MY! AREN'T THEY WORRIED

BARBERS GIVEN STATE EXAMS

Messrs. R. R. Wallace of Astoria, and H. G. Meyers, president and secretary respectively of the state board of barber examiners, are in Medford giving some of the Medford artists an examination.

They found thirty working barbers in the city and all have passed the required examination and to each of them a license has been issued.

This is the first visit the examiners have made to Medford in two years. H. W. Wood, one of the proprietors of the Wash shop, is a deputy examiner for Medford and he is empowered to make examinations and issue licenses.

SEATTLE—Why should we abhor the Mormon, who 'drives his wives abreast' and socially welcome the Seattleite, who drives them tandem? Rev. F. J. Van Horn, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, said in his sermon, when securing the divorce suit of Dr. and Mrs. Pontius who lived together only 21 days. Both of them had been divorced before.

TO TAKE SEWER ON NINTH

Street Commissioner Baker will have a gang of workmen engaged tomorrow in taking out the old sewer pipe on Ninth street from the alley near Front street to Riverside avenue and replacing it with a new line.

The old line was alright except that the discharge end at the trunk line was a very little higher than the intake and very little success has been achieved in efforts to compel water to run up hill.

Mr. Baker is also having deep sanitary and storm water sewer connections made at the city hall on Sixth street. The pipe here is being out in at a sufficient depth to permit of basement drainage for all of the city's property on this street.

JOHN R. WALSH TO BE PAROLED SOON

MAINE OFFICIALLY WET BY ONLY 20 VOTES

AUGUSTA, Maine, Sept. 19.—The "wets" won by a majority of 20 votes, according to incomplete official returns made known here today. The election was the repeal of a constitutional amendment making the sale of liquor illegal throughout the state.

The people of this city should buy "Made in Oregon" goods from the local merchants whenever the price and quality are equal to Eastern made goods.

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

The Summer Coiffures. The coiffures for summer for young girls are very ornamental for the evening and plain for the day hours. The Dutch cap and bandeau. Dutch cap illustrated is very much the fashion. The bandeau is of jet and gold lace.

Fashion Whims. Red checked with black is a favored combination for foulard, and another popular fabric this season is white mousseline figured with mauve, blue, cerise or light tan.

This summer a very effective method has been introduced of gauging the hem of a skirt and producing squares by so doing. For the purpose fine cord is used, covered with the material employed. At the extreme edge of the gauging a little fringe falls unless ball fringe or a bordering of crystal latticework is substituted.

Among the most fascinating hats for midsummer is the pliant Niuche shape, with brims that dip at the sides. This model is carried out in straw, lace and plaited tulle, with trimming of ostrich.

STOCKING STYLES NOW POPULAR.

Must Match Gown Exactly to Be Quite Correct.

Now that the short skirt fashion has become so popular there is a strong demand for ladies' stockings. When the skirt almost trailed upon the ground, as was the fashion a few years back, stockings did not come in for much attention—no one saw them. But now that the day is here when feminine ankles are no longer an uncommon sight, stockings are very important articles of clothing.

As for the favorite colors, blues are very much in demand, and in this color over twenty shades are selling. Including the coronation blue, the royal navy blue and the gobein blue. Many women customers have become so fastidious that unless they can procure exactly the shade they desire they refuse to buy from the unfortunate hosiery. Among the delicate shades which are also popular are sunset reds, yellows, bluish grays, the ordinary blue shading off into a pale gray, brown openworks and orange yellows.

The exact matching of both dress and stocking is considered quite the correct thing, a fashion carried further by the decree now gone forth that shoes and even gloves should be of the same color.

In price the stockings vary greatly, the highest priced pairs made of the finest silk. With the expensive class of stocking a worked clock running up the sides is the thing.

Hate of Ribbed Velour

An exceedingly novel fabric that is used for the coming season's hats is the ribbed velour, says the Dry Goods Economist. It is like the regular velour, with the nap shaved off in straight lines, leaving close rows of the velour nap. Attractive helmet and Pierrot shapes are shown in this material. Among other models are noted quite a number in scratch beaver or long haired felt.

