

BURIED ALIVE FOR 34 HOURS

Utah Miners Caught by Cave-In Rescued After Being Imprisoned for Day and a Half—Kept Alive by Air Pumped in From Pit's Mouth.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 1.—Before thousands of persons who gathered at the mouth of the Whirlwind Mine, in American Fork Canyon, today Timothy Smith and Walter Durrant were rescued after having been entombed by a cave-in for 34 hours. Both were almost exhausted, but will recover in a few days. Smith and Durrant were saved from their living tomb only through desperate exertions by 150 men working in forty minute shifts day and night since the two were caught. The two men were entombed in a hollow containing less than 300 cubic feet of space and were kept alive only by air pumped to them from the pit mouth. In their narrow prison it was intensely cold and icy water was constantly dripping upon them, as, faint with hunger, they waited for rescue or death.

There was great jubilation at the mouth of the mine when the two were carried out barely alive.

OBITUARY OF MRS MARGARET HILLS

Margaret Hills was born March 6, 1834 and died June 23, 1911. She crossed the plains with her first husband Solomon Manwaring and four children two of whom died on the way. Wm. Manwaring died and was buried at Rock Point.

She was married to Wm. Peck Hills in July 1865. From this union there were five children all of whom survive her. William Hills, John Hills, Mrs. Mary Moore, Mrs. Maggie Taylor and Mrs. Elizabeth Simmerville; also fourteen grand children to mourn her loss.

Mrs. Hills knew something of the trials and hardships of pioneer life on the Pacific Coast and yet lived to pass her seventy-seventh year. Four weeks before her funeral she attended the service at the Wimer church when the writer was pleased to minister to her the Word of Life. She always extended a welcome with a ready heart and hand and many a time it has been my privilege to sit with her and her family at the table and partake of her hospitality. The sturdy virtues of the early pioneer contributed to a long and useful career in spite of the contest with primitive conditions before which many a weaker nature gave way. She leaves behind a family whose oneness is evident although separated by family ties of their own. No better evidence of a well ordered home can be found than the fact that her five grown children all having families of their own are so near to each other that all were present at the funeral without having to overcome time and distance.

The writer by request of the family performed the last kind office for the dead on Sunday, June 25, 1911. She was buried by the side of her husband, Wm. P. Hills in the Woodville cemetery. A large concourse of sympathizing friends from Evans Creek and Woodville attended the funeral.

She has now fallen asleep and what is our loss is her eternal gain. Dearest mother, thou has left us And our loss we deeply feel, But tis God that has bereft us; He can all our sorrow heal, Yet again we hope to meet thee When the day of life is fled: When in Heaven with joy to greet thee, Where no fare well tear is shed. JOHN E. DAY.

LOST WHITE HOPE AND GAUDY BLACK

NEW YORK, July 1.—While Jack Johnson, attired in giddy raiment, was crowded up close to the front row to see the king go by on Coronation day, James J. Jeffries, ex-champion, slept peacefully in the room of an obscure London hotel. Jeffries and his wife returned today on the Mauretania.

"We were forced to stop at an obscure hotel," said Mrs. Jeffries while James granted an assent. "I saw the parade, but Jim stayed in his room and slept."

OMAHA, Neb.—Giving prizes with packages of merchandise, premium coupons or trading stamps is made illegal in Nebraska by an act which went into effect today. Merchants and manufacturers have prepared to fight the law.

Is a Crack Shot

MISS MAUDE BLACK

MUSKOGEE, July 1.—Revenue officers whose hats were shot off by Maude Black, a comely, dark haired girl, when they went prowling into the Kiamichi mountains seeking "moonshiners" are not going to get off so easy next time, according to her declaration in court. She is held here as a witness in a case against John Thompson and "Jim" Cantrell, captured in a raid near Eufaula. The girl is Thompson's sweetheart, and, angered by his arrest, she threatens to take better aim hereafter.

She declared she was an expert rifle and revolver shot, and in answer to a query as to her marksmanship said calmly: "Oh, I could shoot that officer's star off his breast at one hundred yards without any trouble. Once I shot two officers' hats off when they came nosing around too near. I could have killed them, but didn't want to do that. I stood guard, you know, while John and "Jim" worked the still."

Maude Black is barely out of her teens, but has earned the title of "Queen of the Moonshiners." Her hair is of the darkest hue and she wears it in two long braids over her shoulders. Her eyes are dark and presented an unfathomable depth when she appeared on the witness stand and frankly told the story of her life among the moonshiners.

NO DECISION IN OUR RATE CASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1.—The decision of the interstate commerce commission in the Spokane, Medford and other allied cases probably will not be announced until September, according to indications today. It was expected that the decision would be announced before the commission adjourns Saturday for the summer.

Commissioner Prouty, who is preparing opinions in the case, has gone to Vermont and will not return for two or three months, and it is unlikely that he will forward his opinion by mail.

YOUNG FRENZIED FINANCIER BUYS CIGAR ON FLASH

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 1.—The youngest frenzied financier on record had his inning before Superior Judge Hutton today in the juvenile court. He was Joseph Dresser, aged 13, who bought a cigar stand on the flash of a "phoney" roll of bills and operated the place for two days.

At that time the owner, H. M. Smith, who supposed he had sold it for $1250, "got wise" and the juvenile officers started a search for Dresser.

Smith told Judge Hutton he was out $100, two days' sales. Judge Hutton only laughed.

"If you let a boy of Dresser's tender age 'bunco' you," said Judge Hutton, "you ought to be out."

The boy was released on probation in custody of his father.

ARIZONA FOREST FIRES EXTINGUISHED BY RAIN

NOGALES, Ariz., June 30.—After being hemmed in by forest fires that raged on three sides of Nogales since Wednesday, rain early today brought relief after two days of terrific suffering from heat. Scores of persons in Nogales were prostrated and hundreds of head of cattle in territory adjacent to Nogales succumbed to the heat. Forest rangers and soldiers of the Sixth cavalry who have been fighting the fires since the middle of the week, returned here today and reported that their rain had completely extinguished the flames.

CANDY AND FRUIT CHECKS REBELLION

Girls in Reformatory Start Mob Rule—Say Their Actions Were Inspired by Lack of Food and Inhuman Treatment.

WHITTIER, Cal., July 1.—Ten pounds of chocolate candy and a cart-load of oranges caused 76 girl inmates of the state-reformatory here to lay down their arms, following a rebellion which left them in almost complete charge of the school. Seven of the leading spirits of the mutiny are today lodged in the Los Angeles jail awaiting a hearing before Judge Wilbur in the juvenile court.

The maiden rebels claim the rioting was due to inhuman treatment and poorly cooked food. Reformatory officials say the trouble was started by a new comer from San Francisco, who, when she attempted to escape from the institution, was locked up. The girls, they say, resented the new girl's incarceration and massed in a break for liberty.

After breaking down several yards of fencing the girls, armed with scissors, curling irons, butcher knives and forks, reached the street in a body and attacked a teamster who fell in their path with a load of oranges. At this stage an official promised to release the San Francisco girl if the others would come back into the building. This was agreed to but later the girls vented their plique on the institution by breaking furniture and smashing windows.

Parole Officer Moudant of Los Angeles, hearing of the trouble, distributed $10 worth of candy among the rioters and disorder gave way to peace.
