

RECIPROCITY MEASURE IS PASSED

PRESIDENT'S PET PROJECT ADOPTED; VOTE 53 TO 27

TAFT WILL SIGN ON WEDNESDAY

Score of Amendments Offered and Defeated Before Measure Finally Goes to a Vote—Passed in Same Form as in House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Reciprocity with Canada, President Taft's biggest project since he assumed the office, was assured today when the senate passed the measure in practically the same shape in which it had passed the house. The vote was 53 to 27. President Taft got the measure for signature today, and he will sign it on his return from Beverly next Wednesday.

The McCumber amendment to the reciprocity measure was defeated by a vote of 44 to 13 just before the measure itself was put on its passage. The amendment provided for the reduction of duties on various household articles.

Nelson's Amendment Defeated. Nelson's amendment placing duties on grain, butter, cheese, horses, cattle and sheep, and the Simons amendment placing meat products on the free list also were defeated. Nelson's amendment went down 55 to 23 and Simons' 64 to 19.

A number of amendments offered by Senator Cummings were defeated on a viva voce vote. La Follette called for the sixth time his wool amendment and it was defeated 16 to 64. Borah, Bourne, Bristol, Brown, Clapp, Cummins, Cummins, Dixon, Gronna, Kenyon, McCumber and Nelson were the republicans supporting the amendment.

La Follette Defeated. La Follette's amendment, reducing the duties on cotton goods was rejected, 15 to 63 and his amendment for the free listing of wool pulp and print paper after January next went down, 11 to 67.

Bailey's amendment placing on the free list numerous articles was beaten, 15 to 63; McCumber's amendment putting Harness and saddlery on the free list was lost 15 to 64 and Bailey's amendment free listing cotton bagging was defeated 17 to 62.

The democrats who opposed the reciprocity measure on final passage were: Bailey, Clark and Simons. The republicans who voted against the measure were: Borah, Bristol, Bourne, Clark, Clapp, Cummins, Crawford, Curtis, Dixon, Gronna, Heyburn, Kenyon, LaFollette, Lippitt, Lorimer, McCumber, Nelson, Oliver, Page, Smith of Michigan, Smoot and Warren.

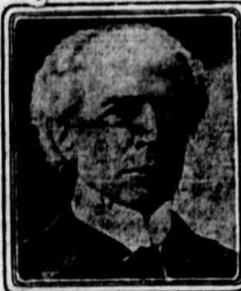

The democrats who voted for the bill were: Bacon, Bankhead, Bryan, Chamberlain, Chilton, Culberson, Davis, Fletcher, Foster, Gore, Hitchcock, Johnson of Maine, Johnston of Alabama, Kern, Martin, Martine, Meyers, Newlands, O'Gorman, Overman, Owen, Paynter, Pomerene, Reed, Shively Smith of Maryland, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Swanson, Taylor, Watson and Williams.

The republicans who voted for the measure were Bradley, Brandegee, Briggs, Brown, Burton, Crane, Cullom, Guggenheim, Lodge, McLean, Nixon, Penrose, Perkins, Poindexter, Richardson, Root, Stephenson, Townsend, Wetmore and Works.

Ten senators were paired on the reciprocity vote. Of these Dillingham, Sutherland and Thornton were present. The absentees were Frye, Lea, Tillman, Gallinger, Rayner, Dupont and Percy.

The final vote came only after fifteen roll calls had been taken on the various amendments offered. When the result was announced, Senator Penrose moved to make the democratic wool bill the unfinished business of the senate. This was carried, and another motion to make the meeting time of the senate hereafter 12 o'clock instead of 11 o'clock was agreed to.

UNIQUE ELECTION SLOGAN.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

"Follow my white plume" may be the liberal battle cry in the impending general election in Canada. Addressing his compatriots Sir Wilfrid Laurier exclaimed: "Like Henry IV, I say to you young men: 'Follow my white plume—the white hairs of sixty-nine years—and you will, I believe I can say without boasting, find it always in the forefront of honor.'"

MEN SET FIRE IN TIMBER OF C. L. LUMBER

Edgar S. Hafer Offers $100 Reward for Information Leading to Firebugs Detection—Loses 20 Cords of Wood.

Fire was deliberately set out in the holdings of the Crater Lake Lumber Company near Butte Falls Saturday afternoon and only prompt measures by Warden Patten and Ed Walker who organized a crew of fire fighters and rushed to the scene saved a large amount of wood from being burned. As it was a small amount of timber and 20 cords of wood burned.

