

PLACER PROCESS PROVES FAILURE

Near Gold Hill Loses $30,000—Appraisers Appointed To Determine Detroit Man's Company Operating Value Of Machinery.

The New Process Gold Mining Co., of Gold Hill, which attempted to extract placer gold from gravel by means of passing it over rubber plates, is bankrupt and the creditors therefore recently held a meeting in Medford to appoint a board of appraisers, who will ascertain the value of the property preliminary to selling it to satisfy the bills. The appraisers appointed are E. Trowbridge, of the Medford Iron Works; J. E. Davidson, a local mining man, and F. W. Dodge, a civil engineer of Gold Hill. The property consists of mainly a steam shovel that was used to loosen the gravel before it was run through the "new process."

The inventor of the so-called new process of placer mining was George W. Jones, an expert workman in the Morgan & Wright rubber tire factory at Detroit, Mich. He noticed in shipments of crude rubber received from Africa bright metallic particles, which he had tested and which proved to be gold. He at once jumped to the conclusion that rubber possessed a chemical affinity for the precious metal and with this idea in mind worked out his new process, which, upon being given an actual proved worthless. He made no allowance for the natural adhesive quality of soft rubber, which picked up the gold with sand as it was taken from the tree in Africa. He had no practical knowledge of mining.

His venture cost himself and those whom he succeeded in interesting in his project, mostly residents of Detroit, and personal friends of his, in the neighborhood of $30,000. Its visible assets are far below that figure.

TAFT LAUDS DECISIONS

"You can, perhaps, send some men to the penitentiary for creating these combinations which have cheapened the cost of production and given you most of your foreign trade and much of your prosperity, but what are you going to do with the capital invested, the plant, and the organization? You can confiscate it and ruin your country by a panic, but you can't divide such combinations into their component parts again, for the lines of division have disappeared into a common ownership.

"The court has met the issue and the queries by the doubters and scoffers. It has vindicated the majesty of the law and has at the same time manifested a due regard for the welfare of the innocent business men of the community at large.

"I am entirely opposed to any amendment of the anti-trust law. It is now a valuable government asset and instrument. Tested and brought into practical and beneficial use, why should we imperil its usefulness by experimenting?

"If the avowed purpose of those who would change it is to make it impossible to use reason in the construction of the statute, as the supreme court did, let the mover of the amendment formulate a case of restraint of interstate trade not condemned under the supreme court's construction of the statute which ought to be condemned. Let us avoid general expressions. Let us avoid charges of improper motives.

CAR WRECK IS NOW IN CITY

Remains Of Auto Which Was Destroyed By Flames Saturday Night Now In Medford—Owned By Ed Van Dyke.

The wreck of the automobile which was burned Saturday night near Eagle Point was brought into Medford this morning.

The car belonged to Ed a Van Dyke, of the a Van Dyke real estate company and had been loaned to Earl Bonner. There were four women and four men in the car besides Bonner, the driver, and when returning from a drive in Eagle Point and when four miles this side of that place the car caught fire and was destroyed.

The occupants narrowly escaped serious injuries as the gasoline tank exploded soon after the fire was discovered and the occupants had caught safety at a distance from the car.

HINTS OF WAR OVER MOROCCO AS THREE NATIONS REVIEW FLEETS

THE FIRST GERMAN DREADNOUGHT SQUADRON LEAVING KIEL

The review by Emperor William at Kiel a few days ago of Germany's great armada was witnessed by thousands of spectators, who had an opportunity of observing the progress made by the navy and to see the German fleet as it could take to sea to-morrow for action if necessary. That it may be necessary for Germany to show force in the settlement of the dispute in Morocco is the view advanced by several persons in Germany who are in a position to know the real status of the present situation. At the German naval review there were ninety-nine fighting ships, not including destroyers, torpedo boats, etc. At the French naval review at Toulon there were eighteen battleships, including six of the all big gun type, nine armored cruisers and twenty-five destroyers and torpedo boats. At the recent British naval review at Portsmouth there were 170 warships of all classes.

THOSE NEW HATS ARE AWFUL, MABLE!

Imagine Crowns Over a Foot In Height Terminating In a Rounded Point—A Few Better Shapes Are Shown But Not Many.

If the autumn suits now are being shown in Medford are marked by their dignity and moderation, many of the hats, on the contrary have reached the limits of absurdity and ugliness. The striving for height is responsible for the most hideous creations. One of the most attractive millinery motifs that have been in vogue for several seasons, the close hard, perpendicular brim, has been adapted, with increased ugliness, to the steeple crown. It has, moreover, been combined with the "ear" motif, which even at its best is hardly to be commended from an aesthetic point of view.

