir was composed of the following singers: Soprano, Misses C. Murphy, A. Kinsbury, M. Hare, E. Murphy and M. Murphy; Mezzosoprano, Misses J. S. Murphy, Misses Mrs. Krause and Mrs. Bane; Tenors, Messrs. Muller and Dehler; Basses, Messrs. Stewart O'Brien and Beaulieu.

The musicale was one that will remain long in the memories of those present and those unable to attend missed one of the best musical treats of the season.

on the whole as our own little valley."

In regard to the condition of the fruit upon its reaching the market, Dr. Reddy said "I did not see one apple that did not have a braise of some sort and that different methods of packing will have to be resorted to before satisfactory suits could be obtained by not only the home dealer but also the foreign trader."

Dr. Reddy expects to remain in Medford and Mrs. Reddy will arrive in a few days from Sacramento where she is visiting at present.

MT. ANGLE WILL PLAY HERE SOON

College Team Tomorrow Will Meet Local Boys—Second and Final Game Will Be Puled Off Sunday Afternoon.

The Medford base ball team will play the Mt. Angel College team a series of two games on Saturday and Sunday. Mt. Angel has one of the fastest ball teams of any college team in the northwest, and have not lost a single game this season. All school children will be admitted for free at a Saturday's game. Medford will have its regular line up except Wilkinson. Paul Thyng will do the first sack honors. Burgess and Hill will be the battery for Saturday's game and either McQuoid or Sheehy will pitch Sunday's game. This will be a fine opportunity for those who do not attend Sunday base ball to witness a good game.

The Medford ball team has been put to a big expense in bringing the Mt. Angel team here and the games should be liberally attended.
