EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

(By A. C. Howlett.)

There is the subject of the division of the county again on the docket, embracing all of that portion of Jackson county lying east of Bear creek beginning at a point on Bear creek about half way between Medford and Central Point running east to where the line strikes Cantalope creek, thence up said creek to Climax, thence east to the present boundary line, thence along the said line to the intersection of the Josephine county line, thence south along said line to where it crosses Rogue river, thence up said Rogue river to a point opposite the mouth of Bear creek, thence across said Rogue river to the mouth of said Bear creek and up said Bear creek to the place of beginning. By that means saving the people of a large section of the present county the necessity of going almost across the county to reach the present county seat. Of course it will be left to those interested to say where the county seat will be but the natural and most suitable place will be Eagle Point with its many natural advantages, its fine water power, healthful advantages that we now enjoy.