Middy Ties. The vogue for sailor effects is increasing the demand for long, broad silk ties.

The newest, called middy ties, are wider and half as long again as the regular Windsor tie. The favorite colors in these are red, navy blue and blue and white polka dots.

Look for the loser of the articles you have found—for a prompt ad may save him a lot of worry.

TIMELY HINTS FOR FARMERS

Forage For Growing Pigs. Much has been said and written regarding the economy of providing succulent forage for the growing of pigs in the summer season, yet a great many farmers continue to keep their pigs confined in a small pen or yard with little, if any, green feed available.

In case a good pasture lot can be provided for the growing pigs this is, of course, the cheapest method of providing the needed green forage for them, but where this cannot be conveniently done it will pay to cut green forage for them each day. Clover is the best available source of this needed green feed upon most farms, but a variety of green feed can be cheaply provided in this way, especially where only a few pigs are kept.

Individuals Versus Breeds.

In the selection of hogs for breeding animals more attention should be paid to the individual qualities of boar and sow than to the particular breed. Breed alone does not determine good breeding stock. A pure bred boar is to be preferred, and both boar and sow should be rather of a medium than an extreme type of the breed represented.

Under present conditions farmers find it most generally profitable to raise the larger breeds of hogs, the sows producing more pigs at a litter and growing more rapidly in weight than the others.

Neglect of Flock Cuts Profit.

The average American farmer considers for the most part that sheep will take care of themselves indefinitely and that they should thrive on the odds and ends of the farm and the leavings of the other stock.

Never was a greater mistake made. The farmer who invests his money in sheep must make up his mind to stay with them all the time. They need protection from predatory animals and from bad weather, and above all they need to be guarded against the ravages of internal parasites.

The Sheep Need Care.

The poorest class of sheep that find their way to the markets of the country are from the farm flocks raised in the best agricultural states. These farmers buy fairly good ewes and use pure bred rams, but they fall short of giving their sheep proper care and attention.

Changing Turkeys' Roosting Place.

If the turkeys roost in a place where they are not wanted they will seek a roosting place if driven from the old one two or three times just before darkness comes on.

PLOWING UNDER SWEET CLOVER.

As a Soil Restorer the Plant Equals Any of the Legumes.

As a soil renovator, according to Wallace's Farmer, sweet clover is fully equal if not superior to any of the other legumes. Especially is this true when the tops, as well as the stubble and roots, are plowed under as green manure. In an Illinois investigation it was found that an acre of thirty sweet clover contained in the tops, stubble and roots 225 pounds of nitrogen, which is more than double the amount found by the Delaware station in an acre of alfalfa or red clover.

On account of its rank growth sweet clover adds a great amount of humus, the Illinois station finding that a good acre of sweet clover yielded 64 tons of dry matter, which would furnish as much humus forming material as would twenty-five tons of farm manure. If the entire crop is plowed under sweet clover certainly ranks very high as a soil fertilizer.

The chief question is not whether sweet clover is good when used in this way for restoring soil fertility, but whether it can be grown on the given piece of soil. Possibly the soil may need lime, ground rock or phosphate or inoculation with sweet clover root bacteria.

Other conditions favorable, sweet clover should succeed when sown with oats cut for hay at the rate of ten to twelve pounds of hulled seed to the acre.

Dairy Notes.

Feed cattle all you can afford to during the time they are at pasture, as that helps to keep the pastures in good condition.

All cows do not like the same kind of food; neither do they do as well on some other kind. Study the wants of the animal.

Successful dairy expansion involves the intelligent, systematic grading or building up of a herd both by selection and breeding.

Cows must be kept clean and healthy and have pure air to breathe, and then they will return a volume of rich, nutritious milk in paying quantities.

The cow that wanders over bare pastures and looks wistfully at growing crops she cannot reach is not happy nor contented and will not produce well.
