

CORONER'S JURY AIDS WOMAN

Mrs. Anna Langley, Who Killed Her Husband in State of Collapse After Trying Ordeal—Jury Holds She Was Insane.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 4.—Free, but in a state of complete collapse after one of the most tremendous ordeals that a woman ever passed through Anna Langley, the girl wife who yesterday was confined in the city prison with a murder charge against her name, today lies at her home, in the very room in which she slept as a child, exhausted but with hope in her heart, for the first time in more than a year.

After the morning's ordeal in police Judge Deasy's court, the girl was taken directly to the coroner's inquest, where the horror that she had repeated so often, to officers, and reporters, again had to be gone over.

Then, after minutes that seemed years, came the verdict of the jury: "James Langley came to his death from a gunshot wound, the shot being fired by Anna Langley, his wife, while she was temporarily insane as a result of continuous intoxication and abuse on the part of her husband."

LAMB'S TENDON SEWED IN LEG OF A GIRL

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4.—By taking the tendon Achilles from the leg of a lamb and sewing it into the bone of the left leg of Melissa Oades, aged 11, physicians today expect her to soon regain the use of the lower limb, which has been paralyzed two years.

The operation was performed by Doctors Rich and March at the Good Samaritan Hospital.

The live tissue was taken from the animal and transferred to the girl, when both were under the influence of ether.

It is expected she will be able to walk in six weeks.

BILL IS READY FOR SIGNATURE

House Agrees to Accept Senate Amendments to Re-apportionment Bill and Measure Now Goes to President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—The house today agreed to accept the senate amendments to the re-apportionment bill and the measure will now go to the president for his signature. It is expected that this will be attached, although the measure is regarded in some respects as a democratic bill. Although the democrats secure gains in representation in the south, it is pointed out that the gain of six members from New York should tend to balance up matters and it is believed there will be no hesitancy in signing the measure.

The most important amendment is that which permits re-districting by initiative and referendum instead of by legislative action in states where these laws are in force.

STATE CONTROLS WATER RIGHTS

Violations of Water Laws Reported—Land Owners Cannot Longer Do as They Please With Streams Flowing Across Premises.

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 4.—Violations of the state water laws in a number of cases have been recently brought to the attention of the water superintendents and the state engineer. It is apparent that many landowners who have heretofore been doing what they please with the public waters flowing across their premises, should take notice that the old do as you please method has been replaced by a complete system of state control, with a central office of record at Salem.

To make this central record complete and of value, the diversion and use of water without first making application to the state engineer and securing a permit, was made a misdemeanor and punishable by either fine and imprisonment or both.

Another penalty, and one more likely to be enforced is the provision that no right whatever can be acquired by the diversion and use of water without compliance with law. A subsequent appropriator who complies with the law can take the water from one who has failed to make the necessary application, no matter how much has been expended upon such illegal diversion. These provisions apply to all lakes and streams of the state where new diversions are contemplated and to the enlargement of existing structures for the application of water to new or more extensive uses.

This law became effective February 24, 1909, and all persons who have diverted water without the necessary legal right since such date, should take notice.

A compilation of the water laws of the state has just been received from the state printer, and are now available for gratuitous distribution. Those desiring a copy should address the board of control, or the state engineer, Salem, Oregon.

TARIFF BILL IN CONFERENCE

After Senate Refuses to Accept House Amendments to Farmers' Free List Taking Off Lemons, Bill Goes to Conference.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 4.—After the senate today refused to accept the house amendment to the farmers' free list bill, taking the duty off lemons, the measure was sent to conference. Senators Penrose, Culom, LaFollette, Bailey and Simmons were put on the conference committee for the senate. They are also the conferees on the wool bill and the conference on the free list measure is to be virtually an extension of the wool conference.

Congressman Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee, heads the house conferees and it was practically decided today that to Underwood and LaFollette would be assigned the real work of making up the compromise measure.

Since it is a coalition of democrats and republican progressives that passed the two bills, it is conceded that a compromise measure which they endorse will be accepted by the various factions in the two houses. The standpat element will fight the measures, and the standpat members of the committee will submit a dissenting report.

It is predicted that the conference will agree on a 28 per cent duty on raw wool and a corresponding reduction in the manufactured article.
