Monoplane Overturns in Midair and Aviator Falls Forty Feet—Aviator Arthur Stone Unhurt but Machine is Total Wreck.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 12.—Overturning in mid air, with his Queen Monoplane Arthur Stone fell to the ground a distance of 40 feet at the aviation meet here today and escaped practically uninjured. Stone's machine was hopelessly wrecked.

It was first thought that Rene Simon, the "fool flyer" of the Moisant camp, was the victim of the fall and the mistake was not discovered until Stone had been rescued from the ruins of his aeroplane.

The meet, which is one of the most important ever held in America, both by reason of the prizes, aggregating more than $0,000, and the number of entries, opened today. Seven biplanes rose in the air as the first gun was fired.

LUMBER TRUST BEING PROBED

Various Rumors in Circulation Concerning Probable Matters to Be Investigated by Federal Grand Jury Now in Special Session at Tacoma.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 12.—Although various rumors are in circulation today concerning the probable matters to be investigated by the federal grand jury which convened yesterday in special session, the utmost secrecy is maintained by all persons connected with the district attorney's office and others, and no intimation of the real purpose for which the jurors were summoned, could be obtained. One rumor afloat about the federal building today is to the effect that the lumber trust, a score or more of whose members recently were indicted in Chicago for maintaining a combination in restraint of trade, is to be investigated on this coast and that indictments of prominent western lumbermen may be looked for.

United States Commissioner Samuel Bridges today declined either to confirm or deny this report, but assured newspapermen that they would be given "a good story" when the proper time arrives.

By some persons it is believed that the Alaska coal lands question will be looked into by the grand jury, but nothing tangible on the subject has developed and all statements as to the matters being inquired into are believed to be merely speculative. The jury will be in session until the latter part of next week.

RIGO SIGNS FOR FORMER WIFE

Gipsy Violinist Willing for Reconciliation With Clara Ward, American Beauty, Who Has Just Divorced Her Third Husband.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Rigo, the Gypsy musician who charmed the beautiful Clara Ward of Detroit away from her husband, the Prince de Caraman-Chimay, still sighs for her. It is said that a reconciliation is possible, now that the American beauty has been divorced from her third husband, Ricciardi, ex-stationmaster of the Vesuvius Funicular Railway.

At the Pavillon Bleu a cafe in the suburbs of Paris, Rigo was found caressing his violin. As soon as the name of Clara Ward was mentioned he sighed: "Poor princess!"

"Are you sorry for her?" he was asked. "I shall always remember her," he replied. "We have, in spite of everything, remained the best of friends. She writes to me quite often. You say Ricciardi has divorced her? What would you have, anyway? She has lived with him seven years. That is a long time! She cannot love a husband longer than seven years."

The jury will be in session until the latter part of next week.