Imagine a crown quite a foot high and terminating in a rounded point. It is made of black velvet, and an upstanding brim, which at its shallowest point reaches more than half way up the crown and at its deepest merges into a pair of "ears" that soar a good bit above it, is of the same material. Between the brim and the crown there is a space that affords accommodation for white taffeta, which encircles the hat in folds and comes out in puffs at an opening between the "ears." The plainness of the brim opposite the "ears" is broken by a row of buttons. Another hat, a little similar to this but is still harder in outline, has a brim made of a single stiff flat piece wrapped around the crown with overlapping ends, each of which sends an elongated corner up above the lofty crown.

Less undesirable, though still a bit extreme, are some high hats with narrow brim which have their crown of taffeta arranged in rows of shirring that run from the base to the apex with puffs of the material between. The puffs sometimes assume alarming proportions, and on the whole, it is comforting to know that there are better things than any of these.

Some of the better things, for instance, are the charming little beavers with soft brims that shape themselves becomingly to the face. Their crowns are content with the humblest proportions, and their trimmings are of the simplest—just little bands and bows and other such unpretentious things. But their color combinations are charming. The hat may be in a beautiful fuchsia red shade, with the under brim black, and then the trimmings are a bit subdued; or it may be a dark blue, when a fancy band in which small quantities of various gorgeous material are artistically combined is likely to be brought in for brightness.

GOUGHAM MARKET SHOWS UNEASINESS

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The stock market opened irregular. Canadian Pacific lost 1 3/8, as did Amalgamated Copper, and Missouri Pacific lost 5/8; Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Erie first preferred advanced fractionally. The lower level was attributed in large part to uneasiness as to the nature of President Taft's Detroit speech. Two bank failures caused an unfavorable sentiment. The market closed steadily. Bonds were firm.

SUPERINTENDENTS ARE CHOSEN

Preparations For Great Industrial Fair Are Progressing Rapidly—All That Is Needed Now Is Co-operation To Assure Success.

The following superintendents for the district fair have been appointed: Horses—D. T. Lawton. Cattle—M. F. Hanley. Sheep and goat—G. L. Schermerhorn.

Swine—J. F. De Morrill. Poultry—W. Ashpole. Vegetables—F. E. Merritt. Grains—W. H. Everhard. Fruits—G. B. Carpenter and A. C. Fiero.

Ladies' textile department—Mrs. W. H. Canon. Culinary department, Mrs. H. C. Keatner. Art—Miss Putnam.

Floral—Mrs. J. L. Helms. Dairy—A. W. Bailey. Minerals—D. H. Jackson.

The premium lists show there is going to be something doing the first week of October when the district fair opens. These superintendents are to have charge of the various departments and are getting to work now to see that they have something to show which will reflect credit upon themselves and upon the Rogue River valley.

All that is needed now to make the big show a great success is the co-operation of the people with stock and products to put in the various exhibits. A number of fruit growers have put aside a portion of their crop to show at the fair, but others are needed. A cold storage plant has been reserved by the management, where any fruits set aside for the fair, will be given cold storage.

Race War On.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 18.—Two Japanese are said to be dead and several wounded on Santa Cruz Island, near here, today, as a result of race war over fishing privileges. The rich island is leased to a Japanese company of Los Angeles and whites when ordered off resisted and a pitched battle ensued.

ENGLAND AND GERMAN TO WAR

persistently hostile attitude towards France. Of France alone, Germany is not afraid.

It would even like the republic as an ally of its own. But as England's friend it is very much opposed to it indeed.

At the present time, the English navy being something like twice as strong as Germany's and England being as island, it is impossible for the fatherland to get at its arch foe. But it is not impossible for it to get at France, which lies across no more serious obstacle than an imaginary line with a defensive army almost as much weaker than the Germany as the German navy is weaker than the English.

Accordingly the German game is to annoy England through France. With each blow dealt from Berlin at French interests or French pride, the Kaiser advances an invitation towards England to come to its ally's aid. He is convinced that England care not do it, for the English army is microscopic even compared with the French and for a continual campaign, such as the English must engage in to protect France, of course, the English navy is of no use.

TOGGERY BILL GIVE BANQUET

Will Observe Removal To New Location—Salesmen Are Even Now Said To Be Preparing Farewell Adresses To The Old Quarters.

Toggerly Bill will be host to his sales force at a banquet to be given in the present quarters of the Toggerly on the night before the removal to the new location next to the Medford National bank. The banquet will be a farewell to the stand which has served so well and which is now too small to accommodate the Toggerly stock and trade.

The date for the banquet has not been announced but it will be in the very near future. It is understood that several of the salesmen are quietly rehearsing speeches they intend to deliver and that an interesting program of toasts is to be one of the features of the evening.