Edgar S. Hafer manager of the company last night offered a reward of $100 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the firebugs. The fire started about 2 o'clock in the afternoon back about sixty feet from the road in slashing which had been piled up this summer by the wood crews. Evidence that it was deliberately started has been secured by Ed Walker who represents the company on the tracts. As soon as the fire started Warden Patten who is working under the direction of the Jackson County Fire Patrol association of which the company is a member, organized a force of fire fighters and started for the scene. Mr. Walker secured what men he could and by six o'clock the fire was under control.

"This is not the first year we have been troubled with fire bugs" stated Mr. Hafer last evening, "and we are getting tired out. It may be that we will have to put some one on the watch for these men. If we get them we will spare no expense in pressing the charge."

INDIANS ARE DEFEATED BY EX-COLLEGE BOYS

SEATTLE, Wash., July 22.—Rowing easily, two eight oared crews, the first composed of college stars and stroked by Brons Beck, who rowed on Yale, and the second composed of high school boys, defeated there 11 paddled Hoods Canal Indian crews in a mile and a half race on Lake Union yesterday. The result greatly surprised the natives.

Home prosperity depends upon home industry, and state-wide prosperity will be greater if factories selling "Made in Oregon" goods are patronized by the local merchants.

UNCLE SAM TO EXPERIMENT IN ROGUE VALLEY

S. Fortier, Chief of Irrigation Investigations, Visits Valley and States That Experiments Will be Conducted Locally.

ROGULANDS, INC., GIVES THE NECESSARY GROUND

Work Will Begin This Fall Under the Direction of A. P. Stover Who Worked With Fortier in Past.

The United States government is to conduct a number of irrigation experiments in the Rogue River Valley. Work will be started this fall upon a tract of land furnished by Rogulands, Inc. An announcement was made to this effect Saturday afternoon by S. Fortier, chief of the irrigation investigations of the department of agriculture after he had spent a day touring the valley. The work will be under the direction of A. P. Stover who has had charge of several irrigation investigations for Mr. Fortier.

Mr. Fortier states that the government will endeavor not only to determine the amount of water needed by different fruits and vegetables in this valley but will carry on considerable new work and introduced a number of new varieties of cereals, fruits and garden truck. The working out of the experiments will mean first to the valley as it will furnish first hand information to users of water throughout the valley based upon actual tests made in the valley.

Mr. Fortier states that he has passed through the Rogue River Valley a number of times but that he never had the opportunity of stopping off at this point before. He has directed similar experimental work in other sections of the northwest. Needless to state he was charmed with the conditions which he found in this valley.

"I find that here as in other parts of the country," stated Mr. Fortier, "that water is not an actual necessity. But I can also see that water will be of benefit during the summer and that it will be of great value as an insurance. With water over this valley I believe that it will come even a greater paradise than it is now."

"The Rogue River Valley is a great section. Never have I seen a valley with more perfect conditions than exist here. Of course my hobby is irrigation and I hope to see the entire valley under water."

Mr. Fortier while in the valley was the guest of Fred N. Cummings who is the manager of the company giving the land for the establishing of the experiment station.

AUSTIN THINKS NELSON IS STILL SOME FIGHTER

SEATTLE, Wash., July 22.—Lonnie Austin, former amateur welterweight champion of the Pacific coast and boxing instructor for the Seattle Athletic club, who boxed six rounds with Battling Nelson at Aberdeen last Wednesday, says that the Dane is by no means all in, and thinks he would make a good showing with Wolgast if they were matched again.

ANDERSON SAYS HE IT NOT TO BLAME FOR BANK CRASH

REDDING, Cal., July 22.—Aldea Anderson, former state superintendent of banks, arrived unexpectedly here today from a tour of Europe. Defending his action in the failure of the Bank of Shasta county, Anderson declared he had done nothing unlawful. He said the bank's insolvent condition was never officially reported to him and that had he been in office three months longer, there would have been no failure.

Look among the classified ads for the address of your next boarding place!

SINGLER NABS GREEK WANTED FOR SHOOTING

Alone and Single-Handed Constable Visits Camp and at Point of Gun Puts the Shackles on Would-Be Murderer.

"EASY" SAYS GUS. "AFTER I GOT THE DROP ON HIM"

"Why Did You Shoot Him" Asks Constable—Because I Had a Gun," Answers Greek.

Alone and single handed Constable August Singler of this city on Friday night captured the Greek, Peter Janetos, wanted for shooting a fellow laborer at the railroad camp near Butte Falls last Saturday night. The capture was a nifty one as the Greek still carried his gun which he shot his companion and had the day before pulled it on two other Greeks whom he thought were after him. Singler got the drop on the man at the point of his gun forced him to submit to the handcuffs, after which there was nothing to fear.

