EAGLE POINT EAGLETS.

(By A. C. Howlett.)

W. H. Humphrey and wife traveling through the country in the interest of the E. C. Steward School Furniture & Supply house of Stockton, Cal., resident of San Francisco, Cal., spent the night with us Monday night, they called a meeting of the school board and laid their propositions before them but did no business, as the board thought best to await the action of the people on the subject of furnishing and opening up the fourth room. There is quite a number of young people here that would be glad to have the advantages of a good high school and the question will be submitted to the people for a decision at the special election this fall when we vote on the subject of direct tax for school purposes.

Mr. L. C. Dodge of Ashland and Mr. R. E. Grubbs of Sawtelle, Cal., came in last Monday evening and have remained until today, Thursday noon, when Mr. Dodge returned to Ashland, but Mr. Grubbs expects to remain until the first of next week. Mr. Dodge simply came over for an outing and to be with Mr. Grubbs, as they are both old veterans of the army. Mr. Grubbs is here gathering some of our beautiful stones and he had heard of the desert. He has a factory in Sawtelle where he cuts and polishes stones and he had heard of the abundant supply to be had by simply picking them up he had already gathered over 150 pounds that he expects to take back to his home in California. He hired a horse and buggy and makes a business of gathering them.

There is considerable excitement here today over a lawsuit in the justice court, his honor, Judge John Watkins presiding. The trouble is between Mr. Fred Pelouze and some of his neighbors over the water rights and the word comes as I am writing that Hon. B. F. Mulkey is coming out to attend to the case. There is quite a number of witnesses in attendance and the case promises to be one of interest as the parties to the suit are men of means and the defendant told me that he wanted the case carried up to a final settlement. The further proceedings next time I write.

In the absence of a qualified constable and the deputy sheriff being away Lew E. Smith is acting as constable in the case.
