

MRS. WOODFORD PASSES AWAY

Wife of Medford Postmaster Died This Morning—Crossed Plains in 1865—Has Been a Resident of Medford Since 1884.

Mrs. A. M. Woodford, a well known resident of Medford died at 10 o'clock Friday morning at her home, 522 South Holly street. Typhoid fever, together with a complication of diseases, was the cause of her death. She was taken sick Saturday afternoon and gradually grew worse.

Born in Atchison county, Kansas, March 5, 1856, she crossed the plains in a prairie schooner with her parents in 1865, and lived for some time at The Dalles, Ore., coming to Douglas county sometime afterwards.

Her maiden name was Eliza Dyer. On December 27, 1875, she was married to Mr. Woodford and with her husband, came to Medford in August, 1884.

She was a member of the Eastern Star and was an earnest church worker, being a member of the Christian church.

A husband and five children survive her, of whom two, Ruth and Ralph, reside here; of the others Miss Myrtle Woodford resides in Portland, Mrs. F. A. Williams in Grants Pass and Mrs. J. A. Lamb of Coquille, Or.

John Perl is in charge of the funeral arrangements and Rev. Matlock will have charge of the ceremonies. Funeral notice later.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT IS NOW UNDER WAY

Only three rounds of play were engaged in at the opening of the Southern Oregon Lawn Tennis association Saturday morning. The events were one round of mixed doubles and two rounds of men's singles. Straight wins characterized every event.

In the first single event for men George Henry of Jacksonville defeated Merrit Merriman of Central Point 6-2-6-2, and was in turn defeated by John Beasers of Medford 2-6-60-60. In the mixed doubles, J. P. Wells and Frances Kenney of Jacksonville were defeated by J. W. Eager and Mrs. Scott of Talent, 3-6-2-6.

Both junior and senior singles and doubles are being played this afternoon and the finals will be played tomorrow afternoon.

ive ideas prevail. The Oregonian and the Journal of Portland both gave the story prominence and both commented editorially on the advantages of this section for the establishment of such an institution. San Francisco and Denver papers published the account of the offer sent out on the United Press association wire. Other cities east probably did the same but as these papers have not as yet had time to reach Medford the manner in which they handled it is not as yet known.

It rather surprised the Medford boosters that Ashland should break into the game. Medford was not after the university for Medford but for the Rogue River valley. Local boosters did not care whether the institution was placed at one end of the valley or the other so long as it was placed in the Rogue River valley. It meant the expenditure of as much money in the county as the present assessed valuation and it made little difference whether it was placed in or without any of the cities in the valley.

Local boosters are jubilant over the way the matter worked out. It has proved nearly as great an advertising scheme as the creation of the state of Siskiyou and would have as great an effect had the lists been open for the next two weeks, but Mrs. Harriman has put an end to it by announcing that she does not intend to build a university.

However, lest a misunderstanding arise, Medford was not bluffing with her offer to Mrs. Harriman. The site for the university would have been given and a cash bonus too, if it had been necessary. Medford never falls down when she goes after anything.

ALL TALKING OF THIS CITY

Chief Engineer Gen. of Pacific & Eastern. Says Reports Published in Portland Papers of Medford Sets Metropolis Talking.

"The offer Medford made Mrs. E. H. Harriman to secure the university she was quoted as saying she would erect as a memorial to her late husband, has set Portland talking," says Chief Engineer Gerig of the Pacific & Eastern, who returned from Portland this morning. "On all sides comments were made regarding the progressiveness of Medford."

"The editorial in the Oregonian Thursday led them to discuss the matter further and whenever the fact that I was from Medford came up, it immediately started them talking of this city in connection with the university. It was a splendid advertising stunt."

COURT HALL IS SOME MANBIRD

Curtiss Machine Gets Away With Him and Up He Goes—Has Splendid Ride for Some Seventy-five Feet—Doesn't Like It.

Court Hall, baseball magnate, billiard shark, and automobilist, has added one more pursuit to his vocations in life. He is now a man bird, aviator, aeronaut, or aerial chauffeur. It may be that he, and not Eugene Ely, will carry among the clouds Saturday afternoon for the delight of Medford people.

Court climbed into the aeroplane day. While it was only some 75 feet in distance it demonstrated his wonderful skill. It happened thusly:

Court climbed into the aeroplane at the aviation grounds to see where world renowned men sit. No sooner had he settled there that a brisk wind caught the machine and started it down the cinders. Thinking he was grasping a brake Court putted hard on a lever and lo! the machine

STORAGE BATTERY IS IMPROVED

Thomas A. Edison Announces Invention Which Will Revolutionize Application of Power Where Compactness Been Chief Requirement.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Members of the National Electric Lighting association before whom Thomas A. Edison divulged his latest invention are talking today of the claims made for a new storage battery. Edison, who has been working for years on the invention, believes that at last he has overcome the three objections to the old storage battery—bulk, weight and length of time required to store. His new battery, he told the association, is so small and light that one large enough to drive a delivery wagon could be put in a suit case and it can be stored in five minutes.

started to climb. For seventy-five feet was he carried before the breeze died and he came down with a bump. He says Ely may like to fly but he doesn't.

CONTRACT LET FOR SISTERS' HOSPITAL

In order to secure title to the site and deed it to the sisters, so that work could be expedited, members of the hospital soliciting committee of the Commercial Club consisting of Messrs Pickel, Conroy, Porter, Reddy and Putnam have had to advance a considerable sum of money out of their own pockets to make up the unpaid subscriptions, now overdue. They call upon all subscribers to send their checks for subscriptions at once to Dr. E. B. Pickel at once. The committee will be obliged to turn over uncollected subscriptions to a notary for collection June 5.

The site costing approximately $10,000 was given the Sisters as a bonus. The money to purchase it was raised by a committee appointed by the Commercial Club. Free water has been donated by the city and cheap lights by the Rogue River Electric Company.

The plans for the new building are on exhibition at Haskins Drug store. The building will be four stories in height with a full basement. It is a very handsome structure and will be, when completed one of the show places in the city.

GREATER MEDFORD SHOW ON TUESDAY

The final preparations are being made for the living picture entertainment to be held Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Greater Medford club in the large hall at the Natatorium.

The show will be unique in that the identity of the performers is unknown save to the committee in charge. The most famous of the world's masterpieces will be portrayed by living models.

During the changes of poses there will be musical numbers by the best talent procurable. The ladies in charge are well pleased with the progress being made and are enthusiastically anticipating a big success.