Singler got a tip Thursday night that Janetos was hiding out in the brush near the railroad camp and on Friday went up to do a little investigation on his own account. He learned that the man was hiding down the track about two miles and jumping on a handcar with two Greeks to help him propel it he started on a wild ride down the grade. He reached the spot where the man was said to be hiding out and there he found two other Greeks who were supposed to be the friends aiding Janetos. Singler's arrival upon the scene was so sudden that they could not conceal their surprise.

"Hid Behind Wood Pile. "Where is Janetos," demanded the constable.

"Who do you mean," asked the Greek in return.

"Never mind who I mean but come through."

Thereupon the two Greeks began to say they knew nothing of the man but one of them glanced suddenly around toward a nearby woodpile. Singler following the direction of the glance looked over the man's shoulder and noticed a hat disappearing behind the woodpile. Thereupon the constable ran around in a circular way until he could see behind the wood pile and there stood his man. Instantly the constable had him covered and order him to throw up his hands. The request was instantly complied with. Then at the point of a gun Singler forced the man to submit to handcuffs. He then took the Greek had away from him.

Then again the handcar was used and Singler brought the man to Medford. He is not lodged in the county jail. In coming down from the mountain Singler turned to Janetos and said:

"Why did you shoot your friend?" "Because I had a gun," answered Janetos and thereupon refused to make a further statement.

Janetos victim is resting easily at the Medford hospital and will recover. Assault with intent to kill will probably be the charge pressed against Janetos.

"It was very easy" said Singler, Saturday, "after I had the drop on him."

Support the manufacturers of your home city first, last and all the time, and you will help yourself to prosperity. But if your local factories cannot supply your wants, insist that the merchant carries "Made in Oregon" goods from other Oregon sources to supply your needs.

MURDERED HIS WIFE FOR LOVE OF AFFINITY

Henry Clay Beattie is Accused of Slaying His Wife in Order That He Might Resume Illicit Relations With a Former Love.

COUSIN TELLS OF BUYING SHOTGUN THAT HE USED

Story Told by Young Woman Rivals That Related by Evelyn Thaw.

RICHMOND, Va., July 22.—Cold blooded murder of his young wife, Louise Owen Beattie, in order that he might resume illicit relations with a girl who was the mother of his first child when she was only 15 years old, was the crime charged today by a coroner's jury against Henry Clay Beattie, a wealthy young banker, as the climax of a case which has convulsed Virginia society to the verge of a mob outbreak.

With forty policemen in attendance and a dozen automobiles ready to rush the prisoner to jail in case a rescue or a lynching was attempted, Beattie was formally accused by the jury here this afternoon, after his cousin, Paul Beattie, swore he bought the shotgun with which the young banker shot his wife to death late one night on the lonely Midlothian Pike.

Wild Demonstration. While the testimony of Paul Beattie, who was in a state of collapse was being taken by the coroner, the prisoner, cool and collected, listened intently. The demeanor of the crowd which jammed the court room was different. The most prominent men and women of Richmond composed the audience and indulged in a wild demonstration when the jury brought in their charge against the young banker.

Not one circumstance was found to support Beattie's claim that his wife was shot by an unknown man who stopped their automobile at night on the lonely road, but point after point was elicited that indicated that the banker had deliberately plotted to kill, and did kill, his young wife in order that she might be out of his way and leave free to conduct his liaison with Beaulah Binford, the girl he had discarded to lead to the altar the wife he is alleged to have cruelly slain.

Rivals Thaw Case. Never since the life history of Evelyn Thaw was bared to the world in a New York court room has a story been told which equals Beaulah Binford's tales of her relations with the rich banker. For four years, the girl testified, the two were intimately connected, and when she was fifteen year old she became the mother of Beattie's son, now dead. Prior to that time Beattie supplied money for her education at St. Mary's school, Alexandria.

Questioned at the inquest as to her relations with the alleged wife murderer, Miss Binford in a low voice told of agreeing to leave Richmond when Beattie was married. Four weeks ago, she said, she met Beattie accidentally in Norfolk, their old longing for each other was renewed and she returned to Richmond.

Met Him Secretly. Since that time, Miss Binford said, she had been meeting Beattie in hotels and rooming houses, and she had arranged to make her home here so as to be near the man whom she says ruined her life. Beattie, she said, had given her money with which to start the furnishing of a home where they were to meet, leaving the whole world outside the door.

The whole secret of the girl's life was told when she replied to the question: "Do you love Henry Beattie?"

"Rather than see him go to the electric chair," she replied, "I would

WILLIAM DUTTON FALLS INTO WHEEL; IS KILLED

JOHN E. PARSONS CALLED.

