

MASS MEETING ASHLAND SOON

Wednesday Good Road Boosters Will Meet With Ashland People At 3:30 O'clock—Urge Opposition To Come Out And Talk.

A public mass meeting in favor of the proposed $1,500,000 bond issue for good roads will be held at the Chaouqua Tabernacle at Ashland, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. County Judge Neil has announced his intention of being present at the meeting and other speakers will include W. Gore, of Medford and W. R. Coleman, the county clerk. A first-class male quartet will attend from Medford, and the program will be interspersed with music. It is especially urged that persons who are opposed to the bond issue be present at this meeting and present their arguments, which the speakers will undertake to answer. The delegation of Portland business men will be in Ashland that afternoon and may take part in the speaking. Ladies are especially invited and a full attendance is desired. The meeting will be held in the afternoon in order not to conflict with the banquet to be tendered the Portland delegation by the Commercial club in the evening.

HUSBAND DEAD SHE DOESN'T KNOW

With her husband lying dead at their former home at Branford, Ontario, but thinking him merely ill, Mrs. W. R. Oxley of Gold Hill left Friday for that place. A telegram announcing his sudden death of pneumonia came yesterday afternoon, but the true nature of its contents was withheld from Mrs. Oxley, as it was feared the tragic truth would prostrate her, so that she would be unable to make the trip. Oxley was a well-known mining man of this district, where he had been operating several years. Before coming here he had been mining in Idaho. He was a director of the Sylvanite Mining company, operating the Sylvanite mine, three miles north of Gold Hill. He had gone east on business pertaining to the mine, many stockholders of which reside in Ontario.

"GRANDMA" OGLESBY DIES ALONE IN CABIN

"Grandma" Oglesby, an old-time resident of the Gold Hill section, was found dead in bed in her cabin on her Sardine Creek homestead, about seven miles from Gold Hill Saturday morning by a neighbor who called to see how she was getting along. She had been failing rapidly of late, and neighbors had taken the duty of calling on her every day, to see that she was all right and to render whatever assistance possible. Mrs. Oglesby had been subject to sinking spells the past few weeks, and it is thought she knew death was near, as she left a scrap of paper lying on the bed, on which were written the name and address of a relative in Washington. This relative has been wired for instructions as to the disposition of the body.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 25.—Solution of the high cost of living Dr. Wiley said today lay in the elimination of the useless middleman. "In this city," he said, "I would have public stores at which the government civil employes could purchase household supplies as is done by the army and navy."

LONE SURVIVOR OF PRIMITIVE INDIAN TRIBE.

1891. A ABORIGINE FOUND IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA STANDING BETWEEN PROFESSOR T. T. WATERMAN AND SAM BARTWEE BLIND INDIAN.

Deciphering a human document, with the key to most of the hieroglyphics lost, is the baffling but absorbingly delightful task which Dr. A. L. Groeber and T. T. Waterman, of the University of California, have set for themselves. The document is Ishi, the Deer creek Indian captured recently near Oroville, who should by every rule and reckoning be the loneliest man on earth. He is the last of his tribe; when he dies his language becomes dead also; he has feared people, both whites and Indians, to such an extent that he has wandered, alone, like a hunted animal, since the death of his tribal brothers and sisters.

BIG MEET AT TALENT TONIGHT

Good Roads Campaigners Will Visit Southern Town Tonight—Speakers Will Be Headed By W. R. Coleman, County Clerk.

Headed by W. R. Coleman, county clerk, the advocate of the good road bond issue, will invade Talent tonight and hold a meeting there in the interests of the passage of the bonds. Mr. Coleman will be in his home district tonight and his talk favoring the bonds is certain to be a great aid. Other speakers will be on hand. These will include W. H. Gore and W. M. Colvig.

A successful meeting was held Monday night at Willow Springs.

BUDDY RYAN GETS $480 TESTIMONIAL

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 26.—Buddy Ryan, the premier willow artist, has a jingle in his jeans today which sounds like $480 in real money as a result of yesterday's testimonial game between the Columbus club and the Coast Leaguers.

The total receipts from the Ryan Day game was $800. Ryan got 60 per cent and the remaining 40 per cent was divided between the other players. Fifteen hundred spectators witnessed the game, which was a rollicking farce.
