

PEOPLE CONTROL NOW SAYS BOURNE

Sees Vast Importance to Nation in Sweeping Victory for Modern Laws in California—Says He Believes in Suffrage.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—That the result of the California election, in returning victorious for direct legislation and woman's suffrage, is of vast importance not only to the state but to the nation in furthering the rapid strides toward political purity which the United States is making, is the gist of a statement issued at the national capital today by United States Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon.

"I consider the result of the California election has given the people there the control of the government," said Senator Bourne. "It has put upon them the responsibility of legislation, and the selection of public servants. The result is of national importance. It is a demonstration that the electorate of California appreciated and grasped the opportunity to add to the momentum of the nation-wide movement now going on. I believe in suffrage. Women are more highly attuned than men, and are less selfish."

Car Kills Man.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 14.—Brushed from a McAllister street car at noon while bound for the groundbreaking celebration in Golden Gate park, Antonio Carillo, 59, was crushed to death by an inbound car.

CENTRALIA, Wn.—Following the sweeping victory of the commission form of government at Chehalis recently, advocates of the plan are confident of victory at the election here November 7.

POPULAR COMMODORE

H. H. Melville, well known Commodore of the Motor Boat Club of America, is very active in the interest of the sport throughout the country. He is very popular with everybody who has ever come in contact with him, and enjoys a host of friends.

WHICH WAY?

Waking the Sleepers.

In a diary kept in 1840 it is asserted that "Allen Brydges has been chosen to wake the sleepers in meeting and, being much proud of his place, must needs have a fox tail fixed to the end of a long staff, wherewith he may brush the faces of them that will have naps in time of discourse." This energetic individual was likewise armed with "a sharp thorn" for the benefit of those who "be most sound." There is a record of the use of this implement upon Mr. Tomkins, who was sleeping comfortably in the corner of his pew when Allen "thrust his staff behind Dame Ballard to give him a grievous prick upon the hand, whereupon Mr. Tomkins did spring much above the floor and with terrible force did strike his head against the wall and also to the great wonder of all 'prophane' exclaim in a loud voice, "Buss the woodchuck!" he dreaming as it seemed, that a woodchuck had seized him and bit his hand."

Packed at Home.

As the new district visitor looked at Mr. Leahy and noted his determined chin she had a momentary sensation of reluctance to question him, but she overcame it and began her appointed task. "Where do you deposit your wages Mr. Leahy, if you've no objection to telling me?" she asked. "I am trying to interest the neighborhood in the excellent People's bank, lately started." "Sure, I'd as soon tell you as not," said Mr. Leahy cheerfully. "Tis tin dollars a week I earn. When I've paid the rent, the provision and groceries 'tis an' the millman an' bough what's needed for Collin an' me an'

Curious Forgetfulness.

It is difficult to combine the attributes of the bean and the business man, and the famous Lord Alvanley did not attempt the task. Largely as the result of that philosophy which led him to cavil at a friend's weakness in "muddling away his fortune in paying tradesmen's bills," he one day found himself in financial difficulties and asked Charles Greville, the author of the "Journals," to put his affairs in order. The two men—Mr. Lewis Melville describes the incident in "Some Eccentrics and a Woman"—spent a day over accounts, and Greville found that the task he had undertaken would not be so difficult as he had been given to understand. His relief was not long lived, however, for on the following morning he received a note from Alvanley saying he had quite forgotten a debt of £50,000.

Her Early Resolutions.

This story was told by an Englishman who lived a century ago. He was dining out in London and sat by a lady whom he did not know. Their conversation turned upon early resolutions and how very seldom they were kept, and the lady said: "Well, when I was a girl I made three resolutions—first, I determined that I would never marry a soldier; second, that I would never marry an Irishman, and, third, that I would not be long engaged. And all those three resolutions I broke. Whom do you think I did marry? The Duke of Wellington! He was a soldier and an Irishman, and I was engaged to him for twelve years." This was Lady Katherine Pakenham. It was an unhappy marriage, and the couple mostly lived apart.

Between Them.

"Yes," said Mrs. Catchem, "those are my daughters over there on the sofa. They have half a million between them." It was not until they were married to those daughters that the young men who overheard the remark found out that Mrs. Catchem referred to the rich old gentleman who sat on the sofa between the girls. Mrs. Catchem could not tell a lie, but she knew how to speak the truth to the best advantage.