JOHN E. PARSONS

The Hardwick Sugar Investigating Committee will move from Washington to New York next week to continue its inquiry into the affairs of the American Sugar Refining Company. While in New York the committee will again call on John E. Parsons, one time counsel for the Sugar Trust, to tell what he knows about the combine.

WHILE WOMEN CHAT BURGLAR LOOTS HOUSE

Home of Mrs. Fifer at 103 South Oakdale is Robbed in Broad Daylight—Every Room in House is Entered—Watches Stolen.

While Mrs. B. F. Fifer and two of her friends sat on the front porch and chatted Saturday afternoon a burglar entered the house by way of a rear door and entering every room in the house stole considerable jewelry, silverware and other valuables. He then escaped. Shortly afterwards Mrs. Fifer entered the house and noticing several articles disarranged began an investigation which showed that the house had been robbed. The police were immediately notified.

The burglar secured considerable loot. Among the valuables taken were three gold watches. The burglar however in his haste dropped one of the watches in the back yard and this was found by the police. Considerable silverware was stolen. Authorities north and south were notified to be on the lookout for the man and he may be apprehended.

The burglary is one of the boldest ever occurring in this city. That the man should deliberately enter the house while the women were seated on the front veranda shows considerable nerve. Every room was entered, even one which is occupied by a roomer, who was asleep at the time and did not awaken.

Mrs. Wisner who resides in that neighborhood states that she saw a man in the rear of the house dressed in a checked suit. This is now believed to have been the burglar.

RICH MAN DIES OF A BROKEN HEART

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 22.—"Died of a broken heart" is the verdict here today of friends of L. A. McIntosh, one of the richest men of northern California, who died in a hospital here last night of what the physicians declared was pneumonia.

McIntosh, his friends say, practically grieved to death as the result of having been divorced from his wife. He was a resident of Chico, Cal., and had risen from a poor boy to the ownership of fabulously rich mines, his income from which was close to $100,000 a month.

RESIDENT OF VALLEY 8 YEARS

Is Said to Have Been Intoxicated—Team Does Not Run but Drags Unfortunate Man for More Than a Half Mile.

William Dutton, who resides in the Antelope district near Eagle Point, while in a drunken condition Saturday afternoon was killed by falling into a wheel of the spring wagon he was driving on the Eagle Point road. The man was dragged for more than a half mile, his head striking each spoke in the wheel. The team was not frightened and it did not run. Dutton was still alive when the team was stopped but died shortly afterward.

Dutton had been in town during the afternoon and started home shortly after 4 o'clock. After he had passed Crest Brook about a mile he fell from the wagon onto the tongue of the wagon, his head falling into such a position that each spoke of the front wheel on the left hand side of the wagon struck his head. Tracks in the road show that he was dragged for more than a half mile.

Team Stopped. Professor C. Englehardt, who resides in the first house on the left-hand side of the road before reaching the top of the hill overlooking the desert, was the man who stopped the team. He was working in a field nearby and noticed the team coming along with no one in the seat. He called to his wife in regard to the strange appearance of the wagon and then ran out into the road and stopped the team. He then freed Dutton from the position but the man died within a moment or two after he was freed. The team was traveling on a walk and was stopped without difficulty. Englehardt then called the police force in Medford and notified them.

The exact manner in which Dutton lost his life will never be known. He had been drinking while in Medford and it is believed that he had become so drunk that he was powerless to help himself when he fell into the wheel. Where his head was striking the wheel the paint is entirely worn off the spokes showing that he had been carried a great distance. His body was in a horrible condition, bloodstains covering his head and shoulders which had clotted with dust. His clothes were partially torn from his body.

As soon as the police were notified Constable Singler and Deputy Sheriff Shearer went to the scene. Chief Hitson and Deputy Coroner Perl followed, the latter with the ambulance in which the body was brought to the city. Son Notified. Mr. Dutton's son was in this city at the time of the tragedy and was at once notified. He went at once to the scene and later to his home where he had the sorrowful task of breaking the news to his mother, brothers and sisters.

Mr. Dutton was a man of some sixty years of age. He lived in the Antelope section and leaves a wife and eight children. They are Mrs. Jane Hunt of Eddyville, Ore., Geo. and William of Wisner, Idaho, Charles of Corvallis, Ed and Fred of Medford, Henry of Fossil and Mrs. Nellie Mooman of Williams. He had lived in this valley eight years, coming here from the Willamette valley. He was a native of Iowa.

The funeral services will be held from Perl's undertaking parlors at 2:30 o'clock Monday. Coroner Kellogg will hold an inquest Monday.

Since his family troubles culminated in the divorce courts, McIntosh has gone steadily down the hill in health. He arrived here Monday, accompanied by a physician, and died last midnight.

(Continued From Page Two.)