Trade With African Coast Picking Up

THE S.S. ARNOLD AMSINCK

CAPT. JOSEPH SCHELLHARN

NEW YORK, June 7.—Not since the days when the windjammer was queen of the seas, some fifty years ago, and the greatest chance in life which could befall an African native was to become a slave, has there been much trading between New York and the ivory and gold coasts. Only one steam vessel of an established line, the Karl Woermann, has left this port bound for the West African coast since the slave days.

But this condition will be changed June 1, for by that time the steam freighter Arnold Amsinck, of the Woermann line, which is allied with the Hamburg-American line, will be on her way across the Atlantic loaded with an assorted cargo. Captain Joseph Schellharn will be in command.

The Arnold Amsinck resembles the ordinary freighter only from an exterior view. She looks as though her builders had a wholesome disregard for the value of mahogany, for ever to her decks she is built solidly of this expensive wood. Four-inch planking on her decks and all deck houses and interior decorations, trimmings, doors, sashes, etc., are of the same material. But that is because she goes where mahogany is so common as pine. The trip on which the trader is about to depart will extend over a period of four months—one to get there, two to trade and one to return.

She carries, among other things, 50 casks of beer. In an especially built hold is stored 50 tons of ice. So that there may be a supply of fresh meat 12 sheep are at present eating peacefully on deck on board the trader, and in another part of the deck there is a variegated assortment of pigs, hogs and geese.

Victor Lanquille, who has been in Medford for several days, left Thursday for Grants Pass. P. S. Steenstrup of the Pacific Motor Supply company left Friday morning on a business trip to Portland. J. I. May of Central Point has been for the past fortnight bringing in 20 crates of luscious strawberries every day to the Medford markets. Friday he brought in 30 crates. TRUST PUT AN END TO CUT-THROAT METHODS

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9.—James E. Gayley, former superintendent of the Carnegie Steel company, took the stand today before the Stanley committee investigating the steel trust. He asserted that ruinous cut-throat competition obtained prior to the time the United States Steel corporation was formed. The conditions then existing, if they had continued, he testified, would have ended in the strongest company securing a monopoly.

He corroborated statements by John W. Gates that Carnegie contemplated entering the tube and wire business. The valuation placed on the Carnegie property, he testified, was $75,000,000 during the Frick-Carnegie litigation. This, he said, was no where near its valuation based on its earning capacity.

GOVERNOR LIKES REFERENDUM IDEA

Solution of Alleged Abuses is to File Petitions With County Clerk: Where Registered Voters May Call and Sign Them.

SALEM, Or., June 9.—Suggestions have been coming to Governor West along the line of getting a law passed to correct alleged abuses of referendum privileges. One of these, which the governor says, seems to him to offer a solution, is a plan to require referendum petitions to be filed with county clerks over the state, permitting voters who wish to sign them to do so by going to the clerk's office. After the date of signing has passed the clerks will be able to certify to the petitions. Only registered voters are to be allowed to sign these petitions under the proposed law.

This plan will probably soon be framed into an initiative measure to be submitted to the people.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY AUTOMOBILE

Frightened by an automobile crashing into the rear of a buggy to which it was attached a horse belonging to Dr. Courroy ran away Friday morning but was stopped before any material damage was done. The rig was standing in front of the physician's office on Main street when Mrs. A. D. Johns, who was driving an automobile, drove along the curb behind it. In some manner she lost control of the car and it bumped against the rear of the buggy which ran against the horse which took fright and dashed down Main street to Central avenue. It was stopped in front of the Palace hotel and taken back to where the accident occurred. Outside of a little scratched paint and some torn leather facings no damage was done.

REPORTED THAT TREASURE SHIP IS SUCCESSFUL

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 19.—Ensenada is greatly excited over the reported success of the treasure ship Eureka, that has been seeking the $15,000,000 buried treasure off the Honduras coast, according to passengers arriving on the steamer San Diego today.

When the San Diego left Ensenada last night, residents of that town were standing in excited groups, discussing the report from Salina Cruz that the Eureka was found north with the treasure. The report here was that the treasure boat would transfer the valuable cargo at Ensenada, putting it on another vessel.

GAS FRANCHISE IN HANDS OF COUNCIL

Klamath Falls City Fathers Are Determined to Control Rates Before Granting 50-Year Permit to Local Gas Company.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., June 9.—Mayor E. T. Sanderson has begun his fourth term as the city's chief executive, and the council is accorded the granting of franchises. The first matter before the new council was the consideration of the new franchise asked by the F. W. Bordman Gas company. This firm was granted a franchise about two weeks ago to establish and maintain a gas plant in this city for a period of 50 years, the city reserving the right at all times to regulate the charges to be made for gas. The company let the franchise go by default, and asked for a new one which provides that the city shall not have the right to regulate the charge for gas for all purposes. The new franchise was read the first time, but was not passed to a second reading. There was no discussion on the matter, but it was very evident that the gas company would not get a 50-year franchise unless the city secured the right to regulate the rates on gas.

$50,000 to Stop Water. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 9.—Fifty thousand dollars is what it cost the Southern Pacific railway to stop a spring in one of the tunnels on the Bay Shore cut-off just south of San Francisco. The spring forced itself through the concrete wall of the tunnel and it was only after several months of labor that the railroad engineers succeeded today in capturing the spring.