Suited to the Occasion.

Nurse Grl—Oh, ma'am, what shall I do? The twins have fallen down the well. Fond Parent—Dear me, how annoying! Just go into the library—very gently so as not to disturb Fido—and get the last number of the Modern Mother's Magazine. It contains a fine article on "How to Bring Up Children."—Town Topics.

Making it Pleasant.

"How does your sister like the engagement ring I gave her, Johnny?" "I think it's a little too small, Mr. Lover. She has awful trouble getting it off when the other fellows call to see her."

Stranded.

"Didn't he have the sand to propose?" "Yes, but not the rocks to marry."—Judge

FORESEES SUCCESS FOR DEMOCRATS

United States Senator Chamberlain States Time Is Right for Great Party Victory—Taft Is Hurting Self, He Says.

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—Democratic success—national and state—in the next presidential election was predicted by Senator George E. Chamberlain before leaving for Chicago last night. The senator is a member of the congressional commission that, convening in Chicago October 16, will investigate from that time until the opening of congress all features associated with the proposed employers' liability and workmen's compensation law. "The democrats of the nation have merited, have won and will hold the confidence of the people," declared Senator Chamberlain. "If the democrats and the insurgents of congress lies the only hope for revision of the tariff downward, for reduction of the exorbitant cost of living and for passage of the laws that the people demand." Looking over the field of possible democratic candidates for the presidency, Senator Chamberlain, while paying his respects to other national leaders, unhesitatingly affirmed his belief that Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey will not only receive the Democratic nomination but will be the next president of the United States.

In the same breath he predicted and pledged his support to the election of a democrat as successor to Senator Bourne in Oregon.

Look for the ad that calls for you among the help wanted ads.

SPEEDS HER AUTO IN DARK TO SAVE SON

MRS. J. N. CUNEO

Driving her powerful Renault car over strange roads in the mountains of Southern Vermont and Western Massachusetts in pitch darkness and rain at a pace that carried her and her wounded son and a physician twenty-four miles in less than an hour and a half, Mrs. Joan Newton Cuneo, noted as an automobile race driver, exceeded all her other records as a fearless driver. Mrs. Cuneo's son is now in a hospital at North Adams, Mass., and will recover.

Pray Again for Wilson.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 14.—Prayers for the regeneration of "Tama Jim," otherwise Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, will be offered up here by the church members of this city every day from October 15 to October 22. Following is a copy of the prayer: "Let us pray for Secretary Wilson. Let us pray that he will perceive that there can be no real good come of his brewers' convention. Let us pray that he may see that he has been misled; that these brewers have duped him into leading the high dignity of his office to the promotion of their schemes and nets for the unwary. Amen."

Lost and Found—a Heart.

Nothing seems so hopelessly lost, when it is lost, as a heart; yet nothing, when it is lost, is by the experience of the centurion so absolutely certain of recovery.—Puck.

The Comeback.

Skinflint—I have no money, but I will give you a little advice. Beggar—Well, if yer ain't got no money yer advice can't be very valuable.—Christian Advocate.

A Matter of Color.

"Why do you refer to your youngest son as 'the black sheep?'" "Because he paints the town red."—Toledo Blade.

You complain of ingratitude. Were you not repaid by your pleasure in doing good?—Levia.

Haskins for Health.

It's very nice to take a walk On a crisp October day And feel you have a suit that's warm And cut the proper way.

It's nice to know that your clothes are as good as the best. It's satisfying to feel that your apparel is admired on account of its quiet style and the good taste it suggests. This is the restful state of mine that belongs to the wearer of our line of clothing. He knows that the tone of his garments is beyond criticism.

Are you still undecided about a winter suit? Drop in, if only for a look. We will show you the right thing. Call at our store, look over our stock, and see how easy we can meet your idea of what a good suit should be.

Better take an inventory of your underwear and see what is needed for the coming winter. We can supply you with sizes now in everything that's good both in union and two-piece.

MODEL CLOTHING Co.

WE ARE PROUD--- of our molding and wainscoting.

There is such a variety of Woods, Widths and Patterns. Starting with Narrow Picture Molding, they grow in widths until they reach the Largest Wainscoting Size, and you can match the different widths with the same Pattern, too. WANT SOME?

MEDFORD SASH & DOOR COMPANY