SMITH LOSES TO M'SHANE

Fans See Best Bouts in Months When Local Amateurs Clash at Athletic Club—Two Coons Have Argument but 'Tis Tame Affair

An older and cooler head and an ability to stand more punishment than Roy Smith won the last and most important bout on Frankie Edwards' program Friday night for Charley McShane of Oakland. Incidentally, McShane uncorked a few punches that made Medford boxing fans open their eyes and inquire as to his past history. The bout lasted the full four rounds, under Marquis of Queensbury rules, and was awarded to McShane on decision by Referee Edwards. The decision was met with cheers as a fair one.

The first round was used by each man to size up the other and was almost a draw. McShane having the shade. Both finished strong and both started in on the second fresh and fast. In this round Smith delivered all he had with him. Seldom has a man taken so much punishment in so short a time as McShane calmly received in this round. Smith delivered rights and lefts to the jaw in cyclonic style but either his kick wasn't strong enough or McShane was too well seasoned, and the Medford boy's chance slipped by after he had floored the unknown from Oakland and apparently had him going. At the close of this round McShane rallied from the beating he had received and had Smith groggy.

Third Round McShane's. The third round was all McShane's, although Smith must be given credit for fighting as game a scrap as has been seen in Medford. The Oakland man, however, was unruffled and bided his time, always landing and saving strength while Smith visibly weakened. The fourth was the same story. Smith never quitting but plainly bested. Smith is young and with a few more years will be able to cope with a man of McShane's calibre. The defeat is no disgrace to him. He is being generally praised for his gameness and surprising showing against a better and more experienced man.

Jones-Turner Draw. The bout to determine whether Bert Jones or John Turner should have another chance at Chick Bowen resulted in a draw and demonstrated that, at present, neither man is in the husky Chick's class. It went four rounds, Jones fighting in better form but plainly winded at the close of each round. Turner fought as if he had only been on speaking acquaintance with a pair of gloves for a week, but perhaps landed the most effective blows. The draw decision was the only possible one notwithstanding the fact that Jones was on the floor when the gong rang.

Walter Kane Wins. Joe Parker surprised all the fans by the plucky stand he made against Walter Kane, the dangerous looking little 126 pounder. Joe landed more often, but in the second round he walked into a swing that ended the bout. He was roundly applauded for his showing.

The bout between Willie Keogh and Ed Whitney, at 133 pounds, ended in the third when Whitney hurt his thumb. The decision was given to Keogh, who had had all the best of it.

A large crowd of fans was out and perfect satisfaction was expressed with the decisions and the clean handling of the contests throughout. Frankie Edwards continues to be the recipient of congratulations for his manner of handling these boxing exhibitions.

Medford Ore., Aug. 2, 1911.—This is to certify that about November my daughter was taken with a severe attack of rheumatism which rendered her left arm useless, in fact it was so near paralyzed that she was not able to move her fingers, but knowing of some of Dr. Crow Young's marvelous cures of long standing cases of rheumatism, we decided to consult him, in which I am pleased to say made no mistake, as his remedies acted as he claimed they would and after the third treatment, the rheumatic pain entirely left her and she has not had any symptoms of rheumatism since; besides her general health is much improved and I do not hesitate in saying I believe those afflicted with rheumatism or paralysis will do well to consult Dr. Crow Young, whose house is corner of Tenth and Front streets, Medford, Oregon. Look for the ad that describes the place you would like to own. We notice that some merchants in other cities are using considerable space advertising "Made in Oregon" goods. That is as it should be. The merchant must know that his individual prosperity is to a great extent dependent upon the prosperity of the state at large, and if Oregon manufacturers are patronized, that it will mean greater pay rolls, and greater pay rolls mean a larger degree of prosperity for every man, woman and child in Oregon.
