

IN THE REALM OF FASHION

New Tucked Blouse.

An attractive blouse is illustrated here. The model was of white lawn trimmed with a dark blue. Challie, silk or any material may be substituted for lawn. The Magyar sleeves have cross bands of narrow tucks and are trimmed with narrow bands of blue and French knots. Bands of the darker stuff and French knots trim the collar, while the front is adorned with narrow tucks and rows of buttons.

The Kimono Blouse.

A new fancy in the kimono blouse made of eyelet embroidery, thin or thick. The design is not very open, and the blouse is cut in the well known jumper shape. It can be worn over another kimono blouse of china silk, white or colored, or it can be worn merely over a dainty corset cover run through with pink ribbon. It should have a guimpe of net or lace, as the sleeves are rather wide and somewhat short and expose too much of the arm for any occasion except house wear. As it is quite the fashion to wear flesh colored slips under one's blouses the idea may be carried out with artistic result under these eyelet kimonos. One should finish the elbow sleeves of the underslip with a three inch hem of net, plain or dotted, or an equally wide band of lace.

FALL SKIRTS PANELED OR PLAIN

A Great Variety of Materials Utilized in the New Suits.

In speaking of manufacturers' preparations for fall trade the Dry Goods Economist says:

"Much attention has been given to the selection of materials for fall suits. In the plain tailor makes chevrons, heavy serges, fancy mixtures and mannish fabrics are the most desirable. Some of the double faced cloths are being used for suits, but they are not so practicable as they are for coats and therefore are not expected to be taken in such large quantities. "Many of the new rough materials are being used in the better grade of suits, as well as high luster broadcloths, plain and fancy velvets and a few cloth back satins. "The orders now being placed on separate skirts are largely for the more staple numbers. "Black velvets and panamas, trimmed with braid, satin, velvet or embroidery, are again meeting with ready sale. A few black taffetas have been ordered, also black satins. It is expected that some velvet skirts will be sold, but the demand will necessarily be limited. Serges, chevrons, fancy mixtures and reversible cloths are excellent. "Panels of various kinds are much in evidence, and buyers think well of them. The slashed skirt is being taken in limited quantities only. The slashed effects give promise of being in good demand. A few of the late models show the long tunic and some a simulated tunic. These are expected to grow in popularity as the season advances."

Braids Prominent.

Braids of many widths from sottache to the half yard wide bands are prominent, the bands seldom encircling a garment or any of its parts, but appearing in sections or panels or half bands just where they are most useful in accentuating the good points of a creation.

Coat Sets.

The striped coat sets are in any color that one wishes, not necessarily to match the suit. The collar is quite long, deep at the back and finished with an edge of slaty lace or a hem of colored muslin or linen to match the stripe.

How to Give a Birthday Party.

Every one has a birthday, so here is a good plan to follow when you give a party on your birthday. First write the invitation neatly and send them out about two weeks before the party. On the morning of the occasion you should decorate the house with holly, mistletoe, house plants, such as ferns, palms, etc., if your party be in winter; in fall, autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, house plants; in spring and summer, wild flowers. When your friends arrive welcome them and make them acquainted with one another, then lead them into a sitting room or parlor and give each a chair. You could then play some games.

If you have many guests at your party have ice cream, cake, candy, bananas and fruit in summer; in winter have hot chocolate, cake, candy, bonbons and fruit. Give each person a fancy paper napkin as a souvenir of the occasion. Have a large room ready for dancing. Before departing songs and instrumental selections could be given by your guests.

A Paper Washing.

On warm summer mornings when it is too hot to enjoy violent plays and you are looking for something new to do try putting out a lot of paper clothes to dry. The clothes are cut from stiff white, brown or striped paper or any sort of paper which would look like clothes that are being washed. You may cut out any sort of garment that you like, but remember that it must be cut out so that it looks as if the arms were hung up to the line. The clothesline is made of a cord and hung from one small upright post to another. Anything which will stand up will do for the posts which are to hold the lines. When the clothes are pinned up on the line they look very funny, and it is interesting to see how many different sorts of garments you can cut from the paper in this fashion.

