"HUTCH" DEALING IN INSURANCE

Next Monday Last Meeting Before Annual Election of Officers Will be Held by Ladies of Greater Medford Club.

J. F. Hutchason, manager of advertising of the Mail Tribune for the past year, has resigned and will devote his time to the insurance business. He states that after one week in the field, he is well pleased with the outlook. He is devoting most of his time to writing for the "Mutual Life of New York" and will make his most earnest efforts along this line.

This is one of the very few instances where a man has deliberately given up a steady income to engage in the life insurance business on a commission basis. It takes pluck to tackle the game, but Hutchason is game as has been demonstrated in the past.

Hutchason does not expect to set the world afire, at the beginning but will devote his time earnestly to the work and hopes to do a goodly share of the business. He has his work at heart, earnestly believes that he has the best life contract in the world, has studied the business until he can talk facts that cannot be disputed and last but not least he believes down deep in his heart that every time he writes a life policy that he has done a good act and has helped someone to better his condition in life.

His friends believe that he will make a go of the business; all join in wishing him well, and feel sure that he will never become a nuisance or a bore which sometimes happens to men engaging in this line of work.

George P. Lindley was born on Long Island, N. Y., November 22, 1849. When a boy he moved with his parents to Onawa, Ia., and later to Lynden, Wash., and 18 years ago came to Medford, Or., where he has since resided.

He was married to Sarah Lindly December 15, 1870, at Godfrey, Ill. There were born to them two children, George R. and Corneilia M. The daughter, Corneilia, died at the age of 11 of typhoid fever while attending Northwest normal school at Lynden, Wash.

Mr. Lindly took an active interest in the welfare of the community in which he lived. He served as county treasurer of Jackson county for one term, and for a number of years has been interested in the banking business being at the time of his death vice president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Klamath Falls, Or., and a director in the Jackson county bank of Medford, Or., and also a stockholder in the Central Point State Banking company at Central Point, Or.

He was not only public spirited but also a man of generous nature always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need. He died at his home 100 Roosevelt avenue, Medford, Oregon, May 26, 1911, after several months of intense suffering resulting from an attack of la grippe followed by heart failure.

He leaves a wife and son, George R., who were present at his bedside at the time of his death, five brothers and one sister, viz J. H. and Wil Lindley of Iowa; S. M. Bindly of South Dakota; Richard Lindley of Nebraska and Mary E. King of Nebraska, and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. His sister Miss King and husband of Nebraska will arrive Tuesday evening and the funeral will be held from the residence Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, May 21st. Interment in the Odd Fellows cemetery, Rev. L. F. Belknap will have charge of the services.

CLUB WINDING UP YEAR'S WORK

Next Monday Last Meeting Before Annual Election of Officers Will be Held by Ladies of Greater Medford Club.

The Greater Medford club will hold its last meeting before the annual election of officers Monday, May 29, in the club room. Mrs. H. C. Kentner has filled the office of president most efficiently the past year, and it is to be hoped that she can be persuaded to again occupy the chair. The club has made quite a great many improvements this past year, and hopes to be able to accomplish more the coming year.

In the civic improvement of a city the women can do a great deal if backed by the men, and there is no end to the municipal reforms they can help to accomplish. In all the large cities this is a recognized fact, and it is to be hoped that this feeling will develop here, for much greater results can be accomplished when all work together. The women of the valley want to feel that they have a hand in the development of the town as well as the men, and stand ready to join in with them in any work they are able to do.

Through the effort of the club the expectation ordinance is being enforced, and the sidewalks and halls are in much better condition. An effort was made to have trees planted uniformly on all graded streets last year and again this year, but as the women could not plant them themselves and no one could be gotten to oversee the work, it was not done. Twenty-five benches have been ordered for the park, and an appeal has been made to the different organizations in town to help so that 25 more may be purchased. The seats cost $15 a piece. The new park has no seats at all. The nucleus for a museum has been started. Dr. Porter giving 500 birds, if the club would mount them, and 100 are now being mounted, the rest to be done as the money can be raised. The collection will be put in the new library when it is finished.

All the walks in the parks have been regraded, trees planted along the right of way of the Southern Pacific. These are a few of the things the club has done this year. But it takes money to do most of the work and this can only be raised by personal and individual effort of the club. The opera given by the club was not a success financially as only a small amount over expenses was taken in. Another entertainment will be given June 6 at the Natatorium. The special feature of the entertainment will be living pictures, some of them representing the masterpieces. Some good musical numbers will also be introduced.

In order that the affair may be a success the women are selling the tickets themselves. Much as they dislike the occupation, and the least the men can do is to buy at least one ticket from them to give them encouragement to ask another man to do the same. For it takes a great amount of courage to do that kind of work, and it shows how interested the women are when they will do it.

SOME BALL GAME TODAY. Medford and Grants Pass will meet again today on the Medford diamond. The game is creating more than usual interest. One of the hardest fought games of the season will be seen today. The Medford bunch is just rounding into condition and getting their batting eye. While Grants Pass has a good team and have won four out of the five games played, the home boys think they have an even chance to win. The games played have been hotly contested, while Medford team does not concede yet that past games have shown their relative strength and that they are the equal of Grants Pass in every department excepting in the catching department. Outside of that there is little to choose between the two teams. The Grants Pass boys are hitting the ball better than last season, while the Medford team has fallen down, and are dubbed the hitless wonders by the Grants Pass daily.

Who knows? You may see another of those heart-breaking games today, with Sheezy and Osborne in the box. The game should be another pitchers' battle. Flip a coin and take your choice.

Will Refit Ship. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—An appropriation of $10,000 will be included in recommendations by the senate ways and means committee to fit the old warship Portsmouth for a trip to San Francisco where she will be kept in future. The Portsmouth did service on the Pacific Coast during the Mexican War.

ROGUE VALLEY IS BEST, SAYS NEIL

Capitalist Interested in Local Project Tells of What Induced Him to Come Here—Points Out Chance Offered Man of Moderate Means

R. K. Neil, one of the capitalists connected with the Rogue River Canal company, is a great believer in the future of this valley. In an interview Saturday he said:

"On my first trip to this part of Oregon, I was engaged to come here and examine mining property for an eastern company. After getting through with the work, I was so taken up with the country, I spent considerable time looking over the hills from Grants Pass to Ashland. I believe there is no better place in the United States to live in than right here in the Rogue river valley.

"Any good man with moderate means and a family, that is willing to work, will prosper on 10 acres of irrigated lands. I can see that Medford valley in a few years more will be brought up to a high cultivation. When this comes about, there will be no place that will be more beautiful to live in. The surrounding hills along the edges of the valley make beautiful panorama scenery. Those who live here will surely enjoy looking at them from day to day.

"I believe if you will work with the same energy to get families that are willing to work and till the soil of this valley in ten or twenty acre tracts, in time they will become very prosperous. When this is brought about, nothing will prevent your city from being very prosperous and it will soon reach the 50,000 mark. Real good farming close to a young city like Medford is one of the greatest assets to help along its growth. I have seen mining towns built up to 10,000. Then when the mines are worked out, in a few years there might be half a dozen people living in that same town.

"The people you get to till the soil will be the means of bringing about great changes. You will raise all your own products, you will become large exporters, and the hard cash will be coming in and placed in your banks instead of going out of the country. The more money you have in your city and keep in circulation the more it will help all businesses. I find that any community that keeps sending out money to buy supplies that they should raise at home, it won't be long before the other fellow has all the money and all you have left is your property."