A Queer Kind of Bank.

Old Jacob Zeis, who lived a hermit's life on a farm in Monroe county, Ill., was not seen by his neighbors for a long time, and an investigating farmer found him in his bed dead and on a table a note saying that he had been taken ill and could not go for a doctor. In the note there was mention of a hoard of money in the cellar of the shanty where he lived.

The coroner and several neighbors made a search for the money and found it cunningly hidden. There was an old oak log in a dark corner of the cellar, and in the log were holes so well plugged with original wood that the log looked whole. Under the plugs were found gold coins, and $300 in all was taken from the queer bank and turned over to the county authorities.

A Playful Wolf.

Wolves carry off children out on the frontiers of civilization sometimes, but in New York some children turned the thing around and came near carrying off the wolf. He was a big gray wolf, and he had been kept in a private menagerie in the suburb where the children live. Mr. Wolf got out of his cage and ran away and then came upon a group of children playing in the dust. Wolves like to play in the dust, too, and so this wolf was not at all offended when the children dragged him into their play. They thought that he was a street dog, and he did not tell them what he really was. He let the children pull his tail and push him about and feed him candy, and he was having a royal good time when his owner came along and captured him.

The Game of Wink.

Wink is an amusing game and is generally played as follows: Chairs are placed in a circle; a girl occupies one, and a boy stands behind her chair. Suppose there were sixteen boys present and only fifteen girls, the sixteenth boy would stand behind an empty chair. All the girls must look at the sixteenth boy. The one he winks at must jump up (if she can get away from the person behind her chair) and sit in the empty one. Then the boy behind her former chair must wink at some other girl.

Old Nursery Rhymes.

"Pussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?" dates from the reign of Queen Elizabeth and was a popular rustic song in the old Devon county, where Drake and Raleigh lived. "Boys and Girls, Come Out to Play," and "Lucy Locket Lost Her Pocket" date from the time of Charles II., the "merry monarch." It is not known that the rhymes refer to any particular thing or event.

Sewing Hindus.

Hindu boys have to learn to sew. When they are grown men they must do all the sewing for the family if it is a poor family, and poor men are hired to do the sewing for the rich families.

The Swiftest Flowing River.

The fastest flowing river in the world is the Sutlej, in India. It rises 15,200 feet above the sea and falls 12,000 feet in 180 miles.

DISCUSSING PLANS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Although the winner of the National League pennant has not been decided the national baseball commission will meet here today to arrange for the world's championship series. The first game will be played October 13. Two schedules will be framed—one in case New York wins the games will alternate between New York and Philadelphia—and the others if Chicago wins, will be practically as last year.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Because his wife called him a "sagag," Joh R. Kirkland brought suit for divorce. He does not know the meaning of the word, but considers it obnoxious.

B. L. HOBBS.

Medford Ore., Aug. 9, 1911.—This is to certify that about November my daughter was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism which rendered her left arm useless, in fact it was so near paralyzed that she was not able to move her fingers, but knowing of some of Dr. Chow Young's marvelous cures of long standing cases of rheumatism, we decided to consult him, in which I am pleased to say made no mistake, as his remedies acted as he claimed they would and after the third treatment the rheumatic pain entirely left her and she has not had any symptoms of rheumatism since, besides her general health is much improved and I do not hesitate in saying I believe those afflicted with rheumatism or paralysis will do well to consult Dr. Crow Young, whose house is corner of Tenth and Front streets, Medford, Oregon. PROFESSOR SMITH SCORES THE SYSTEM

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 30.—Professor J. Allen Smith of the state university, also a noted author, issued a statement today in which he emphatically endorsed the action of the federal grand jury in refusing to indict the Seattle editors and citizens who addressed the protest meeting against Federal Judge Handford.

Professor Smith said: "The refusal of the federal grand jury to indict the men who criticized a federal judge, is merely what was to be expected. If it be a crime to make an organized protest against a judge and advocate his impeachment, the people would be powerless to invoke the impeachment provision in the constitution against him. Any such view of the matter would concede to the court an independence of control by the people utterly repugnant to the idea of democracy."
